HOPKINS CLAIMS 90 PCT. ON WPA FOR ROOSEVELT

200,000 Are Added to Rolls in South.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—(AP)—WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins expressed the opinion today that 90 per cent of WPA workers are for the Roosevelt administration. However, he parried questions as to whether he believed the President would run for a third term.

Hopkins made his remarks at a press conference at which he also announced that 200,000 persons would be added to WPA rolls in the rural south to help meet what Mr. Roosevelt calls the nation's economic problem No. 1.

[It was revealed yesterday that the administration is seeking new revenue sources and more and heavier taxes are in prospect for next year. Details on page 3.]

Whacks at Republicans.

Hopkins told reporters he believed the underprivileged and "even people in our class" are for the administration because "we're the only crowd that has anything constructive to offer."

Referring to reports that Republicans are intending to develop a relief program, he said:

"If they are, I never heard of it. And if they do bring one out I'll bet when the people it is supposed to appeal to near about it they won't go out ringing any bells."

He described Republican suggestions to meet the relief problem as "pathetic."

Hopkins declared charges that WPA foremen or other WPA officials are telling their workers how to vote are "so much eye wash."

3 Million on Rolls.

"There are 3 million persons on our rolls," Hopkins declared, "and I think I know how these workers feel about politics. You can't tell people how to vote. I never heard of any one claiming to control votes who could deliver. People vote for their interests. They don't let any one tell them how."

At another point he jested: "Well, if a man on WPA told me he voted for Landon in 1936, do you think I ought to fire him or commit him to an insane asylum?"

Hopkins' administration now is investigating charges that relief workers have been coerced into supporting the Democratic organization led by Tom Pendergast in Missouri. The senate campaign funds committee also is investigating charges of political abuses in Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and Tennessee.

Points to South's Need.

Announcing that WPA rolls in the rural south would be increased immediately to supplement inadequate incomes, Hopkins said: "The income of the south needs to be raised now. One way to help raise the income of the region as a whole is to get wages into the hands of those who need to spend it. The normal and American way for a man to meet the needs of his family and himself is through work."

Rolls will be increased, Hopkins aids said, in Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and Tennessee.

The job quotas will be raised, Hopkins explained, in rural areas where crops have been laid by and the harvest has not yet begun. When the crop gathering season arrives, he continued, the workers will be released for the duration of the harvest and then reassigned to WPA work.

In addition to the southern states there was a general increase in WPA employés. In Illinois there were 230,752 on the rolls July 9, and 235,289 July 16. Indiana increased from 96,780 to 98,413; Wisconsin, 75,759 to 76,696; Michigan, 190,382 to 192,839. Iowa showed a slight decrease from 34,617 to 34,313.

WAUKEGAN RAINS OUT BIRDS WITH PRESSURE HOSES

Several thousand birds in Waukegan saw an upside down rain last night. They didn't like it. The birds—starlings, martins, and robins—had been making their homes in the stately elms lining Gillette avenue, between Oakley and North avenues. The residents didn't like that. They complained to Waukegan officials. So firemen aimed two powerful hose lines and cleaned the stately elms of the birds and nests.

FRENCH DISPLAY MILITARY MIGHT TO BRITISH KING

50,000 Finest Troops March in Review.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 21.—The glamor of military tradition and the magic of royalty today cast a familiar spell over France, still officially governed by the Popular Front, as the visit of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of England came to a climax in Versailles, city of Louis XIV.

Arrow locates city where king reviewed troops.

A military review of 50,000 crack French troops equipped with the most modern weapons while 500 war planes roared overhead and a sumptuous luncheon in the Mirror hall of the "Sun King's" palace were the high spots of the day's program.

Other features of the day were a rustic festival modeled after those of Marie Antoinette in the spacious park of the Versailles palace and a diplomatic dinner at the Quai d'Orsay on the British sovereigns' return to Paris.

The military display recalled a similar one in 1914, just before the world war began, when the king's father, King George V., visited Paris and reviewed the French military might.

Lunch in Mirror Hall.

The luncheon, in the celebrated Mirror hall where Bismarck proclaimed the German empire and the allies imposed the signature of the peace treaty, was brilliant and significant in a political way.

This dinner, with 250 guests in the usually deserted palace, was something unique in modern diplomacy and seemed a symbolic gesture aimed to emphasize the return to traditional ways of politics and diplomacy—comfortable old European traditions handed down in unbroken lines from Machiavelli.

It was remarked that this was the first time since 1914 that ice was served in the middle of an official meal as well as at the end, and that this should be considered a landmark in European history.

The Historic Menu.

Here is the whole of this historic menu:

Fresh perles de sterlet [caviar]
Iced melon
Les Delices du Lac d'Annecy à la Nantua
[Salmon trout with crayfish served in Nantua fashion]
Mignonettes of lamb [singularly appropriate]
Aiguillettes [sliced breasts] of Rouen duck à la Montomorency
Gallic salad with iced champagne
[that historic ice]
Truffles à la mode du Perigord
[Perigord truffles]
Supreme bresse chicken au beurre Noisette
[Creamed chicken served with drawn butter and creamed asparagus tips]
Iced mousse glacee à la Singapore
[Iced fruit cream]
Montreuil peaches Frivolites [cakes]

This was washed down with a remarkable list of wines—wine for each separate dish—the outstanding features of which were 1895 Amontillado with the melon, Château Yquem, 1921 [white wine], with the chicken, and five different champagnes, winding up with Pommery, 1895, which was a delicate allusion

Papoose Plane Flies to N. Y. in 22½ Hours

Port Washington, N. Y., July 21.—(AP)—The experimental trans-Atlantic flight of Great Britain's ten ton papoose plane, launched in the air over the Irish coast yesterday, ended here at 3:08 p. m. [Chicago time] today.

Tomorrow morning another trans-Atlantic flight is scheduled to end here. The German Lufthansa plane Nordmeer left the Azores at 3 p. m. [Chicago time] today on the first of fourteen test flights planned this summer between Berlin and Port Washington. The Nordmeer flew from Berlin to the Azores and was launched there by catapult from a service ship for the final 2,397 mile hop. At 11 p. m. the Nordmeer wirelessed that it was 1,000 miles west and slightly north of the Azores.

Tossed from the back of a mother ship at 3,000 feet over Foynes, Ireland, the four engined Mercury completed the 3,042 mile journey in 22 hours and 28 minutes flying time.

Stops Once for Gasoline.

The ship, styled a pick-a-back plane by the British, paused for 2 hours and 40 minutes at Boucherville, Que., Montreal's air harbor in the St. Lawrence river, before making the last leg to the Port Washington trans-Atlantic air terminal.

Officials of British imperial airways had expressed hope the Mercury would set a westward crossing record of less than 11 hours. The ship flew at considerably less than cruising speed of 175 m. p. h. and took almost twice the time expected, reaching Montreal in 20 hours 20 minutes.

The plane was piloted by Capt. Donald C. T. Bennett, 28 years old, with Wireless Operator Albert J. Coster as the crew. The plane brought the first trans-Atlantic commercial cargo since Capt. T. H. T. Merrill and his co-pilot, Jack Lambie, made their round trip flight to England for the coronation of King George VI. last year.

Carries Papers and Newsreels.

The Mercury brought a shipment of London newspapers and newsreels showing the arrival of King George and Queen Elizabeth on their state visit to Paris. Total cargo weighed half a ton.

The trip was an additional exploratory test of the north Atlantic routes over which Pan American airways of the United States, Lufthansa of Germany, Air France and Imperial airways hope to send planes on regu-

AL CAPONE INSANE, REPORT FROM PRISON AT ALCATRAZ SAYS

San Francisco, Cal., July 21.—[Special.]—Al Capone's mind, the brain that ruled Chicago's underworld with ruthlessness, is completely—and probably permanently—gone.

This was the word today from a convict released recently from Alcatraz Island, where Capone is an invalid in the federal prison hospital. His brain is said to have been destroyed by paresis. Similar reports of Capone's mental condition have come from the prison in recent months.

Although "Scarface" has the best possible medical attention, including specialists from San Francisco, it is said to be doubtful if he will ever regain his mental faculties.

Capone is not violent. No straitjacket is required. He is "entirely responsive" to use the medical term, and meekly obeys all orders, but he appears to be in a continual daze. At times he cannot remember his own name.

Capone, it is declared, probably will be kept in the prison hospital until his release next January. When his federal term here is completed he will be turned over to Chicago authorities to serve a year in jail for contempt of court.

MISFORTUNE SEEN IN OFFING SOON MOVES UP CLOSE

Miss Catherine Wilbur, 54 years old, was sure Frank S. Khubiar would enjoy his vacation and have great success in business. But the black jack of spades. That bothered her.

Miss Wilbur finally told Khubiar that it looked as if something terrible was going to happen. They were seated yesterday in the Humpty Dumpty restaurant at 4910 Sheriadn road where Miss Wilbur tells fortunes with cards.

And then something terrible did happen, only not to Khubiar. He opened his coat, displaying a police badge, then took Miss Wilbur to the Summerdale station on a charge of telling fortunes for money.

Hears Buzz at Back Door; Finds Swarm of Visitors

Mrs. Myrtle Gill, 651 East 89th street, had visitors yesterday. Hundreds of them. They were bees. She found them on the back porch after hearing a concerted buzzing. Mrs. Gill put in a call to Police 1313. Policeman William Kale of the bee squad responded and promptly chased them away with a broom.

Grocer Duels with a Robber; Both Wounded

An ex-convict, who turned from bombing to banditry, was shot three times last night in a duel on the northwest side with a grocer who also was wounded.

William Walters.

The bandit, seized later by police, is William [Bunny] Walters, 25 years old, 942 North Lawndale avenue. He was released from Joliet penitentiary last May after he had served a bombing conspiracy sentence.

Both in Serious Condition.

The grocer he wounded is Walter Kukla, owner of a store on the corner at 958 North Monticello avenue. Kukla was shot in the left knee. His condition is serious from loss of blood. He is in the Franklin Boulevard hospital. Walters is also in a critical condition. He is in Bridewell hospital.

Walters had held up three Austin stores during the late afternoon before he entered Kukla's store. He threatened to shoot Miss Janet Forst, 17 years old, a clerk. He shoved Mrs. Mary Ryan, 65, of 1027 North Monticello avenue, a customer, into a chair. Then he took $15 from the cash drawer.

Kukla was in the rear of the store during the holdup, and saw it all. He whispered to his wife, Verne, for his pistol. When Walters left the store, Kukla ran out the side entrance at 3635 Augusta boulevard and around in front, where he met the bandit. He ordered Walters to put up his hands, but the robber drew his revolver. They fired at the same instant. Kukla was wounded in the knee, but as the robber fled the grocer fired four more shots, striking Walters three times in the back.

Follow Bloody Trail.

Walters fled unsteadily, a block south and then one west, leaving a trail of blood. This was followed to the rear of the basement flat at 854 North Lawndale avenue by Policemen Thomas Mulvey, Edward Becker, and Edward Campion. While Becker and Campion stood guard outside, Mulvey seized Walters in a nearby shed.

Police records show that he was sentenced on July 14, 1934, to one to five years in prison for conspiracy after he was found guilty of bombing taverns and beauty parlors.

Militia Forces County to Give Strikers Relief

Newton, Ia., July 21.—[Special.]—Jasper county relief authorities some weeks ago announced they would discontinue aid to C. I. O. strikers who wouldn't work in the Maytag plant and were preventing 600 loyal workers from returning to their jobs. The relief office was shut down.

Gov. Nels G. Kraschel today overrode the will of the county authorities. He ordered the National Guard, which is enforcing martial law in the strike harried town, to set up machinery to give relief funds to those who ask for it.

Martial law was proclaimed here Tuesday night following disorders in the eleven week old strike at the Maytag Washing Machine company plant, which is the town's main source of employment.

Puts Burden on County.

The governor's action will place a heavy burden on the county. The opinion was general that the added relief load would make it necessary to raise the bonded indebtedness of the county. Some pride had been felt in the county having escaped until now the heavy debts saddled on most communities.

Some 300 strikers have been on relief since shortly after the C. I. O. forced the plant to shut down May 9, throwing 3,400 men out of work.

Until now members of the back-to-work group, numbering nearly half of the plant's employés, have not asked for relief. It is expected, however, that they will demand equal rights with the C. I. O. strikers and that the relief load will be swelled to staggering proportions.

WPA Worker Seized.

Military authorities made their first arrest today. They seized Preston Brown, 32 years old, a WPA worker who is not connected in any way with the Maytag plant but who fought on the side of the C. I. O. in yesterday's rioting in which 34 persons were injured.

Brown was arrested in Colfax, a town 12 miles west of here, after a fight there today with Ben Winterstein, a Maytag employé. After an exchange of words about the strike, Brown struck Winterstein and dislocated his shoulder.

Brought before a military tribunal of five National Guard officers, Brown admitted he had taken part in yesterday's fighting and identified himself in a newspaper picture which showed him holding to the ground the head of a back-to-work man. Brown was placed in the county jail pending further investigation.

Begin Inquiry Into Fight.

A military commission began a general inquiry into the free for all fighting at the plant yesterday. The testimony of several witnesses and persons who took part in the battle was heard today.

A hint that negotiations toward settlement of the strike may be resumed was seen in the adjournment of the national labor relations board hearing this afternoon. With the consent of attorneys on both sides, the hearing was adjourned until Saturday morning.

MOSCOW SPURNS DEMAND TO QUIT AREA ON BORDER

Tokio Envoy Warned by Litvinov.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 21.—Threats and counter threats of war were hurled defiantly across a conference table in Moscow's foreign ministry today, when the soviet rejected bluntly a Japanese demand that soviet troops be withdrawn immediately from disputed territory near the junction of Manchukuo, Siberia, and Corea.

Maxim Litvinov, Moscow's foreign commissar, warned Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese ambassador, that Japan's threats to evict the soviet soldiers by force might have some effect elsewhere but "such methods will not succeed in Moscow."

The soviet union, Litvinov asserted, regards the territory as a part of Siberia, indisputably. Japan, he warned, will be held responsible "for the consequences" if the present "calm" state of affairs is disturbed.

Hold Violent Conversation.

The Japanese ambassador yesterday had presented his country's second demand for withdrawal of the troops from the vicinity of Changkufeng, and called today for Moscow's reply. Tokio's first protest was made July 15.

Yesterday's note demanded that steps be taken to relax the border tension resulting after soviet troops occupied the disputed area on July 11. Failure to take such steps, Shigemitsu warned, would compel Japan to consider the advisability of using force.

Today's conversation, in which Litvinov outlined the soviet's position, was one of the most violent ever held in the commissariat of foreign affairs.

"Soviet troops in this area have no other aim except defense of the status quo on the soviet frontier," Litvinov told the Japanese envoy, an official soviet news agency dispatch said.

Jap Envoy Refuses Maps.

"The Red army realizes fully its responsibility for the inviolability of these frontiers, and is inspired by this responsibility in its actions. Full calm reigns on the frontier and this calm may be disturbed only by the Japanese-Manchukuan side, which in such a case will bear responsibility for the consequences," Litvinov asserted.

Litvinov presented maps to prove the soviet contention that the disputed territory was within the Russian boundary. Shigemitsu, however, refused to accept them as evidence, asserting they had been prepared for the occasion, and that they had not been published anywhere. He reiterated that the area indisputably belonged to Manchukuo, the Japanese dominated state severed from China by Japanese arms.

Claims Maps Are Binding.

"Comrade Litvinov voiced amazement that such an experienced diplomat as Shigemitsu used such a careless expression in connection with official maps which determine the boundary between states," the news agency statement said.

"Whether the maps were published or not," the statement added, "their importance is undiminished. It is strange to hear such arguments from a government which in practice does not feel obliged to publish all of its engagements. It is hardly likely this government really believes that secret agreements are not binding."

Litvinov contended that soviet troops previously had camped in the disputed area, and that the soviet government never could be accused of desiring a single foot of any strange territory.

Tells of Bluecher's Threat.

At least one diplomat in Moscow saw in the present delicate situation an incident arranged without Moscow's knowledge. This diplomat, in a telephone conversation tonight, said that Marshal Vassily C. Bluecher, commander of the soviet far eastern army, had threatened to provoke a war with Japan unless Josef Stalin abandoned plans to undermine Bluecher's authority through a purge of his best officers.

Marshal Bluecher twice has refused to obey a command from the Moscow political bureau to report personally in the capital and explain why he objects to the purge. This diplomat said Moscow is alarmed, and a report is circulating there that Bluecher has ordered a search of all trains leaving Verkhne Udinsk, near Lake Baikal, for Khabarovsk, and has arrested a group of high ranking GPU [secret police] officials.

Assigned to Khabarovsk.

These officials had been assigned by Moscow to Khabarovsk to replace Gen. Lucikov Samoirovich, commander of the far eastern GPU forces who fled to Manchukuo recently and now is in Tokio.

The present tension was regarded as equal to that which accompanied Japan's seizure of two small islands, Sennufu and Bolshoi, in the Amur river a year ago. Moscow's threats to go to war over the incident went unheeded, and the Japanese remained in possession of the islands. Later a purge developed in the soviet army and nothing more was heard of the conflict.

Reports from Tokio indicated that the new incident has brought about intense anti-Russian feeling, with extreme nationalists demonstrating before the soviet embassy.

CONQUEST CAUSES FRICTION.

Japan's conquest of Manchuria, which began in 1931, intensified the soviet-Japanese friction exemplified anew by the current clash between Moscow and Tokio. Many observers have contended this friction will end in war eventually.

As long ago as June, 1935, the Russian ambassador to China admitted Russia was strengthening its far east defenses, considering the Japanese expansion in China a threat.

Periodic "crises" have been the result of the Japanese-Russian enmity. In retrospect the incidents which caused them appear as a series of pin pricking aggravations, each of which has flared up and then been settled, or dropped. Often, however, blood was spilled in clashes of troops or guards at the Manchukuan-Siberian and Manchukuan-Outer Mongolian borders. Charges of "invasion" by one side or the other usually preceded the clashes.

2,400 Incidents in 5 Years.

Japan listed 2,400 border incidents in five years. Here are some examples of the clashes:

In January, 1935, Moscow accused Japan of flagrant violation of the Portsmouth treaty providing demilitarization of Russo-Japanese frontiers. Tokio charged the same month that Russia had 250,000 men on the Siberian-Manchukuan frontier, was rushing in more troops, and probably would declare war on Japan by 1936. Japanese troops in Manchukuo reported two soviet planes reconnoitered over Hsiasosuifen, a border town in Manchukuo.

In April, 1935, however, Japanese and Russian spokesmen at a Pan-Pacific gathering said the war clouds had rolled away. This followed Russia's giving approval to the sale of the Chinese Eastern railway to Manchukuo, ending the old Russian aim of keeping a hold in Manchuria and having an ice free port on the Pacific.

Accuse Japs of Provocation.

This peaceful outlook soon was marred by new incidents. In June, 1935, Moscow charged that Japanese soldiers entered soviet territory and ambushed a sentinel.

Moscow that month charged Japan with three invasions, and warned Japanese river boats to stay out of Siberian waters, asserting the Japanese sought important Amur river islands.

In 1936 Moscow announced a greater rearmament program because of "the aggressive intentions of Japan and Germany," and protested an invasion, allegedly by 100 men; claimed Japan was preparing for a military invasion of soviet territory; accused Japan of provoking a war scare to prevent ratification of the French-Russian arms pact.

Dispute Islands in Amur.

In 1937 a dispute arose over two islands in the Amur river and caused five days of war tension. At stake was the right of Japanese and Manchukuan ships to navigate the Amur's deepest channel, which Japan contended was the real boundary. Russia insisted the Russo-Chinese treaties of 1858 and 1860 fixed the line and it did not necessarily follow the deepest channel.

The eastern border of Manchukuo, especially fruitful of the Japanese-soviet clashes, runs through rugged, heavily wooded country without natural markers. Each side, Russian and Japanese, cites maps and treaties to back its version of where the line runs, but these versions are as much as five miles apart in some sections.

Soviet-Japanese relations were not benefitted by the German-Japanese pact against communism signed Nov. 25, 1936. A year later Italy joined this agreement.

JAPS RUSH 5,000 TROOPS DAILY TO YANGTZE FRONT

SHANGHAI, July 21.—(AP)—The Japanese command tonight was reported to be strengthening its Yangtze valley forces at the rate of 5,000 soldiers a day for a supreme but delayed effort to shatter the Chinese defenses at Kiukiang.

Foreigners at points along the Japanese upriver drive toward Hankow said Japanese troops had been transported to the front at that rate during the last two weeks.

They expressed belief the Japanese were massing to their utmost above Wuhu, but were likely to wait for a break in the sweltering heat and a lowering of the river before starting the major offensive in which they hope to take Hankow.

Japanese airmen pounded the Kiukiang sector—site of a cross-river boom—in a continuing effort to soften the Chinese resistance. Chinese said more than 300 bombs fell near Kiukiang and killed 30 persons.

WIFE'S JEALOUSY OF NURSE TOLD IN PARKER LAWSUIT

"We looked under the bed; under the davenport; under the back stairs; in back of our home; everywhere. But we could not find Miss Rabbitt for my wife."

Dr. A. Mercer Parker, Evanston chiropractor, offered this testimony yesterday as an indication of his wife's mental ills before she entered a sanitarium. He testified before Master in Chancery Thomas W. Flynn.

His wife, Mrs. Lena Parker, is suing to recover $85,000 in cash and securities she alleges her husband obtained after he sent her to a sanitarium. Dr. Parker declared that his wife became jealous of her nurse, a Miss Rabbitt, and then had the whole family look for her after he dismissed her.

ITALIAN TROOPS BREAK VALENCIA DEFENSE LINES

War Planes and Artillery Bombard Viver.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], July 21.—(AP)—Spanish government war bulletins tonight reported that Italian troops fighting with the rebels had broken defense lines northwest of Viver, thirty-four miles northwest of Valencia.

Advices from Valencia said the attackers were held from entering the town when the defending militiamen laid down a heavy barrage.

Planes Used in Attack.

Their attack, in which they swept over Ragudo hill, two miles northwest of Viver, was preceded by warplane and artillery bombardments.

Rebel bulletins said their troops had reached positions a little more than a mile west of Viver.

Supporting columns further west captured Salada peak at a point where the borders of Teruel, Castellon, and Valencia provinces meet. Seventy-five insurgent planes bombed government positions on the side of Ragudo hill before the infantry advanced.

Meanwhile, other militiamen had raised new barricades to the east of Viver in an effort to retard the usual insurgent tactics of encircling a position before occupying it.

Rebel Strategy Disclosed.

This strategy became apparent with the capture of a number of villages in the foothills of the Sierra de Espina, followed by occupation of Caudiel—important communications center on the Teruel-Sagunto railroad—less than three miles northeast of Viver.

The rebels already had moved on Viver from the west, deploying strong forces in sectors around El Toro and Begis, respectively 10 miles northwest and six miles west of the town.

28 Nuns Quit Spain.

LONDON, July 21.—(AP)—Twenty-eight Spanish nuns, indebted largely to United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy for permission to depart from bomb-harried Barcelona, are expected in London tomorrow.

When the ambassador placed his three daughters in the Sacred Heart convent at Roehampton last April, the mother superior told him of the death in Spain of six members of the order and asked his assistance for those who wished to leave Barcelona.

Kennedy explained he could do nothing officially but would try as a private citizen. He enlisted the aid of Viscount Halifax, the foreign secretary, who approached the Spanish government. The British home office also helped Kennedy and the arrangement was completed on assurance to the Spanish government that the nuns would not return to Spain or help the Spanish insurgents.

Peace Pact Signed

The arrow indicates the Gran Chaco wilderness over which Paraguay and Bolivia have been in conflict 100 years. A treaty was signed yesterday whereby the dispute will go to arbitration.

BUENOS AIRES, July 21.—(AP)—A treaty by which Paraguay and Bolivia bound themselves to submit their 100 year old conflict over the Gran Chaco wilderness to the arbitration of six other American nations was signed here today.

The ceremony took place at 3:15 p. m. in the White room of the Casa Rosada, Argentina's presidential palace, with President Roberto M. Ortiz, his cabinet, and representatives of the six neutral states looking on.

The treaty ended the second phase of long negotiations designed to prevent resumption of the disastrous Chaco war, which ended in an armistice three years ago. Actual arbitration, by the presidents of the United States, Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay, Chile, and Peru, will be the third stage.

GAMBLING RAID LEADER JAILED, THEN RELEASED

Claude Warner, leader of Lake county gambling raids made by a citizens' group, spent five hours in jail yesterday on larceny charges contained in a warant from Galena, Jo Daviess county. Late last night, however, State's Attorney Donald M. Eaton of Jo Daviess county wired Sherif Lawrence A. Doolittle of Lake county that the statute of limitations had outlawed the charge. Warner was released from the county jail at Waukegan.

He said he would drive at once to Galena and make an investigation of the charges that resulted in his arrest. When he went to his car, which was parked at County and Washington streets in Waukegan, he found that all its tires had been slashed and that wiring had been torn loose. Warner said he will file suits charging false arrest and asking damages.

PRESIDENT SEES UNIQUE ISLE ON WAY TO PANAMA

ABOARD U. S. S. HOUSTON, En Route to Panama, July 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and his party arrived at French owned Clipperton Island at 12:39 p. m. [Chicago time] today on their vacation and fishing cruise.

The island, lying about 670 miles off the Mexican mainland on a line between Hawaii and Panama, consists of a low coral ring of sandlike appearance, varying in width from a few yards to a quarter of a mile and rising from the sea to a height of five to fourteen feet. The island is fringed by a continuous coral reef and coral rocks.

Capt. Guy N. Barker of the Houston plans to make observations which he will report to the navy's hydrographic office so that officials there can exactly chart the island for the first time. Meantime, President Roosevelt and others of his party will resume their fishing.

8 JEWS KILLED IN ARAB RAIDS IN PALESTINE

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

JERUSALEM, July 21.—Five Jews were killed in North Palestine and three in South Palestine today by Arab brigands, who again have resumed attacks.

Before dawn an isolated settlement in the north, Kiriat Hahoresh, consisting of sixty Jewish families, was invaded by 100 Arabs. The attackers entered the hut of one Jewish family, stabbing to death a husband and wife and a 2 year old baby. Then they set the structure on fire. They then entered another hut, killing a settler and his son, 11. A girl of 6 in the same family escaped.

The body of one Arab was discovered later. The second attack came when a gang swooped down on a Jewish workers' camp near the Dead sea. Three were killed and several were hurt seriously.

Pitcairn Asks Aid

New York, July 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Dorothy D. Hall, a woman radio amateur in Queens, is trying to get aid to 215 inhabitants of Pitcairn Island, halfway around the world.

The islanders, descendants of the mutineers of the Bounty, have been cut off from the world by a false rumor that there is a typhoid fever epidemic on the island. For six weeks no boat has stopped and they have received no supplies. Their condition is becoming critical. They urgently need medical supplies and canned milk.

Mrs. Hall talks regularly to the amateur operator on the island. She said he requested that she tell British authorities of the situation and urge that help be sent to them from the Fiji Islands, nearest British territory. Mrs. Hall today gave her message in writing to the British consul general here. The consulate said announcement will be made later as to what will be done.

Padlock Flat of Alleged Red Leader in Quebec

QUEBEC, Que., July 21.—[Special.]—Because of alleged communistic activities a padlock today was placed on the front door of a flat occupied by F. X. Lessard, alleged communist chieftain in Canada's ancient capital. It was the first such case in the province. Lessard was not at home when provincial policemen came with the padlock. Mrs. Lessard and her children vacated the home, and she said she was going to the country.

HEAVIER TAXES, MORE OF THEM, 1939 PROSPECT

U. S. Treasury in Red for Ninth Successive Year.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 21.—[Special.]—With the treasury in the red for the ninth year and no end of deficits in sight the administration is planning more and heavier taxes.

This was disclosed today by Acting Secretary of the Treasury Roswell Magill. He said that the treasury experts are preparing estimates of the volume of revenue obtainable from extending the income tax to low income groups of the population now exempt, from taxing state and municipal bonds, and from other sources.

Up to Next Congress.

These studies and estimates will be furnished to President Roosevelt as a basis for the tax program he will lay before the next congress next January. With the deficit for the current fiscal year already estimated by the President at 4 billion dollars and with the national debt to cross the 40 billion mark within the year, the paramount issue in the new congress bids fair to be more taxes and economy to save the national credit.

The treasury has obtained from the department of justice an exhaustive opinion holding that income from securities issued by states, counties, cities, and other local governments, and also salaries of state and municipal employés are properly taxable by the federal government under the sixteenth amendment. The opinion declares it reasonable to believe that the Supreme court would reverse itself and uphold such taxation of incomes now exempt.

May Tax State Salaries.

It is regarded a foregone conclusion that the President will incorporate in his program the taxation of 2½ million state salaries, which it is estimated would bring in an additional 15 millions a year, and of state and municipal bonds henceforth issued, the yield from which would be much greater.

According to treasury figures submitted to the house ways and means committee at the last session 140 millions would be realized by taxing state and municipal securities and the interest on federal securities now exempted from the normal income tax rate but subject to the surtax. Nearly 70 billions of federal and state securities are now tax exempt.

Although the reciprocal right of the states to tax federal employés' salaries and federal securities is implied there is no doubt that the states would incite enormous opposition in congress to any legislation proposing federal taxation of state salaries and securities.

View of Hughes Recalled.

The doctrin of intergovernmental immunity from taxation has been upheld by the Supreme court as the essence of protection of the independence of the federal and state governments from impairment by tax assaults by either upon the other. The department of justice points out in its opinion, however, that Chief Justice Hughes, when governor of New York, in submitting the sixteenth amendment to the legislature, took the view that it contemplated federal taxation of state securities because it provided for levying direct taxes on incomes "from whatever source derived."

Suggesting that the Supreme court may now be expected to change its attitude toward intergovernmental immunity from taxation the department of justice says:

"While there is considerable language in the opinions of the Supreme court to the effect that the amendment merely removed the necessity for apportionment and did not confer a new substantive power, only a small part of the evidence collected in this study has been presented to the court and apparently the whole of this evidence has never been considered by that tribunal.

Contends Evidence Stronger Now.

"The court has frequently shown its willingness to reëxamine its decisions affecting the constitutional powers of congress. The evidence now available for presentation to the court on the meaning of the sixteenth amendment is stronger than the evidence relied upon by the court in the Tompkins case and the considerations here are as impelling as those which led the court to reverse a previous decision in the Wood case."

In the Tompkins case the court at its last term reversed its attitude on an important question of procedure that had prevailed for more than a century.

The President already has indicated that he will demand of the next congress the reëenactment of the undistributed profits tax in the form originally written into law. At the last session congress virtually wiped out this tax as a result of the view that its impact upon corporations was largely responsible for the business recession. The President also indicated he would insist upon restoration of the taxes on capital gains which were lightened for the same reasons.

Acting Secretary Magill made it apparent that the administration for the first time is seriously considering the expansion of the base of the income tax to include several million persons in low income groups who are now exempt.

Senator Robert M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.] has been advocating such legislation for years. He would lower the personal exemption of married persons from $2,500 to $2,000 and of single persons from $1,000 to $800.

Renovate Statue of Liberty

Letters denote the following points of interest: A—the statue, B—star shaped wall about the plaisance, C—the old army supply pier, D—old Fort Wood, E—the fort storehouses, F—former quarters of army officers, now used by park employes; G—restaurant and tourist headquarters, H—the ferry pier for tourists.

Enlarge Island

New York, July 21.—[Special.]—The Statue of Liberty, the celebrated national monument at the entrance of New York's upper harbor, is being renovated at a cost of $1,700,000. Workmen today began removing the seven huge spikes from the goddess' crown.

The statue and Bedloes Island, on which it stands, are under the jurisdiction of the national park service of the department of the interior. Officials of the service refused to state whether the entire $1,700,000 is coming from the Works Progress administration. It was believed some of the funds would be provided by the department of the interior.

The renovation work includes reconditioning of the statue and building of a new sea wall which will increase the size of the island from 12 acres to 15. More than 250,000 persons visit the statue annually. Since April visitors have not been allowed to ascend the decrepit stairway inside the statue. The stairway will be repaired and reopened next fall.

The statue was a gift to the United States from the people of France. The French raised $700,000 and American citizens contributed another $300,000. The statue was unveiled Oct. 28, 1886.

Bedloes Island was an army post, Fort Wood, for many years. Last December it was taken over by the national park service and the soldiers left the barracks. All of the fort structures will be removed in the renovation work.

Here are some interesting facts about the statue: Its height from foundation of pedestal to torch is 305 feet. From base of statue to torch is 151 feet. The right arm, holding the torch, is 42 feet. The hand is 16 feet. The statue weighs 450,000 pounds [225 tons]. Forty persons can stand in the head and 12 in the torch. The statue faces southeast, toward the outer bay, the ocean and the incoming traveler.

U. S. CALLS FOR ALL RECORDS IN PAVING INQUIRY

Federal Judge William H. Holly issued subpenas yesterday demanding that all records pertaining to certain Cook county highway contracts, which the state department of public works and buildings rejected as too high, be produced in Chicago by tomorrow. Named in the subpenas were Charles P. Casey and M. S. Fleming, two subheads of the department.

Earlier in the day Paul E. Ruppel, United States marshal at Springfield, sought to serve subpenas for the records on F. Lynden Smith, public works director, and Ernst Lieberman, state highway engineer. Ruppel was told the officials were in Wisconsin on vacation. Subordinates in the department refused to produce the records in their absence. Informed of this refusal in Chicago, Assistant United States Attorney Warren Canaday obtained the new subpenas from Judge Holly.

The contracts on the road jobs are being investigated by United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe. After the first bids were declared to be excessive, second bids totaled $472,000 lower on the same projects.

AUTOISTS BUMP ALONG AS WPA, CITY SHIFT BLAME

Tear Up Streets Despite Resurfacing Delay.

Two weeks ago the resurfacing of streets, part of the city's summer paving program, was suspended. WPA gangs, which break up the streets ahead of the resurfacing crews, have since torn up about nine miles of pavement. These roads, still open to motorists, are rocky routes for any who travel them. Some of the break-up gangs are still on the job.

While this strange situation became known yesterday the reasons for it were clouded. There have been complaints of a lack of coöperation between the Works Progress administration and the city department of public works.

Cost of Work Divided.

Under the $3,000,000 asphalt paving program WPA pays for unskilled labor and as much for materials as the city will pay for skilled labor. WPA furnishes the asphalt.

When work on sixty miles of resurfacing came to a halt the city laid off sixteen finishing gangs, totaling 536 men. Several thousand of the unskilled WPA cutout gangs which break up the pavement were laid off. But WPA officials said 3,540 were still working yesterday.

Meanwhile, they admitted, WPA inspectors rejected 230,000 gallons of crude asphalt used for making a paving mixture because it did not fulfill contract specifications. The contractor will be required to make good.

Puts Blame on WPA.

"The WPA ran out of asphalt," said Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works. "We have none."

"There is some asphalt on hand and 210,000 more tons have been ordered for delivery by Friday," said H. K. Seltzer, WPA director.

WPA officials believe the city's difficulty in raising funds to pay for its share of the program is back of the paving halt. Keeping the projects moving is the city's responsibility, it was pointed out.

Hewitt denied this, and said:

"We will have enough money for the first paving program or its equivalent."

He explained that the first project, begun March 29, provided for a little more than 60 miles of 30 foot surface. The second project, which will be larger, will be undertaken only if the city can borrow $3,000,000 he said.

Unaware of Contracts.

As for the 210,000 tons of asphalt, Hewitt said he had not been even told that the contract was let.

When the asphalt is ready for delivery, Hewitt said, he will put the city crews back to work.

He said 44 miles of the 60 mile project had been completed with 91,812 tons of asphalt mix [crude asphalt plus sand, stone, etc.] which the WPA had purchased from private mixing contractors.

The project contract also called for WPA delivery of 80,000 tons of crude asphalt [a petroleum liquid] to the city's three mixing plants.

"To date," said Hewitt, "35,000 tons have been turned out by the city plants. The delay of the remaining 45,000 tons was due to slow operation by these plants and delay in delivering of materials."

FIND YOUTH FATALLY WOUNDED ON BEACH; WEAPON IS MISSING

Valparaiso, Ind., July 21.—[Special.]—Abner Dilley Jr., 18 years old, a student at Boston Institute of Technology and the son of a Grand Rapids, Mich., attorney, was found dead on the Lake Michigan beach near here today, a bullet wound in his forehead. Nearby lay the body of his dog, also shot in the head.

John Read, 20 years old, of Cincinnati, O., a schoolmate of Dilley and his companion on a trip to Colorado, told state police Dilley had been morose and had talked of suicide.

Read said his companion disappeared last night from a trailer camp in the Dunes state park where they had stopped for the night. He expressed belief Dilley walked into the water and shot himself and his dog.

SEIZE A PEEPER AT HOME, BUT NO ONE WANTS HIM

Mrs. John Grassl glanced casually out of the window as she dressed yesterday morning in the bedroom of her bungalow at 9344 Calumet avenue. Then she shrieked. A monkey was perched on the sill watching her.

The Peeping Tom looked on interestedly while she telephoned the Burnside police. The sergeant sent Policeman Earl Knight to the scene. Knight had no trouble catching the monkey.

It was the size of those that accompany organ grinders. But no one appeared to claim it, so Knight took it to his home at 8320 Kerfoot avenue.

FIVE TRAPPED IN GOLD MINE BY FALLING ROCKS

Duncan, Ariz., July 22 [Friday].—(AP)—Five men were trapped behind a cave-in in the Shamrock shaft of the Veta Mines, Inc., properties near here today. All were expected to be freed in a few hours, I. Bartnen, mine superintendent, said.

Large masses of rock fell on the 700 foot level Wednesday night. Rescue workers are digging toward the imprisoned men from the 600 foot level.

Food and water were sent to the men through a pipe. They assured workmen they were unharmed and in good spirits.

The mine, a silver-gold producer, employs about 85 men.

TVA COMMITTEE LIFTS GAG RULE ON EMPLOYES

Censorship Ended When Morgan Protests.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., July 21.—[Special.]—The congressional investigating committee today lifted the gag which had been placed on TVA employés. It then pursued the investigation of such censorship of free speech by the Tennessee Valley authority.

A resolution was adopted making it possible for TVA employés to talk to any one designated by the committee without reporting to any TVA official before or after the interview.

Later, Charles Hoffman, assistant secretary of the TVA read a sheaf of letters bearing on the censorship investigation.

Hoffman Voluminous Data.

Hoffman, for 17 years a friend of Arthur E. Morgan, deposed chairman, submitted a voluminous memoranda passing between himself and James Lawrence Fly, secretary and counsel of TVA. In these Hoffman asked enlightenment on orders which he said had been given him by Fly not to contact Arthur Morgan in any way until the committee had established a procedure for interviewing employés.

Hogman said he wanted to know whether the sealed lips order would keep him from visits with old friends on Dr. Morgan's personal staf, and restrain him from giving a dinner party.

During the hearing the committee on motion of Thomas A. Jenkins, [R., O.] ordered the original minutes of TVA and its changed minutes file impounded. Hoffman had testified that since 1933 the minutes had been changed in fifteen.

They Are Two Key Men.

Hoffman and Barton M. Jones, design engineer, were the two key men Arthur Morgan said he had talked with in the last week under permission from TVA obtained by Francis Biddle, committee counsel, in Biddles' office.

Hoffman's testimony was the liveliest part of the afternoon session. After Mr. Fly had instructed him to make no contacts with Dr. Morgan, he said he wondered if this applied to old friends in the Morgan group, a Miss Ostling and Walter Kahoe and F. X. Reynolds, assistants to Morgan in the case. So he dropped a 900 word memo to Fly, asking how far the no contact order went.

"I am desirous of obtaining an answer to that question presently," Hoffman said, "inasmuch as Miss Ostling and her parents who are vacationing on the Atlantic seaboard may stop in Knoxville over night on their way home. If and when they do I should like to entertain them at dinner as a friendly gesture," Hoffman read a reply memo from Fly written two days ago, July 19, one excerpt of which was interpreted as giving an answer to the problem of the social gesture dinner; in this Fly said:

"If you feel there is any ground for making an exception to the rule in your case, you have my authority to take it up with the board."

As one of the two TVA staf men interviewed by Dr. Morgan, Hoffman testified he was directed to go to committee counsel Biddle's office last Sunday, to talk with Morgan. The latter was seeking data in connection with his charges of misrule and deceit in TVA. Answering questions from Biddle about the sequel to this talk, Hoffman said:

"Your request was I prepare a narrative account of what Dr. Morgan and I talked about—it's in your office. Your statement to me was before submitting the memorandum to you to check it up with Mr. Fly."

At this juncture Representative James M. Mead [D., N. Y.], committee vice chairman, interjected with a remark that for the controversy about contacts about personnel the committee itself should accept blame. The procedure of clearing interviews through TVA into Attorney Biddle's office he said was outgrowth of a resolution adopted in Washington in May.

Fly Gives Instructions.

"What did Fly say to you about contacts with Dr. Morgan?" asked Jenkins.

"On July 8," said Hoffman, "Mr. Fly called me up and said he wanted to give me certain instructions. The gist was to make available no records except on Fly's order and no contact with A. E. Morgan and he added 'I mean no contact.'"

Hoffman testified that at a former meeting in Fly's office he was told certain regulations had been adopted June 2.

"So June 2 was when you went into TVA slavery?" said Jenkins. "Who was in the meeting with you in Fly's office?"

"Mr. Marks, Fly's assistant," said Hoffman, "and Miss Frances Gordon, typist. She took down everything said."

Minute Entries Changed.

"They had all the appliances then," said Jenkins, "to seal you all up in good shape. What did Fly say?"

"He was most concerned,' 'said Hoffman, "in the file of changed minute entries. The files begin with 1933. The minutes of Nov. 2, 1933, contain certain entries in the original form and two statements which do not appear in our final minutes."

As explained by Hoffman, the two entries concerned a statement from Director David E. Lilienthal concerning an agreement with Wendell Wilkie of Commonwealth and Southern, and application from Florence and Tuscumbia for PWA loans for a distribution system.

Before the committee adjourned Mr. Fly put in a six page statement from Lilienthal, declaring no impropriety had ever been suggested in the omission of these items from the final record. These two changes are in the charges of Dr. Morgan.

Wants to Impound Records.

Jenkins popped in a motion to impound these TVA records. The changes since 1933 are to be taken up later.

Returning to the June meeting in Fly's office, Hoffman said Fly had asked him if he had seen Morgan at Dayton and what they talked about.

"Then he took up the changes in the minutes," said Hoffman, "and asked about them. There have been about fifteen or twenty changes since 1933. I've been a party to changing them under proper authority."

"Who ordered the changes?" asked Jenkins.

"Most were at suggestion of Lilienthal," said Hoffman; "some by Arthur E. Morgan, some by H. A. Morgan. They were changed by substitution. The changed minute file keeps them on record."

Hoffman said Fly explained that the committee had established procedure under which Arthur Morgan might examine the books, but as yet it had no procedure for him to contact TVA employés and until that was done no contacts were to be made.

"Then on July 8 when Fly telephoned me," said Hoffman. "Frank Bruck, in charge of the controler general audit in TVA, was in my office and I did not feel free in his presence to discuss this matter with Fly.

"For five years I have been associated with three men appointed by President Roosevelt and at no time in five years had I ever heard any director advocate or suggest a policy which abridges the right of free speech.

"After I concluded the proposition was unjust, I drafted a memo to Fly July 8. I asked him to interpret the order, and whether it affected friendly social relations with such people as Mr. Kahoe, Mr. Reynolds, and Miss Ostling and other friends of long standing."

Asks for Interpretation.

Fly's answer on July 14 was read by Hoffman. It quoted from a memo written to Carl A. Bock, chief engineer, by John B. Blandford, general manager. Engineer Bock had asked for an interpretation of the no contact rule, and Blandford was quoted as replying:

"I told you that under these circumstances it would not be appropriate for the TVA personnel to confer or communicate with Arthur Morgan or his representatives during the period of the investigation unless and until the congressional investigating committee approves and establishes a procedure for such contacts."

Hoffman testified he was still unsatisfied and the letter he wrote to Fly July 15 was read. This was the social gesture dinner memo, and he followed it with the reading of Fly's answer.

Letter Writing Popular.

In one of the memoranda—it appeared from the volume of correspondence, that letter writing to each other is a popular indoor sport of TVA—Hoffman had spoken of his rights as a citizen and a taxpayer and his interest as such in TVA affairs. One passage of the Fly response read:

"Citizen and taxpayer though you may be, you are still a subordinate employed by the board of directors of the authority. Whatever may be proper for a citizen and taxpayer should not alter the duty you owe to the organization as such. In the long run interests of citizens and taxpayers as well as those of the authority will best be served by the fair observance of proper administrative procedure.

"But where your duty to the organization in any way conflicts with what you understand to be your right as a citizen and taxpayer, it would seem imperative that you make an exception as to the capacity in which you propose to act."

"Ha! The new declaration of independence!" exclaimed Representative Jenkins.

Engineer Jones, testified he was sent to see Dr. Morgan Saturday by the TVA legal staf, and that he talked with Morgan for two hours.

"Dr. Morgan," he said, "thought I'd be able to talk more freely if we were alone. Mr. Biddle said he granted Morgan that request, but wanted to talk to me after the conference."

"Did you inform him what you talked about?" asked Wolverton.

"Yes," said Jones. "He asked me what we talked about and I told him.

At the end of Hoffman's testimony it was brought out that the Nov. 2, 1933, minutes had been signed by all members of the board.

Examination of Hoffman will continue tomorrow, and after that Director Lilienthal is expected to testify.

Phosphate Deal Comes Up.

The $527,185 profit which J. J. Watson, president of International Agricultural announced to his stockholders in January on the sale of 553 acres of phosphate land to TVA for $678,000 was brought up in the cross-examination of Dr. Morgan. The land is in Williamson county.

Representative Charles A. Wolverton [R., N. J.] asked Dr. Morgan what information he had on this. The witness said he had no data on the deal, and testified that the fertilizer program is within the province of Director H. A. Morgan. "TVA had its own geological staf, headed by Maj. Eckel, an excellent man," said Dr. Morgan. "H. A. Morgan set up his own geological staf of one or two men. They reported to him personally.

Declines to Answer.

"The purchase conditions of phosphate lands were determined by H. A. Morgan and assistants. Then it went to the land acquisition department. So far as I know the prices are all right but they might be all wrong—I know nothing of them."

Dr. Morgan declined to answer questions by Wolverton regarding the charge of Harcourt Morgan that Arthur Morgan had sought to prevent the reappointment of Director Lilienthal. He said it was not true that he had offered to resign if Lilienthal were reappointed.

Ethel Merman waving lantern which started Century.

New York, July 21.—[Special.]—Ethel Merman, Broadway singer "swung it" on the steps of the Twentieth Century Limited today and almost swung the train right out of the station. An enterprising photographer handed her a signal lantern as she stepped off the train from Hollywood.

"Swing it," he directed.

Miss Merman did. The engineer on the switching locomotive waiting for the signal to pull the train to the yards, caught the swinging and singing and moved the controls.

WOMEN SHOCKED AT RESULTS OF CHEAP SOAP CHIPS

WHATEVER AM I GOING TO DO? ALL MY CLOTHES SEEM TO WEAR OUT IN NO TIME AT ALL. IT'S SIMPLY TERRIBLE, AND JOHN IS COMPLAINING BITTERLY ABOUT THE EXPENSE.
THE THING FOR YOU TO DO IS GET RID OF THAT BOX OF CHEAP SOAP CHIPS I SAW IN YOUR HOUSE, AND GET AMERICAN FAMILY FLAKES, THEN SEE HOW MUCH LONGER YOUR THINGS WILL LAST.

This Can Happen

1. Cheap soap chips can all too quickly take the life and color out of fabrics by employing harmful alkali and harsh chemicals.
2. Cheap soap chips can cause you needless back-breaking rubbing to remove dirt by producing thin, weak suds.
3. Cheap soap chips can cause your clothes to wear out long before their time by requiring ruinous boiling, scrubbing and rubbing.

How Amazing American Family Flakes Safely Get Clothes Sparkling White

ARE you being "penny-wise" and "pound-foolish" about the soap you use? Are you entrusting your wash to cheap soap chips that require ruinous boiling, rubbing and scrubbing—in order to save a few pennies? Then read the next statement carefully:—It is ruinous boiling, scrubbing and rubbing that all too often cause clothes to wear out long before their time. Actually rob you of many months of service you rightfully deserve.

American Family Flakes work on an altogether different, safe principle. First, these famous flakes are guaranteed not to contain harmful alkali or harsh chemicals. Second, they are especially made for the hard water of this region. Third, laboratory tests have proved that American Family Flakes contain more suds-making material than other chips, flakes and powders tested.

American Family Flakes dissolve almost the instant they hit the water into rich, active suds. Even grimiest spots come out without back-breaking rubbing and the rest of the dirt seems to soak loose like magic. That is why the wash comes out sparkling white and sweet smelling; why colored fabrics are gay and brilliant; why even daintiest fabrics are perfectly safe in the rich, gentle suds of American Family Flakes.

Get a box of American Family Flakes from your dealer. Your very first wash will prove a revelation as you see your clothes come out gloriously clean with so little work on your part. Then and there you will prove that you will never want to use cheap soap chips again. And before long, you will know why American Family brand is the largest selling soap in this territory—and why thousands of women say: "It is cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes." Made by Procter & Gamble.

SON TO LAUNCH FIGHT ON WILL OF MRS. SIDLEY

Racine, Wis., July 21.—[Special.]—William Horlick Sidley, son of the late Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress, announced here tonight he will contest his mother's will.

Mrs. Sidley's will has not yet been filed for probate. Its contents, however, are known. An outright bequest of $250,000 is made to young Sidley, plus one-third the residue of the estate, estimated at $4,000,000.

W. Perkins Bull, Toronto barrister, also receives $250,000 and one-third of the residue. The remainder of the estate goes to charity and for individual bequests. Mrs. Sidley died July 6 in Bull's Toronto home, where she had been a guest for a year.

May Postpone Inquest.

Meanwhile in Toronto the Ontario attorney general's office indicated it would postpone from July 26 until Aug. 2 the inquest into Mrs. Sidley's death. Autopsy physicians have ascribed her death to a brain malady.

Investigations into the financial affairs of Mrs. Sidley and Bull also are being conducted in Toronto. Their bank accounts have been tied up by Canadian inheritance and income tax authorities, who are seeking to learn whether the dominion government is entitled to a share of Mrs. Sidley's estate.

Young Sidley's decision to contest his mother's will was made at a conference with his uncle and attorney, William P. Sidley of Chicago. The latter is a member of the law firm of Sidley, McPherson, Austin & Burgess, with offices at 11 South La Salle street in Chicago.

Defy Clause in Will.

The contest was decided upon despite the fact Mrs. Sidley's will contains a clause saying that any one who contests its validity or attempts to prevent it being probated automatically forfeits any benefits thereunder.

Before Sidley decided to contest the will he and his attorney studied copies of an earlier will, drawn in 1934, in which Mrs. Sidley left the bulk of her estate to her son.

Young Sidley did not disclose the grounds on which the contest will be based.

Earlier today the will of Mrs. Sidley's mother, Mrs. Arabella Horlick, who died three days after the daughter's death, was filed for probate here. It disposes of an estate estimated at $1,750,000. Mrs. Horlick was the widow of Col. William Horlick, founder of the Horlick malted milk fortune.

Sons to Share Fortune.

The bulk of Mrs. Horlick's estate is left to her two sons, William Horlick Jr. and Alexander J. Horlick, both of Racine. By the terms of Ms. Horlick's original will, Mrs. Sidley would have received a third of the estate.

A codicil provided, however, that in case her daughter preceded her in death a sum of $200,000 is to be paid to Mrs. Sidley's estate. Thus that amount will be added to Mrs. Sidley's estate.

Mrs. Horlick's will instructed that her estate be divided among her husband and her three children. The document provided, however, that in the event any of those four died during Mrs. Horlick's lifetime the shares of the deceased be given to the survivors in equal proportions.

Deaths Change Status.

Mrs. Horlick's husband died in 1936. This had the effect of dividing her estate into three parts. Because of the death of Mrs. Sidley, the estate, with Mrs. Sidley's bequest deducted, will be divided between the two sons.

The original will was drawn April 7, 1932. The codicil providing for the outright gift of $200,000 to Mrs. Sidley, was added April 15, 1935. Bernard Magruder, one of the executors and beneficiaries under the will of Mrs. Sidley, also was named executor of Mrs. Horlick's will.

Although Mrs. Sidley's son, William, is not mentioned in the will, his name was included in a list of heirs and closest of kin which was presented with the petition for probate.

Settling of Mrs. Horlick's estate is being handled by three law firms. They are Benson, Butchart & Benson of Racine; Miller, Mack & Fairchild of Milwaukee, and Scott, MacLeish & Falk, Chicago.

Horlick Estate Unsettled.

Although Col. Horlick died two years ago, his estate has not been closed. He left a fortune of between 16 and 20 million dollars to be divided among his daughter and two sons.

The malted milk company he founded was left in trust for the benefit of his daughter and sons. Upon the death of any of the three the deceased's share was to go to the heirs-at-law. Thus upon Mrs. Sidley's death her son inherited a one-third share of the trust. However, control of the trust will remain with the two sons of the founder.

SURFACE LINES TO REJECT 3 PCT. CAR FRANCHISE

Accept Only if Ordered by Federal Court.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Receivers for the Chicago Surface Lines will file a report in federal district court today rejecting the new street car ordinance passed by the city council Wednesday. This notice was given yesterday to parties interested in the traction litigation.

The report will state that the receivers do not consider the ordinance in the best interest of the properties and they will not accept it unless so ordered by the court. It will state also that the receivers do not consider the new permit an aid to settlement of the traction unification problem.

Demand 3 Per Cent of Earnings.

The new ordinance requires the surface lines to pay 3 per cent of their fares—about $1,400,000 a year— to the city for the use of the streets. It is a temporary permit running to Oct. 31 and was voted by the council to replace the 1907 ordinance which expired a week ago.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson last Friday gave full authority to the receivers to use their judgment in the franchise matter. The receivers are Guy A. Richardson, president of the surface lines; Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company; Edward E. Brown, president of the First National bank, and Harvey B. Fleming, a surface lines official.

Judge Wilkerson yesterday called a conference of traction receivers and attorneys for today. In view of his order to receivers and a lengthy memorandum last Monday, it had been expected he would not hold another traction hearing before the end of the court's summer recess.

Seek New Approach.

A new approach will be made next week to the traction unification negotiations which have been sidetracked by work on the temporary permit. Mayor Kelly invited representatives of all transit companies and Walter A. Shaw, federal court traction adviser, to meet with him and the city council's traction subcommittee Tuesday.

Those invited include the four surface lines receivers, Albert A. Sprague and William J. Lynch, representing the elevated railways, and J. A. Ritchie, president of the Chicago Motor Coach company.

William H. Sexton, city traction counsel, yesterday asked Federal Judge William H. Holly to vacate an order authorizing surface lines receivers to buy eleven buses. The buses would be used for an extension in Halsted street between 87th and 123d streets. Sexton said the city favored the extension, but wanted the order reworded to omit references to street car ordinances that have expired. His motion was continued.

HOLD THREE TO JURY AS BURGLARS.

Three young men were held to the grand jury as burglars yesterday by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the Boys' court. They are Gerald Grimes, 19 years old, 3235 Lake street; John Martes, 20, of 808 North Sacramento avenue, and Albert Lambert, 18, of 3003 North Carroll avenue.

LUPE VELEZ.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 21.—[Special.]—The third divorce suit of Lupe Velez, Mexican actress, against Johnny Weissmuller, movie Tarzan and former Chicago swimming champion, was on file today. She charged mental cruelty. Two previous suits, filed in 1934 and 1935, were dropped. Lupe is going to New York soon to appear in a stage play, and it may be that a reconciliation will be effected. Lupe says no. They were married in 1933.

Lupe said in her complaint that Johnny was sullen and morose, snubbed her friends and was unreasonably jealous of her.

5 AND 10 HEIRESS TO KEEP HER SON, LONDON HEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 21.—Terms for the separation of Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow and ner Danish husband were discussed at secret talks here today between Danish and British lawyers, it is understood. The countess will keep her 2 year old son, Lance, it is understood, but the count will be allowed to supervise his education and to see him when he wishes.

On the question of chief interest to the American public—what monetary arrangement, if any, has been made—Barbara and the count have managed to keep a complete secrecy.

The count is opposed to a divorce, it is understood, and the concession he makes in agreeing to leave his son in his wife's hands—which he at first refused—is balanced by the agreement on a friendly separation without recourse to the courts.

PWA GIVES HALF MILLION FOR MIND HOSPITAL IN CITY

The Public Works administration has granted the state department of public works $544,909 toward a $1,210,000 mental reserch hospital to be built in Chicago. D. R. Kennicott, regional PWA director, announced the grant yesterday.

The hospital, consisting of a central unit of one story and two wings each 11 stories high, will be built on Wood street between Taylor and Polk streets as a part of the west side hospital group. The state's share of the project will be paid from an appropriation by the general assembly.

Mother of Barrymore's Wife to Seek Divorce

Los Angeles, Cal., July 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Edna Jacobs, mother of Elaine Jacobs Barrymore, said today she would file suit soon for a divorce from Louis Jacobs, New York clothier. She is the mother-in-law of John Barrymore. "My heart is here in California with Elaine and John, my husband's business is in New York, so I am going to make our separation legal," she said.

CAPT. O'BRIEN'S CHURCH SAYS HE IS ONLY 60 NOW

Capt. William J. O'Brien of the Deering street police station is younger than you'd think. He is younger than even he thought, according to old birth records found in the archives of St. Patrick's church. This is set forth in his suit filed yesterday against the civil service commission which has slated Capt. O'Brien for compulsory retirement this fall when, according to the commission's records, he will be 63 years old.

The church records show, however, that Capt. O'Brien was born on Jan. 27, 1878, instead of Oct. 8, 1875, and that he is only 60 years old. The suit, filed in the Circuit court, asks that the civil service commission be compelled to recognize the later date.

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

MENTAL ICING

By CALEB

"SHE'S QUITE the most marvelous person I've ever seen," said my friend. "She's calm and poised even in the summer time!"

He was right, for although it was a sweltering hot afternoon, the cool self-possession of the friend he was observing was apparent to every one. Furthermore, no one could remember having seen her otherwise, no matter how difficult the weather. It was decided to ask the lady herself the secret of her warm weather poise and relaxation.

"It's a system," she said, settling into a fan-backed chair. "A system I've developed for myself—and it works. It took time, though, because at the outset hot weather was my chief bugaboo. I dreaded it! That had to end.

"I started out by making a list of things that, to my mind, meant coolness and relaxation. I included colors, fabrics, sounds, scenery—everything with a hint of coolness in it. The list began with the oil painting over our mantel at home. It was a winter forest scene with tall white birch trees casting blue shadows across drifts of snow.

"After that came the ice-clear blue and the white foam of a mountain stream we often visited. Then there were the green and white stripes of the tent top on my grandmother's wide lawn where we used to drink lemonade at children's parties. I remembered the sound of great chunks of ice bumping the sides of the bowl as they floated among the bright red cherries and lemon peels.

"I trained myself to think of those things whenever I found a moment to relax. I simply practiced feeling cool—and found that it helped a good deal. That, of course, was only one step. The next thing I did was build quite carefully a hot-weather wardrobe. I wrote down a list of fabrics and colors that spelled coolness and relaxation to me. I began to pay twice the attention to summer costumes that I did before.

"Nowadays, when it's hot, I find the coolest place I can, and proceed (mentally, of course), to take a walk through the snow-swept forest in the library. Half way through I fall asleep. When I wake up, I choose a costume that is cool—but more important, one with fabric and color that make me feel cool.

"I call it 'mental air conditioning,'" she said. "Try it some time."

FOUNDRY STRIKE NEAR SOLUTION, SAY MEDIATORS

Predict Normal Operation of Plant by Monday.

Labor conciliators predicted a speedy end to the C. I. O. strike at the plant of the Chicago Hardware Foundry company in North Chicago after a conference yesterday with company and union representatives. A second conference will be held this morning.

"We are much nearer a settlement now than when I held nine conferences with the company and union during the early days of the strike," said William G. Murray, conciliator for the state department of labor. The strike started June 6.

"I think we will have this strike settled Friday," he added, "and that, starting Monday, operations will be resumed 100 per cent at the plant."

Issue Confident Statement.

Harry E. Scheck, commissioner of conciliation for the United States department of labor, was equally as confident. In a statement issued jointly with Murray, he said:

"Peace negotiations have started. We hope that the long drawn out strike will soon be settled. This was a very satisfactory meeting. It was friendly. There was no expression of bitterness on either side."

Representing the company in the conference were Edward B. Sherwin, president; J. A. De Celle, production superintendent, and Sidney H. Block, attorney. Those representing the union, the Amalgamated Association of Steel, Iron, and Tin Workers, were Michael Ostrosci of Sterling, an organizer; Samuel Runyan, a plant employé and chairman of the strike committee, and John J. Brownlee, personal representative of Van A. Bittner, regional director of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee.

Concessions to Be Considered.

Scheck and Murray said that the matter of concessions had not yet been considered. Last November Murray settled a week old strike at the plant in a five hour conference.

In a letter notifying stockholders of their next meeting, Aug. 2, President Sherwin declared that the company had lost $49,000 in the fiscal year ending June 30, and that its working capital had declined $63,367.

The management contended that employés in the face of poor business, must accept a 10 per cent wage cut and no vacations with pay. This is the main point of contention in the strike.

Sherwin reported that it would also be necessary for the stockholders to approve a $300,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Strike Pickets Return.

In groups of three, eighty feet apart, strikers were permitted last night to return to Commonwealth avenue near the plant under terms of a court injunction. Their massed pickets were routed Tuesday in a tear gas attack by police. Yesterday 250 men were reported back at work.

Meyer Adelman, one of the strike chieftains, is expected to be brought back early today from Goshen, Ind., where he was arrested Tuesday. He and nineteen others were indicted for conspiracy in the foundry strike.

BUSINESS MAN'S WIFE DIES.

$100, PLUS, PROVIDES A NEAT INVESTMENT FOR EX-CAPONE AID

Ralph Buglio, known as a one-time henchman of Al Capone, was picked up yesterday and questioned by state's attorney's police about his connection with the United Liquor Stores, Inc. Officials of this company are accused of evading $14,000 in state sales taxes for the fifteen months ending last April.

Ralph Buglio.

Buglio, who owns the Buglio Beer Distributing company, told Attorney Thomas J. Bugan and Investigator Gus Bartels of the state finance department that he held 30 per cent of the stock of the ten United Liquor stores. The stock cost him $100 cash, he said, plus an indeterminate amount of credit, energy, and other intangibles. He added that he had no active part in running the company, whose worth he placed at from $40,000 to $50,000. He denied that Capone had any connection with the concern.

Buglio had been sought since July 9, when state finance department investigators arrested Rocco de Stefano, 8000 Langley avenue, and Pasquale Trella, 5046 Federal street, president and general manager of the concern.

Before he was released a subpena was served on Buglio directing him to appear before the grand jury on Aug. 2, when he will be questioned again about his affiliation with the stores.

THEATER IN GARY SUES; CHARGES MOVIE MONOPOLY

The Gary Theater company, owners of the Palace theater at Eighth street and Broadway there, filed suit in the federal District court yesterday asking an injunction to smash an alleged motion picture monopoly. Named in the suit are nine producers and distributors and two Chicago theater corporations. The company charges that it is bound by contract to observe release dates that delay its receipt of films for ten weeks after they are released nationally and four weeks after Chicago loop theaters have shown them.

It asks that the eleven defendants be enjoined from enforcing this clause of the contract and from retaliating against the Palace theater by refusing to issue it films. The producer-distributors named are Columbia Pictures corporation; M-G-M Distributing corporation; Paramount Pictures, Inc.; Twentieth Century-Fox Films corporation; R-K-O Radio Pictures, Inc.; Universal Film Exchange, Inc.; United Artists corporation; Loew's, Inc., and Vitagraph, Inc. The Chicago corporations are Balaban & Katz, owned largely by Paramount, and the Warner Brothers Circuit Management corporation, owned by Warner Brothers' Pictures.

CALLS TAXPAYERS OF COOK COUNTY BIGGEST SUCKERS

Cook county's taxpayers are the biggest suckers in the world. That's what George F. Nixon, former member of the board of tax appeals and a candidate for county commissioner, said yesterday at a luncheon of the woman's division of the Cook County Republican central committee.

"Deplorable advantage is being taken of our taxpayers," he said. "We hear of vest pocket funds of millions of tax dollars which politicians fail to handle as money in trust, but spend as their own. We must find out how these tax dollars are spent, and see that they are spent properly."

HEAR OF VACCINE TO END FOOT AND MOUTH SCOURGE

Discovery of a vaccine that immunizes cattle three months or more stopped the recent spread of foot and mouth disease in Germany, Dr. Herman Jensen, German government veterinarian, said last night.

He spoke in the Bismarck hotel to seven prominent American veterinarians who met with him and a group of German colleagues who are touring the country.

Discovered at a state experimental laboratory, Dr. Jensen said the new vaccine was used successfully in treating 50,000 head of cattle.

INDIANA YOUTH TELLS ST. LOUIS POLICE 3 MEN KIDNAPED HIM

St. Louis, Mo., July 21.—(AP)—William Crick, 25 years old, a clerk, tonight told police he had been abducted near Patricksburg, Ind., and released in St. Louis.

Crick, officers said, told them he had been hailed by three men in a stalled automobile while driving from his home in Jordan, Ind., to Patricksburg. He stopped and was forced at pistol point to crawl into the luggage compartment of his coupé.

"Thinking it was a holdup," Crick said, "I told them they could have the car, but the man with the gun said, 'Don't ask any questions or talk. I didn't."

"They made one stop on the way, then stopped here. They opened the turtle back and the man with the gun said, 'Get out, buddy; this is as far as you go.' I did."

City police said they had released Crick to federal officers for questioning, as an abduction across state lines is a federal offense.

Stays on Reservation, but Loses Wife Anyway

While her husband stayed out west on the reservation, Mrs. Mary Arden Harris of 1481 Irving Park boulevard was granted a divorce yesterday. The husband was Donald Harris, a Winnebago Indian. She charged cruelty and desertion. Mrs. Harris testified before Judge Harry M. Fisher that he left her last February to return to the Indian reservation at Lusk, Wyo. She was awarded custody of their two children.

SUES TO COMPEL SALES LEVY ON TRADE-IN DEALS

A suit to compel S. L. Nudelman, state director of finance, to collect sales tax on the value of property traded in on purchase of other property was filed in Superior court yesterday by Attorney Michael Phillips.

Phillips, who said he was acting on behalf of Thomas Riley, a relief client, declared more than $1,000,000 already has gone uncollected by the state through failure to collect on deals of this type. The suit is intended to void a ruling of the department exempting trade-in property from sales taxes.

Attorney Phillips said the ruling was illegal since the state law calls for collection of a 3 per cent tax on the gross receipts of sales.

Press Search for Anemic Grocery Store Bandit

Extra police details were ordered last night to search for an anemic, bespectacled bandit who has held up many south side groceries during the last two weeks. He got $90 in two more robberies yesterday—one at 6514 South Western avenue, and another at 8314 South Racine avenue. On Wednesday the same gunman slightly wounded Arthur Nelson, 909 West 76th street, in his store at 1306 West 95th street.

INCOME RETURNS HOLD SECRET OF INDIANA UPSET

Party Bosses Afraid to Dump Van Nuys.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 21.—[Special.]—Republican leaders here are relating, with relish, what purports to be the inside story of the turnabout the Democratic statehouse machine made when it renominated Senator Frederick Van Nuys on July 12. The senator was dumped by Indiana Democratic leaders a year ago as a lukewarm Rooseveltian.

The story can be told in three words—income tax returns.

Minority members of the Democratic controled legislature, now in special session, have tried to bring the story out on the floor of each house without success. They want to invite Senator Van Nuys to appear and repeat his preconvention charges against the Democratic state bosses but have been blocked by the machine.

Various Motives Told.

Until the inside story began to seep out various motives were ascribed to Gov. M. Clifford Townsend's surprise invitation to Van Nuys to submit his name to the Democratic state convention. One theory held that the popularity of Van Nuys' independent candidacy was feared by other Democratic candidates and that they dreaded a split in the party vote in November. Another reason was rooted in the presidential aspirations of former Gov. Paul V. McNutt. McNutt's managers were said to fear reprisals at the 1940 national convention from other independent Democratic senators who stood with Van Nuys against the Supreme court packing plan. Word reached Indiana that a dozen of these independents would work against McNutt in their state delegations two years hence if Van Nuys was slaughtered in the purge of the anti-Roosevelt senators. A third reason given was the unpopularity of the court packing plan.

While the Republicans agree that each of these circumstances may have carried weight, the real reason for the switch, the Republicans now say, is found in Van Nuys' sensational statement made at a press conference last March 24. He then told reporters that he would prove in later statements that a Democratic state administration leader had reported earnings of $140,000 for 1937 to the internal revenue department. He promised that he later would reveal facts and figures.

Interesting to Townsend.

"I will take full responsibility for the publication of this income tax report," the senator told reporters. "As a member of congress I have full authority to examine any income tax report made in Indiana. An employé of the treasury department at Washington provided me with the copy I now hold, but I will not reveal the name of my informant."

"I note," the senator continued, "that Gov. Townsend says he is not interested in anything I may have to say. I believe he will be interested in this income tax form. He will be interested before November.

"I have facts and figures and will talk in dollars and cents. I'm going to tell Gov. Townsend what's going on in Indiana. Let the chips fall where they may."

Names Kept Secret.

After this blast the senator said no more about tax returns. He would not reveal to whom he had referred, nor whether that was the only return he possessed. Three or four leaders were identified in the gossip. Van Nuys refused to discuss the matter further.

On March 22, two days before the income tax statement, the senator said: "I can name one city in Indiana where the mayor, chief of police, prosecutor, sherif, city attorney, criminal attorney, and other officials received free stock in a corporation created at the statehouse to hold a port of entry beer permit. Talk about regimentation and dictatorship! Talk about Tammany! Why, we have a Hitler and a Stalin in the statehouse that constitutes the worst machine in Indiana."

On June 14, however, he issued another statement which proved disquieting to the Democratic machine.

Threatened to Tell Profits.

"In September," he said, speaking of his announced independent campaign for reëlection, "I will tell the people of Indiana how some of their public servants have profited to the tune of thousands of dollars through political manipulation and how the political gangsters have tried to subdue me."

The Republican legislators declare that these two statements and the promise of chapter and verse revelations on the incomes of Indiana political big shots turned the trick. Certain it is that negotiations for a reconciliation between the senator and his political enemies began shortly after the March statement. They speeded up after the June pronouncement. The formal bid from Townsend came on July 4, eight days before the convention.

Now that the senator has been renominated, the Republicans do not have much hope that more hot shots of this nature will be forthcoming. They will use those he made last spring in the fall campaign.

HITLER MESSAGE TO BRITISH OPENS WAY FOR PARLEY

Wants 'Peaceful' Europe, He Tells London.

LONDON, July 21.—(AP)—Assurances from Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler that Germany wants "a peaceful settlement of outstanding questions" reopened the door today for broad Anglo-German talks to sweep away Europe's war fears.

Capt. Wiedemann.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain disclosed in the house of commons that Hitler's adjutant, Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, brought this message to Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax on the eve of the latter's departure for Paris with King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth.

War-Lost Colonies an Issue.

Chamberlain said Wiedemann's mission was not to "discuss any particular aspect of political affairs." But the renewed assurances of Germany's desire "to achieve a peaceful settlement of outstanding questions" was taken to include Czechoslovakia's minority problem.

If that question were settled peacefully, the question of Germany's warlost colonies, for whose return she has been agitating, would remain as one of the chief obstacles to an Anglo-German rapprochement.

Wiedemann's meeting with Halifax was understood to have figured importantly in the foreign secretary's conversations in Paris with Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet.

Chamberlain's statement gave no indication that Anglo-German negotiations, broken off just as they were beginning when Germany annexed Austria on March 12, would be resumed immediately.

Reach Debt Agreement.

Dormant hope here for a far-reaching political appeasement were revived by the Anglo-German debt agreement of July 1. Under it Germany assumed responsibility for debts of annexed Austria owed to Britain in return for a reduction in interest rates on German loans and special trade advantages.

Solution of the minority issue in Czechoslovakia, however, was considered necessary before the opening of formal negotiations for a general Anglo-German settlement.

It was disclosed that Gen. Joseph Vuillemin, the chief of the French air general staf, would visit Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Germany's air chief. The arrival in Paris yesterday of Sir Cyril Newall, chief of the British air general staf, strengthened the belief that there is a movement among European powers for limitation of air armament or "neutralization" of civilian areas from aerial attack.

Reports to Hitler.

MUNICH, Germany, July 21.—(AP)—Capt. Fritz Wiedemann reported today to Adolf Hitler, presumably on his London trip to sound out British officials on Anglo-German talks to ease European tension. Hitler left tonight for the Bayreuth festival.

BRITISH PEERS RAISE U. S. DEBTS QUESTION, AND QUICKLY DROP IT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 21.—The suggestion that a payment on the American war debt—even a token payment—would be a good investment to insure American friendship, and possibly American help, in case of war, was quashed hastily today in the house of lords. Lord Arnold, in the course of debate, announced his personal belief that, "after all these years," Americans did not really care much about the matter.

Viscount Samuel, Liberal leader, had made the suggestion that the government "resume token payments of $10,000,000 each half year as evidence that we admit the debt, and when circumstances are favorable we mean to make a settlement." Samuel said that "it might have a very important effect if troubles should come," and added that "the question of supplies, of finance, or interpretation of neutrality might become of prime importance."

The question finally was allowed to drop when Earl Stanhope gave the familiar excuse that "debts due to us are very considerably greater than the debt we owe the United States."

G. O. P. TO STUDY FEDERAL MEDICAL CARE PROBLEMS

Dr. Glenn Frank, chairman of the Republican program committee, announced yesterday that the committee will consider the proper scope of governmental responsibility for medical care. This problem is to be studied at a round table discussion Aug. 3 in Chicago.

"Every aspect of this vital and highly debatable question will be discussed in an objective manner by competent and experienced authorities," Dr. Frank said. "Health insurance in its various forms, voluntary and compulsory, will be presented by proponents and by vigilant criticts. The end sought is a responsible scrutiny of a problem which is now of high national significance and which contains the possibilities both of great social advances and of great social errors."

Among those taking part in the discussion will be Dr. S. S. Goldwater, commissioner of hospitals of New York City; Dr. Arthur C. Christie of Washington, D. C.; Dr. John F. Peters of Yale university, Dr. H. L. Synder of Winfield, Kas., and Mrs. James E. Hollingsworth of New York City.

URGE PEP RALLIES TO STIMULATE G. O. P. CAMPAIGN

Pep meetings of Republican precinct workers in the various Appellate court districts of the state to stir up interest in the fall election were recommended yesterday by the executive committee of the Illinois Republican County Chairmen's association. The committee met in the La Salle hotel under the chairmanship of Charles A. O'Connor of Aurora, state's attorney of Kane county. The committee also decided to seek signatures to 1,000,000 pledge cards in behalf of the Republican ticket. Half of this number will be Cook county's quota. A. K. Stiles, Sycamore, chairman of the state central committee, attended the meeting.

ROUTED ROBBERS GET $10,000.

Suffield, Conn., July 21.—[Special.]—Three bandits walked into the First National bank here this morning and fled hastily when a girl clerk sounded an alarm. But on the way out they scooped up $10,000.

FRANCE PARADES MILITARY MIGHT FOR BRITISH KING

War Chiefs of 2 Nations Confer Today.

The ten best French chefs combined their skill to assemble the menu. Gourmets burned with shame. The royal program allowed only 45 minutes for the super-meal, and to do it justice, they said, would take at least three hours.

The dinner at the Quai d'Orsay tonight was considerably lighter in deference to the guests' stomachs. Among the guests were such prominent left wing political leaders as Leon Blum, former premier; Louis Frossard, minister of public works, and Jean Zay, minister of national education, who once wrote a poem calling the flag a piece of tri-color trash.

Communists Plug for British.

So far as could be learned no communist personalities were invited to the dinners, but the communist press is plugging strongly for a Franco-British alliance and scraping its knees to the royal visitors—in the admitted hopes that Russia eventually will be invited to the party.

Even the leaders of the French syndicalist movement appear to accept without question the Moscow point of view that the cause of the proletariat would be at stake in a war with Germany and Italy on one side, and France and England on the other. Only the Trotzkyists and anarchists among the left parties reject this view.

It is for this reason that King George VI. appears to have succeeded with a few gracious nods in doing what two Napoleons and the firing squads of the commune failed to do—tame the French proletariat.

Press Goes Lyrical.

The entire press maintained a unanimity and pitch of enthusiasm equaling the best totalitarian records through the British sovereigns' visit, but today's ceremonies produced a real lyric explosion.

"George VI. and Queen Lunched Amid Kings," announced the communist inspired Le Soir in black faced awe.

Another newspaper, the conservative L'Intransigeant, in an eight column double headline which may cause future historians to wonder if they have their dates mixed, announced:

"France Presents Her Army to George VI., King-Emperor."

The parade really was a brilliant military spectacle, dispelling the legend that French soldiers always are as seedy looking in peace as they are effective in war.

As a sequel to the military show British War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha and the chief of the French general staf, Maj. Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, it was announced, will confer tomorrow. They are expected to review the Franco-British military coöperation plan and take further steps to assure effectiveness of the plan reached at London in April.

President to Return Visit.

The two will talk at Amiens prior to ceremonies at Villers-Bretonneux in which King George will bring to a close his four day visit with dedication of Australia's national monument to her world war dead.

During the day it was announced President Albert Lebrun had accepted the invitation of King George to visit England before his term of office expires in May, 1939. The president, accompanied by Mme. Lebrun, probably will go to London sometime during the first three months of 1939.

NEW DEAL MORALITY.

Item: The chairman of the National Labor Relations board has admitted that he conferred in his private office with Kenneth Coe, an organizer in Weirton for the C. I. O. Chairman Madden has been forced to admit, also, that about the same time he conferred under similar circumstances with Lee Pressman, chief counsel for the C. I. O. Chairman Madden made his admissions only after the accusation had been leveled against him at a public hearing over which he presided. He was indignant at the suggestion that he had been guilty of an impropriety, though the C. I. O. was directly involved in the Weirton case, which was and is pending before the labor board. Another C. I. O. man in Weirton, so it was charged, was employed by the board as a process server; the C. I. O. had no difficulty getting its witnesses summoned but the steel company had encountered delays. Coe himself, it was further charged, carried credentials as an investigator written upon labor board stationery.

Item: The New Dealers in control of the investigation into TVA have been forced to admit that Dr. Arthur Morgan is permitted to consult TVA employés only in the presence of representatives of the investigating committee and of the TVA itself. Dr. Morgan's charges of mismanagement, deceit, and misrule in TVA brought on the inquiry. The rule makes it as difficult as possible for Dr. Morgan to document his case. Only those employés who don't care whether they hold their jobs will dare assist him.

For more than five years the press agents of the New Deal have been trying to build the myth that this régime is distinguished for courage, honesty, and fair dealing. Many citizens were taken in by the propaganda. Many are still blind to the reality, but it is difficult to believe that many will continue to be duped after the incidents which have just been listed.

John Lewis, boss of the C. I. O., gave and lent more than half a million dollars of miners' union money to the Roosevelt campaign fund. He got his labor relations act, which created the labor relations board. A. F. of L. men and employers have charged repeatedly that the board shows favoritism to the C. I. O. The board is supposed to be like a court in its impartiality. Now the presiding justice in that court, the chairman of the board, has been obliged to admit that he has held private conferences with the chief counsel for one of the parties before him. Mr. Madden's indignation and the indignation of his associates on the board is in itself striking. It suggests that in their minds there was no impropriety so long as the men Mr. Madden saw in private were on the C. I. O. side.

This New Deal conception of fairness and honesty is disclosed again in the TVA inquiry. Congress created the TVA. The taxpayers are footing the half billion dollar bill. The man whom Mr. Roosevelt himself chose to head the organization, has charged deceit and mismanagement in the TVA's affairs. He says the men now in charge of TVA are betraying congress and the taxpayers. He is a citizen whose integrity has never been questioned, an engineer with a distinguished record of accomplishment, an administrator of long experience.

The investigating committee is top-heavy with New Dealers. Its chief counsel, though his name is Biddle, is certainly no enemy of the New Deal. The committee and its counsel, as representing congress and the people, should be single-minded in the effort to get at the truth. The committee ought, therefore, to place every facility at its command in the service of Dr. Morgan. The employés of TVA are public servants; TVA is itself a public agency and as such can have no secrets.

Instead of making it easy for Dr. Morgan to present his facts and his witnesses, the committee has made his task as difficult as possible. The employés of TVA have been put on notice, though not in so many words, that Dr. Morgan is a pariah. Those who aid him do so at their peril.

Obviously the New Dealers don't want the truth. Obviously they fear it. Obviously they hope to suppress it. Fortunately there are a few members of the opposition on the committee. They may fail to get all the facts into the record but already they have succeeded in establishing the atmosphere in which the hearing is being conducted. The goal is a whitewash.

FUTURE PRIME MINISTERS.

Dr. Alack William Bourne, a distinguished London obstetrician, was acquitted by a jury to which he submitted the issue that he had performed an illegal operation to prevent a young girl from becoming a mother after she had been the victim of soldiers who have been sentenced to penal servitude. The operation was not required to save her life, but it was to save life for her. Many British physicians appeared for the doctor, who had brought himself to trial to get a test of the law involved.

The first physician attending the victim had refused to operate, saying that it "might prevent the birth of a future prime minister." Dr. Bourne was indifferent to that consideration. Mr. Chamberlain's friends may welcome the small compliment. Mr. Chamberlain does not get a great many these days. His opponents probably will dismiss it with "And so what?"

The idea that rulers and heads of government were predestined to serve humanity has received many hard jolts of late. The divine rights of kings went long ago and the theory of beneficent selection is going fast. Without mentioning any names, except to say that one begins with H, one with M, and one with S, it could be noted that if the stork had not been able to find some rulers before it took to flight, the world might have been $10 better off.

Most of the good rulers never were born. Most prime ministers just growed. Even they wouldn't know why. A fairly good one usually reflects that if he weren't there some one else would be.

TRUST BUSTING THE MOVIES.

The government trust busters have reached out for the movie industry. They are seeking popular cases in a campaign year and have concluded that the big Hollywood producers have caused enough dissatisfaction the country over to make a whipping of them good business. The principal objects of attack are the booking arrangements and the control of distribution and exhibiting.

A great many good things can be said about American movies. Their productions are favorites the world over because the Hollywood producers, more than picture makers in any other country, have hit the popular taste and with their apparently unlimited financial resources, their technical ability, and their equally competent theatrical direction they have overcome even the handicap of language in marketing their films everywhere. They have given the people in the United States their favorite amusement the year around, at generally low prices.

The new release in the neighborhoods and in the small cities, towns, and even villages is one of the events of the week. All through the depression millions of American families have been able to keep this amusement within their means and expectations. The production cost is tremendous, often extravagant, sometimes foolish, but the companies have kept going. Then the movies have had to buck, dodge, or placate censorship, both governmental and private, using Will Hays as a moral stand-in man and doing some self-criticism with good results.

Independent producers, distributors, and exhibitors complain that monopolistic practices freeze them out. Exhibitors and patrons both object because poor pictures are forced on them, frequently in double feature programs, which drive the more discriminating customers away. The booking arrangements which make the trouble are used as a sort of production insurance, cushioning the producer against the consequences of a lavish expenditure and a flop.

There is more justified complaint in Chicago than any other region in the country. The smaller cities and towns round about get first run releases which are monopolized in the loop or are kept out for weeks. Neighborhood and suburban exhibitors do not get them for months, if ever. This keeps the price down but it makes the customer mad. His small town friend is half a year ahead of him as a picturegoer. The neighborhood picture patron knows a good film is out. He also knows he'll see it when it is a back number.

Hollywood is probably in for some trouble, and what it will do to the movies no one can know. If it is the usual governmental socking of the most successful, the patrons will be a long time getting any good out of it.

THE CUBS GET A NEW MANAGER.

Mr. Hartnett, the Cubs' great catcher, succeeds Mr. Grimm, formerly the great first baseman, as manager for Mr. Wrigley, whose ambition to give his fellow townsmen a world championship often comes up to the last corner but never rounds it. Mr. Wrigley has spent his money with a free hand and often has exhausted himself emotionally [if the ordinary partisan feels the strain, what must the proprietor feel?], always with a slip-up at the last moment. This thing of looking forward to another year needs heroic stuff.

A shift of managers is supposed to have a tonic effect, even if it seems a bit like shooting an admiral to encourage the others. The club gets a new manager, the players get a new morale. The pitchers give fewer base hits, the batters get more. When Mr. Grimm was new he seemed to have such an effect upon his colaborers. The Cubs will be watched to see if they respond to Mr. Hartnett.

If they don't they may hear from the new manager. They have him on the spot.

OBSTINATE OR OBSOLESCENT?

One is inclined to look upon the street car impasse in Chicago as the result of conflicting interests standing resolutely against every concession. This may be the actual situation. But it is also possible that the failure of a settlement is due to the fact that street railroads and elevated railroads cannot be operated successfully under present conditions. What we look upon as obstinacy may be decrepitude. Should we not face the situation boldly and ask ourselves whether street car lines should not be abandoned and steel wheels on steel tracks given up in favor of rubber tires on concrete roads?

Editorial of the Day

ASTUTE RESEARCHERS—

[Columbus Dispatch.]

We are properly impressed by the interesting news photographs showing Drs. Kleitman and Richardson of the University of Chicago in the nether recesses of Mammoth cave as they complete a month's sojourn within its cavernous depths, all in the interests of that exacting taskmistress, science. The object of their experiment is to determine whether or not man, isolated from the 24 hour day as it is lived on the surface, and from the regularly recurring phenomena of sunrise, sunset, etc., can adjust himself to a 28 hour day schedule.

The results, so far tentative, are not at all conclusive, but these, as such, don't interest us much. What really intrigues us as we sit figuratively chained by duty to our typewriter is the luck of these intrepid investigators in rigging up a job for themselves in a nice, cool cave while we, benighted wretch, wrinkle our perspiring brow in search of ideas in temperatures ranging upwards from 90. Think of it—a job lasting a month or more in surroundings which require sleeping bags, mittens, and earmuffs for complete comfort, while the outside world bakes in July heat.

Well, some folks seem to have all the luck. But even while we envy these synthetic Eskimos in their little, nature-cooled world, we at least share to a tiny extent in their good fortune—they gave us an idea for a piece for the paper. This is it.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

An oil company executive who formerly was a college professor has carried the traditional professorial absent mindedness into his new business. The other day he put on his hat and started out of the office for lunch, then returned to his desk for a minute to write a memorandum, hat still on his head. When he had finished he went to the coat closet, hung up his hat, and went out to lunch.

POEM.

There was a June before we met
And one shall flower when you are dust;
Who wearies first may turn away—
Who suffers, does because she must.

And two men walk within my heart,
And one is false, and one is true . . .
He haunts my midnights . . . one is dead,
And one is you.

Recipes for summer drinks are put out by the W. C. T. U. in a new pamphlet, written breezily and alliteratively. "Sparkled and spiced with ginger ale" and "concoctions carbonated" are examples. Among the recipes for "Non-Tea-Sing Teas" is "Nerve Tea." Recipe for Nerve Tea: 1 cup of clean bran, 1 quart of boiling water, some raisins or cut-up apples. Boil together 15 minutes; strain and serve. . . . Bet you can't wait to try it.

Remember the first big national hook-up Hollywood broadcast? It was in 1929, with Joan Crawford, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Cliff Edwards, Anita Page, Charles King, Jack Benny, and Clark Gable. The biggest sum was paid to Joan Crawford—$300. Small potatoes compared to sums paid stars today. . . . It was Mickey Cagney, assisted by Bill Crouch, who put it on, and Cagney was in town the other day. Just back from Singapore, he has been working on a scheme for processing cocoanut buds into candy bars.

Now and then you have discoursed well and sympathetically on the subject of swing, even going so far as to print a partial vocabulary used by those who follow the down-beat. But the Chicago public library is one up on you. Imagine my complete surprise to find in that staid institution a bulletin board completely covered with pictures of our better known swingsters, plus one of the best and most complete swing vocabularies I have ever seen. Even an institution of learning is interested in swinging it.

Another Hoosier Writes.

After reading what Mr. Everett and Orpah have to say about Indiana, I'm getting lonesome for the old home town myself.

I wonder if it is still the same—the Wabash river on the edge of town, sluggish and muddy, yet beautiful to those of us who have waded in it and caught "minnies"; the violet patch down by the old C. B. & C. railroad, the perfect place for young dreams; the gang on the street corner at night playing "Go, sheepie, go" and "Pussy wants a corner"; the farmers coming into town Saturday night; the big clock on top the courthouse which could be seen and heard, when it struck the hour, for miles around; the annual county basketball tourney, when business practically shut down; the Pennsylvania Dutch influence that forbade school dances; the "ice pond" where we swam in the summer; the street fair with its exhibits of pigs, canning, and sewing, its hot dog stands, side shows, and bingo games, and the Chautauqua programs at which we gorged ourselves with culture for a week. My Indiana!

Took him all afternoon to get his costume ready, he said.

FROM AN "L" WINDOW.

An old lady sprinkling
A green flower box—
Along the roof edge,
Where the "L" train rocks.

Three boxes, a card,
Large numbered to tell
That she was contesting

Who knows, but some flowers
Of old fashioned kind,
And a long ago garden,
Were back in her mind?

Columbine, jonquils,
Gay pansies, and phlox;
Butterflies drifting—
And here, just a box.

Quite dreary this spot
Where the "L" crashes by—
Except for her flowers,
Her faith, and the sky.

New York is preparing a welcome for Corrigan and no doubt once more the city will show its approval of a returning hero by emptying the contents of its waste paper baskets on his defenseless head. Strange custom. Yet gallant make believe. For every scrap of paper is a rose; every length of ticker tape a gay colored serpentine; even the swirls of toilet paper—final accolade of metropolitan approval—carnival ribbons. Children who made mud pies grown up but still going in for make believe. Throwing their city equivalents of flowers and garlands.

WHY NOT EAT LIKE HUMAN BEINGS?

MOST of us have peculiar notions about ourselves—our physical constitutions. We become arbiters of our health destinies, usually without much knowledge. We decide that we will take this medicine or omit that food upon information that may come from sources quite unreliable. We may say, "I do not believe in vaccination" or "I take no stock in vitamins"—matters of real concern to health. But we would not think of disputing so relatively insignificant an item as the total kilowatt hours on the electric light bill. We would consider it the height of effrontery to write to a manufacturer of steel and tell him how to harden his product. But about the well-being of our bodies—yes, that's where we are wise.

The trouble is that we have great difficulty in deciding which pathway to follow. We may give too much weight to the glib but superficial pronouncements of some faddist and too little to the conclusions of the scientific investigator who has spent a lifetime in research on some one particular problem dealing with human welfare.

Those who believe there is evil in all edibles, except vegetables, belong to a sect who oblige the body to reorganize its natural habit of life in order to adopt a bizarre regimen. The fact is that the digestive apparatus—including the stomach and the alimentary tube—is not designed to accommodate enough vegetable matter to nourish the human structure fully.

I have heard nonmeat eaters expatiate at length on the immorality of consuming fish, flesh, or fowl. They go so far as to allege that it is a degrading, bestializing custom—one that petrifies the intellect and brutalizes the soul. But the great moralists of the Old and New Testaments ate flesh foods. If so-called vegetarians held strictly to the correct meaning of the word they would not drink milk or use cheese, butter, or eggs—as these are animal products.

Then there are those who will eat nothing but raw materials, believing that cooking is a heathen practice. One of the most stubborn cases of anemia that I recall occurred in a high school teacher who fell a victim to a "no-cook" diet. While her menu was good as to quality and variety the combined power of several animals could not have dissolved it. She was able to assimilate such a small portion that starvation resulted literally—accompanied by great impoverishment of the blood.

Another fallacy is that the protein of beans, peas, etc., supplies wholly our nitrogen demands. Very few vegetables contain all the important amino acids which are the elements used to rebuild muscle. We must make replacements daily. Meat offers not only the simplest method but the most palatable.

Contrary to many arguments, the quota of roast beef—or its equivalent—necessary for the average adult in each twenty-four hours need be no greater than six or eight ounces. Ten will do no harm, but the minimum quantity of nitrogen which every one must renew daily from new food cannot be obtained so easily and with so much satisfaction as through meat.

Because of the excessive proportion of cholesterol—the substance which forms the foundation of gallstones—in butter and egg yolk, it is never wise to consume too much of either. At least one egg or its equivalent and anywhere from a half ounce to an ounce of butter should be used daily. To depend upon eggs alone for one's nitrogen [unless the yolks are separated] is likely to overload the system with this undesirable chemical.

We must realize that our digestive apparatus is built on a different plan from that of most animals—cattle, for example—and we are obliged to use far more concentrated foods. We must view our requirements, therefore, from the point of view of the job to be done and the machinery at hand.

ABOUT FALLING HAIR.

M. M. writes:

1. About how many hairs does the average scalp lose each day?
2. What time of year do we shed the most hair?
3. Does perspiration have any effect on the loss of hair?
4. Does an oily scalp replace hair better than a dry one?

REPLY.

The normal scalp [adult] contains about one thousand hairs to the square inch, or 120,000 for the entire region. Those who are blond, with straw-colored tresses, may have as many as 140,000; heads that are black and brown, about 108,000, and red hair the least abundant—approximately 90,000. Hairs become old and, in a sound scalp, when they fall are replaced by new growth. Fevers and infections usually are followed by shedding, but not at the time of the acute illness. In fact, the hair may remain attached for as long as ninety days. If one encounters a combful, one must look back two or three months to some ailment or drop in resistance.

Now for your questions:

1. The number of hairs shed daily varies because of general health, scalp disease, or some constitutional or hereditary disturbance. Regardless of the rate of fall, if the follicle remains, healthy new shoots will appear.
2. There is no seasonal loss, as in certain animals, birds, etc.
3. Only in so far as it may influence a disease of the scalp.
4. As a rule, yes, since it indicates a more normal state.

CAUSE OF SILICOSIS.

E. R. M. writes: What is silicosis? What are the symptoms? At what stage of the disease will the X-ray show it. How long can a persen live?

REPLY.

Silicosis is a form of lung dust disease [pneumonoconiosis], due to the prolonged inhalation of silica. Symptoms seldom appear under 12 years' exposure, and include cough and other accompaniments of chronic bronchitis, and a general failing in health. In the early X-rays it is difficult to distinguish it from tuberculosis. Most industries protect their employés against serious dust hazards. If this is not possible, a change of employment is advised. Treatment is that of chronic bronchitis and overstretched air sacs. All slight colds must be handled as serious.

POSSIBLE, BUT UNUSUAL.

Mrs. C. E. writes: Is it possible for a woman of 51 or 52 years to become pregnant? If so, is it common?

REPLY.

Every normal woman who has not completed the menopause may conceive.

Such incidents, however, are unusual. The Aschheim-Zondek test for pregnancy is of value.

HAS A TRANSPORTATION PLAN.

Chicago, July 20.—Chicago has been talking subways for years and recently elevated highways. Here is one for the books:

1. Have the railroads that furnish old fashioned suburban trains electrify and modernize as the Illinois Central did, and furnish the communities they serve with fast, dependable, modern transportation.
2. Instead of having the suburban trains pull into their present stations a mile or so from where the people must get to, have the railroads join together in building a subway around the loop [similar to the present elevated loop], to be used by all coöperating roads. A transfer system could also be developed.
3. Use the present elevated structures as the bases for elevated highways to the south, west and even north.

In many places the railroads parallel the elevated lines such as the Northwestern and the Lake street elevated, the Great Western and the metropolitan L. If these railroads would give the people service comparable to the service of the Illinois Central, the elevated system would never be missed.

This three-fold plan would be the biggest thing Chicago could possibly do to solve its transportation problems.

A. M. SEAVEY.

WHAT THE "COUNTERS" ARE DOING.

Chicago, July 19.—A letter in your paper criticizes the "car counters" on Kimball and California avenues.

It might interest this critic to know that this WPA project, sponsored by Chicago's bureau of streets, is to determine possible traffic hazards for both motorist and pedestrian with the useful purpose of reducing accidents. A check of traffic flow in the city's busiest thoroughfares will enable engineers to determine where stop signs and other improvements are needed.

There are four counters stationed at each intersection, one man [not eight] on each corner. They are on outdoor duty for six hours regardless of weather conditions.

This work began early in March and, in spite of unfavorable weather, these men, many of whom have university educations, have conscientiously filled the requirements of their jobs.

"A CHECKER."

LAZY? NOT ALL OF THEM.

Chicago, July 20.—Considerable criticism has been hurled at relief and WPA people about their laziness. My husband is on WPA for the second time, not by choice, but by necessity. Some are lazy, but please don't place all of us in that category. These men are assigned common laborer's work, with no more ability or endurance to it than an elephant to soft shoe dancing. Many are of high intelligence—chemists, machinists, medical students, etc. These men have not willingly accepted relief or WPA, but the old adage applies: Self-preservation.

LAG.

SPORTSMANSHIP.

Chicago, July 18.—Any one who saw the boxing matches last Thursday—Ireland vs. C. Y. O.—will justifiably ask what sportsmanship? It was the finest example of cheating I have ever witnessed. It was easily Ireland's victory by 6 to 4, but the judges could not see it that way. No, it would not be fair to let the invading foreigners carry away the championship. Matt Lacey of Ireland punched Clarence Brown of Chicago all over the ring for two solid rounds, but because he was one of the invaders rather than an American the judges awarded the fight to the Chicago boy.

SANITY THREATENED.

Chicago, July 19.—This present agitation over the street car franchise makes no difference to this vicinity. All we really ask and pray for is that the noise be cut out. Though thousands of trucks cross Western and Roosevelt, one street car drowns out everything. There is a constant racket sounding in numbers: 1-2-3-4-5 "hesitate" 6-7. I wonder what really keeps us from going daffy.

Last Friday while I was occupying a chair in a doctor's office, the city's garbage wagon and trailers crossed this intersection and the rattle between the street cars and garbage wagon made one hold on to the arm of the chair to keep from jumping out the window.

Grant us, O Lord, some recognition from some authority to stop this noise and help us to retain our sanity.

ABOUT "THE FIGHTING POLE."

Chicago, July 17.—I attended the C. Y. O. fights and saw Chester Rutecki, "The Fighting Pole" [one of your Golden Glove boys], knock out his opponent in 1 minute and 58 seconds to even the series to 4 and 4 and encourage his team to victory.

The following morning I went out to the news stand and bought THE TRIBUNE, expecting to see a big writeup and pictures of this fight and, much to my surprise, there were only three or four lines describing it; no pictures.

Where were all your sport writers and photographers during this fight?

NO SLEEP AT ALL.

Chicago, July 17.—If the people in the vicinity of the Gresham railway station lose only one and a half hours of sleep they are fortunate. We along the Northwestern road between Fullerton and Western avenues are lucky to get any sleep at all. The banging and crashing of empty gondola cars sounds like an explosion at the American Can company. The old chugging, steaming, puffing engines skidding on the rails with brakes screeching could be replaced with oil burning engines and much of this noise would be elliminated. A SUBSCRIBER.

FINDS BRIDGE A BLESSING.

Chicago, July 20.—I don't expect to see my letter in print, but I would like to tell [not a crank] what our 47th street bridge means to us, who before had no access to a beach or the outer drive without going a mile out of the way. To men, like my husband, who work nights it is a godsend—saving around 12 minutes going and coming from work.

And we, who had no way to get to the beach before are now able to take our children and enjoy the sunshine and water as those more fortunate were able to do.

MRS. S. M. MARTIN.

HOLDING UP JOBS.

Chicago, July 19.—It is funny that Mayor Kelly and his fellow politicians in the city hall don't do all in their power to help the President beat the present recession. With so much unemployment in our midst I should think our mayor would try to help the man to whom he has to run so often for financial assistance. According to the papers the examinations for patrolmen were started almost two years ago and the final results have not been posted yet. It would make some employment.

You certainly struck the nail on the head in this article when you mentioned the middle west as the forgotten section of the United States.

Our organization functions the same as the chamber of commerce and this is to advise you that we will be happy to coöperate in every way in forming a middle west association, and if there is anything that we can do in the meantime, kindly advise.

Wishing you all the luck in the world in sponsoring this association.

CORRIGAN: IRISH OR AMERICAN?

Chicago, July 19.—By birth Lindbergh and Corrigan are United States citizens as were Amelia Earhart and Wiley Post. Lindbergh, Earhart, and Post have been hailed as great Americans. THE TRIBUNE, through its writers and Cartoonist McCutcheon, hails Corrigan as an Irishman. When did he lose his citizenship? Do you think he would prefer to be called an Irishman rather than an American?

DEED TO PROPERTY.

Galesburg, Ill., July 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can either real estate or personal property be left to an heir or heirs as one chooses by a deed of trust?

2. I understand there is no government tax, and [3] that it does not have to go through court.

4. Is it legally the same in all states?

5. Can one fix the deed up himself or does it need to be done by an attorney or banker?

6. If it is not recorded before death, how soon is it necessary to have it recorded after?

7. Can stock certificates be transferred in this manner?

8. Can insurance be left in this way [9] if it is left to one's estate?

10. If a stock certificate has both husband's and wife's name on it, in case of death of either, does it automatically belong to the other one? J. R. S.

1. Yes.
2. If your death occurred within two years after making such arrangement it would be presumed to be in contemplation of death and therefore taxable, otherwise not.
3. If you placed the title out of your hands during your lifetime, in general there would be no necessity for probate proceedings when you die.
4. Practically, yes, as far as the foregoing facts are concerned.
5. We advise the employment of an attorney.
6. A deed is not valid unless legally delivered during the grantor's lifetime. Delay in recording invites litigation on this point.
7. Yes.
8. Yes.
9. We do not understand your meaning at this point. Leaving it to your estate would seem to contradict the trust arrangement created during your lifetime.
10. It might have both names without being joint. We suggest that you take the matter up with the transfer offices of the corporation in question.

JUST A NORDIC

[London Daily Herald.]

Mr. Chamberlain: "Why do you let them bomb civilians?"
Franco: "O, he is just police bombing, as you do on the northwest frontier."
Mr. Chamberlain: "But he doesn't look very English to me."
Franco: "Well, he is not Spanish either."

PAPOOSE PLANE HOPS TO N. YORK IN 22½ HOURS

Stops at Montreal for Gasoline Supply.

lar schedule within the next year or two.

Aircraft that rise from the water can carry much more weight—or gasoline—once they get aloft than they can lift from the surface. Suction exerted on hulls or pontoons is the reason. That is why the Mercury is carried aloft and launched.

Powered By Four Engines.

The Mercury is a high-wing monoplane on pontoons. It is powered by four 340 horse power engines. Its wing is 73 feet long and its over-all length is 51 feet. As a normal plane, its gross weight is 14,000 pounds, but with an assisted takeoff by the mother ship its weight is stepped up to 20,500 pounds.

Indicative of engineering trends are projected flights across the Atlantic of a large British land plane in September. The Mercury will be followed by a landplane. That, in turn, will be followed by a conventional British flying boat.

France has projected a series of survey hops over the Atlantic from Foynes, Ireland, to New York, using the flying boat, Lieut. de Vaisseau Paris, currently the largest airplane in the world actually in service. The first of the French flights is set for mid-August.

WESTWARD TRIP HARD

Until the ocean air transport lines of the United States and England began flying the Atlantic in 1937, there had been relatively few successful flights made from east to west across the stretch between Ireland and Newfoundland negotiated yesterday by Imperial Airways' Mercury.

Prevailing winds from the west and northwest with average velocity of 30 miles an hour aided the numerous flyers who made crossings from west to east. These same winds formed a barrier that brought tragic endings for a number of gallant crews who attempted to fly from Europe to America.

One of the first of these was that of the two world war aces, Nungesser and Coli, from France. Their ship was lost at sea and no trace of them ever has been found. They set out in May, 1927.

Four More Lose Lives.

In August, 1927, Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim and Col. F. A. Minchin flew westward from Uphavon, England, and never were seen again. The following March Capt. Walter Hinchcliffe and Elsie Mackay took off from Cranwell, England, and also were lost.

First to conquer the hazardous expanse of sea were Col. James Fitzmaurice, Capt. Herman Koehl, and the late Baron Guenther von Huenefeld. They flew from Ireland to a barren island off the coast of Labrador in March, 1928. Their Junkers plane was wrecked in landing.

In June, 1930, the late Maj. Charles Kingsford-Smith and three companions flew from Ireland to Harbor Grace, N. F., and thence to New York. On Aug. 18, 1932, James A. Mollison made a solo flight from Portmarnock, Ireland, to Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick.

First to Reach New York.

In September, 1933, Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte completed the first Paris-New York flight, remaining in the air 37 hours 19 minute to do it. In July, 1933, Mollison and his wife, Amy Johnson Mollison, crashed at Stratford, Conn., after a 3,190 mile nonstop flight from Pendine, Wales.

In 1934 Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos repeated Coste and Bellonte's flight. The year 1935 found no flights being made. In 1936 Henry T. Merrill and Harry Richman made a round trip flight from New York to London and return, putting their plane down in Newfoundland.

In 1937 the real business of conquering the Atlantic got under way. Merrill and Jack Lambie, his co-pilot on Eastern Airlines routes, made a successful round trip from New York to London and return for the coronation.

Ex-Convict Held to Jury in Death of WPA Worker

Adolph Walters, a WPA worker and ex-convict, was held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Martin Cubit, 31 years old, of 1251 Adams street, also a WPA worker. Cubit died of injuries after a fight outside a tavern at 1163 Madison street. Walters, who lives at 5229 South Paulina street, testified he was drunk at the time of the fight on July 2 and remembers nothing about it.

GETS YEAR FOR ARSON.

Edward Ronjak, 21 years old, was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell yesterday by Judge Rudolph Desort on charges of malicious mischief and arson. He admitted setting several small fires near his home at 6754 South Honoré street.

ICKES SAYS AIRSHIP EXPERT CHANGES HIS VIEW ABOUT HELIUM

Washington, D. C., July 21.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes said today that Commander Charles E. Rosendahl had changed his mind about the military importance of helium after being "wined and dined" in Germany.

Rosendahl, in charge of the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., said on his return to the United States that helium had no military value. He had been Fredrickshafen's guest of honor at the 100th anniversary of the birth of Count Zeppelin, designer of lighter-than-air craft.

In his book, "What About the Airship?" Ickes told reporters, Rosendahl recounted the experience of dirigibles in the world war and added "small wonder then, at the high regard in which helium is held as a valuable military asset."

Ickes, who as secretary of the interior has control over the nation's helium supply, has refused consistently to sell the noninflammable gas abroad until he has what he calls "satisfactory guarantees" that it will not be used for military purposes.

Mackay Aviation Trophy Won by Army Flyers

Washington, D. C., July 21.—(AP)—The war department awarded the Mackay trophy today to two army air corps officers, Capts. Carl J. Crane and George C. Holloman, for developing an automatic landing system for planes. They made the first automatic landing in aviation history at Wright field, Dayton, O.

Walks Away from Jail to See Mother; Returns

Joseph Miller returned to the Bridewell yesterday. On July 11 Miller, a trusty, walked off the grounds. Police sought him in vain. Yesterday he strolled into the jail office, explained that he had left to see his mother, and asked to be locked up again. He has one more month to serve of a year for tampering with an automobile.

HUGHES PRAISED; CORRIGAN GIVEN FROWN BY JONES

RFC Chairman Admires Both Fellow Texans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 21.—[Special.]—Douglas Corrigan's solo flight across the Atlantic in a nine year old plane was criticized publicly today by Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The criticism was expressed before the National Press club, where Jones introduced Howard Hughes, the young millionaire who recently flew around the top of the world with a crew of four technicians in an elaborately equipped plane.

Praises Hughes' Thoroughness.

"Howard Hughes is to be especially commended," said Jones, "for the thorough manner in which he went about his undertaking. It was not a stunt that he was interested in, with all due respect and great admiration for Douglas Corrigan, another Texas boy, but the accomplishment of a worthwhile purpose.

"In the light of subsequent events it is worthy of note that Hughes and his men never once lost their way, nor did they fly east when they intended to fly west—but maybe there is not an Irishman among them."

The RFC chairman referred to Corrigan's amusing explanation that he left New York with the intention of flying to California and landed in Ireland by mistake.

Thanks for Assistance.

In a modest reply before a battery of newsreel cameras Hughes thanked American government officials and those of other nations, especially the French and Russians, who aided him materially. He said that without this assistance the record flight could not have been made or even attempted.

Everywhere Hughes went today he was cheered by thousands. Several thousand greeted him and his crew when they arrived at Washington airport after a leisurely flight from New York City. At the state department he was welcomed by Secretary Cordell Hull.

Two Navy Flyers Killed Near Redwood City, Cal.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—(AP)—The navy was notified today that Lieut. James Albert Murphy and Orville Melvin Stewart, aviation chief machinist mate, were killed in a plane crash near Redwood City, Cal. Naval records show Murphy was born at Chilton, Tex., April 3, 1907. His home address was Marlin, Tex. Stewart was born June 4, 1902, at Columbus, O., and he first enlisted May 27, 1921. His home was in San Diego, Cal. Both were married.

MAILMAN TRICKY BUT DEPUTY HAS CARD OR 2, TOO

Walter Stanis is a mailman. He knows a lot of tricks. When Deputy Sherif Carl J. Tufo appeared Wednesday at the Pilsen sub postal station to arrest him for being $67 in arrears in alimony to his wife, Lottie, Stanis asked the deputy to wait a bit.

Mr. Stanis then took it on high out the back door. His fellow mailmen thought it was a pretty good joke.

But none reckoned with the perseverance of Deputy Tufo. At 5 a. m. yesterday the deputy, with a police squad, appeared at Stanis' home, 2441 West 34th place. They took him later before Judge Harry M. Fisher where he faced his wife and her attorney, Norman Becker.

He raised $50 from friends and was released on his promise to pay the rest to his wife and their three children, pending Mrs. Stanis' plea for a divorce. She lives at 2933 Farrell avenue.

CORRIGAN SHIPS PLANE HOME; TO VISIT IN LONDON

"Mistake Flyer" Lauds Hop of Pick-a-Back.

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 21.—(AP)—Douglas G. Corrigan, the California mechanic with a peculiar sense of direction, bundled his trans-Atlantic plane today onto the United States maritime commission steamship Lehigh for its homecoming.

Anxiously the flyer, who is 31 years old, supervised what dismantling was necessary to secure the plane on the Lehigh, warning workmen repeatedly to be careful.

One of Corrigan's new Irish friends, President Douglas Hyde, went with him to Baldonnel to see the plane prepared for the voyage. The trip to the airfield followed Corrigan's second visit to the physician-president, who is 78 years old.

The flyer's perpetual smile left his bronzed face for an instant when the plane was being loaded on the Lehigh. One wing slipped from the crane and crashed to the quay, but packing cases broke its fall and it was undamaged.

To Leave July 30.

Corrigan landed in Dublin Monday with a grin and the explanation that "compass trouble" had brought him and his $900 craft from New York to Ireland instead of California.

The flyer today booked passage for himself on the United States liner Manhattan, leaving Cobh for the United States July 30. It was announced he would make a visit of two days in London before his departure.

Commenting on today's highly scientific Atlantic crossing of the British pick-a-back plane Mercury, Corrigan said: "I sure wish I could have been on her. At least they knew where they were going. Perhaps it's better that way."

Buys a Shillalah.

Part of the day he spent shopping. He bought a shillalah — the Irishman's wooden cudgel—for his uncle, the Rev. Fraser Langford, pastor of the First Baptist church of Santa Monica, Cal. For other relatives he bought postcards.

Corrigan was still busy answering congratulatory cablegrams, but was letting offers of movie, night club, and vaudeville contracts go unanswered.

"I am still holding off on offers of contracts from Hollywood until I get home, but it's nix on night club appearances. I'm no crooner," he said.

Woman Killed by Train on Way to Meet Mate

Mrs. Zana Guldon, 44 years old, of Lisle, was killed early yesterday when she was struck by a Burlington railroad passenger train at the Lisle depot. She was walking across the tracks to meet her husband, Fred Guldon, a telegraph operator for the railroad, who was a passenger.

Corrigans Meet

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan with Annellen Corrigan, age 3½, at luncheon of Chicago Corrigans in Hotel Sherman yesterday.

One hundred strong, the Corrigans of Chicago assembled yesterday in their first meeting at the Hotel Sherman to honor Douglas G. [Is this California?] Corrigan. There were Corrigans of every age, babies and graybeards, and they all sat down before the world's largest dish of corned beef hash, sixty pounds of hash, to toast his health.

Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan, as president of the Honorable Society of Corrigans, sent a radiogram to President Roosevelt. He urged the President to ask congress to strike a medal honoring the aviator for his flight to Ireland.

Oldest of the clan was Thomas E. Corrigan, 76, of 8019 South Laflin street. And the youngest was Annellen, 3½, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Corrigan of 6038 South La Salle street.

A speaker's stand will be erected at 3820 St. Lawrence avenue near the site of the south side project. Then several persons, including Mayor Kelly, will speak at noon, on a nation-wide broadcast.

Three More Attorneys in Chicago to Aid Milk Quiz

Three attorneys arrived here from Washington, D. C., yesterday to aid Leo F. Tierney, special assistant attorney general now conducting a grand jury investigation into an alleged milk monopoly in the Chicago area. They are Christopher Del Sesto, David Fields, and Thomas Daily. Tierney's staf, now numbering twenty-four, includes seven attorneys, accountants, and investigators.

4 ROBBERS, LED BY BOY, 14, GET A YEAR TO LIFE

Seized with Gun; Admit Nearly 80 Holdups.

Four young robbers, who committed nearly 80 holdups under the leadership of a boy 14 years old, were sentenced yesterday to serve one year to life in the Joliet penitentiary.

The leader is Gregory Kevorkian, 652 Noble street, an insolent youngster who grinned defiantly as Judge Joseph Sabath pronounced sentence in Criminal court. His accomplices, known as neighborhood "tough guys," are Richard Moore, 17; his brother, Earl, 16, of 404 South Homan avenue, and James McNabb, 17, of 339 South Trumbull avenue.

Seized with a Pistol.

The four were seized June 26 at Homan avenue and Congress streets while riding in an automobile after midnight. When police searched the car they found a revolver and a cigar box filled with pennies. At the Fillmore street station, the boy robbers soon began to boast of their crimes. They were viewed by holdup victims and identified. They admitted most of the crimes laid at their door.

As police described their methods, Kevorkian, wearing knee pants, would enter the store of a prospective victim first. If it were crowded, they went on to another. If there were no customers, Kevorkian would call out, "C'mon, guys. This joint's a pushover."

Among the victims were Richard Bennett, a grocer at 2109 South Pulaski road, whom they robbed of $28 on June 1; Joseph Shapiro, owner of a delicatessen at 3827 Fullerton avenue, robbed of $138 on June 15, and Walter Fenton, 5909 West Lake street, a grocer, robbed of $14 on June 18.

Wanted Spending Money.

The gang had been operating since last February, according to Assistant State's Attorney Irwin Clorfene. "We pulled the jobs so's we could have a lot of money to spend," Kevorkian told Clorfene.

In imposing sentence Judge Sabath said: "I hate to send these young boys to the penitentiary, but I have no other choice. They're too tough to send to the county jail to serve lighter sentences. Kevorkian, especially, would probably contaminate the others."

Before the bailiffs led them to jail, Kevorkian was asked whether he wanted to say goodby to his mother. He only sneered and said: "Naw, I don't wanna see her. What for?"

New Gnu at Brookfield Zoo Has a White Goatee

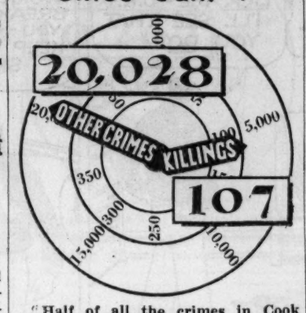
THE CRIME CLOCK
Chicago's Record Since Jan. 1



"Half of all the crimes in Cook county are committed by repeaters."—The Chicago Crime commission.

MOTION DENIED TO ACQUIT 4 IN POLICE SCANDAL

CRIMINAL COURT.

Emmett E. Park, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Albert Davey, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Joseph Janka, burglary, sentenced to 1 year in the county jail; Harry Toyser, burglary, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

Judge Rudolph Desort in Criminal court yesterday denied a motion for a directed verdict in favor of four persons accused of a conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with the Town Hall police scandal.

The defendants are William Nichols, a gambler; James Burke, Nichols' chauffeur; George Gardner, a lodging house owner, and Gardner's wife, Edna. Burke is alleged to have fled to escape testifying against Detectives Frank McKune and Earl Flannery. The others are accused of seeing that Burke got out of the city. The defense will begin testimony today.

AUG. 1 TO 15 SET ASIDE FOR DEATH DRIVE ON WEEDS

Peril Health and Safety, Says Governor.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Gov. Horner, in a proclamation yesterday at Springfield, set aside Aug. 1 to 15 as "weed destruction days." He asked all Illinoisans to coöperate in the drive.

Weeds, said the governor, are a menace to public health and public safety. He emphasized that their presence in fertile soil creates a tremendous loss through the depreciation of land values and the reduction of crop yields. An expert at the University of Illinois recently estimated that weeds cause an annual loss of $225 to $250 on the average farm in Illinois.

Had Laws for 66 Years.

"For the last 66 years the statute books have contained drastic laws designed to curb the growth of noxious weeds," said Gov. Horner's proclamation. "Weeds, however, neither recognize nor obey man-made laws. While these laws have existed, weeds have increased and multiplied until today they defile thousands of acres of good Illinois soil. Their unsightliness is a blemish on our landscape.

"By destroying, insofar as possible, the troublesome ragweed, horseweed, poison sumac, wild parsnip, white snakeroot, pokeberry, and burdock on public and private lands, our citizens rid the air of thousands of pounds of noxious pollen, prime annoyance of hay fever sufferers, and prevent the maturity of millions of weed seeds."

The governor called attention to the second state-wide weed control campaign now being conducted by the weed control advisory committee, headed by J. H. Lloyd, director of the state department of agriculture.

Seeks Aid of Public.

Horner's proclamation was issued to make the public aware of the importance of the weed destruction campaign. It is being carried on by the state committee working in coöperation with the University of Illinois, Illinois Agricultural association, grange extension service, including county agents, natural history survey, highway and health departments, railroads, garden clubs, health officers of cities and towns, and more than 500 township weed commissioners.

Gov. Horner declared that only an aroused public opinion, stimulated by a concerted campaign, can accomplish the eradication of weeds. An example of the results which can be achieved was demonstrated last year by the accomplishments of the state weed control advisory committee. This committee, under the guidance of the department of agriculture and the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, caused the destruction of many noxious weeds, he said.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

2 CHICAGOANS FACE ARREST IN A HOUSING DEAL

Frank Sampson and Benjamin J. Blackstone of Chicago were named yesterday in warants issued at Detroit, Mich., charging larceny by conversion and misappropriation of building contract funds in connection with Universal Houses, Inc., a bankrupt concern. Eight complainants say they lost $4,000.

Sampson, a subdivider and builder, said the company leased and equipped two Detroit factories to build prefabricated metal and concrete homes. After starting eight buildings, he said, the company found itself without sufficient funds to continue.

Sampson, who has offices at 139 North Clark street, said he lost $40,000 and did not draw any money from the company. Blackstone, he said, was the inventor and did not invest in the concern.

BODY TAKEN FROM RIVER.

CHAS. P. HOWARD, HEAD OF UNION PRINTERS, DIES

His Heart Fails When in Colorado Springs.

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 21.—(AP)—Charles P. Howard, president of the International Typographical union, died of heart disease tonight in a Colorado Springs hotel. He was 58 years old.

Charles P. Howard.

Howard had been subject to heart attacks for the last five years. He came into the hotel this evening, went to his room and lay down on his bed.

His wife, Mrs. Margaret Howard, went to the room a short time later and found his body. She said he apparently died when asleep.

Held Post for Twelve Years.

Howard, president of the International Typographical union since 1926, was defeated for reëlection in a referendum last May by Claude M. Baker of San Francisco.

Howard was secretary of John L. Lewis' C. I. O. Baker was an American Federation of Labor supporter in the referendum campaign. Baker was to succeed Howard Sept. 1.

Howard came to Colorado Springs Sunday to attend a meeting of the trustees of the union's printers' home. He had attended a session of the board of trustees just before going to his hotel room.

James McCoy, printers' home superintendent, said the high altitude apparently had aggravated Howard's heart condition.

Howard was born in Chrisman, Ill. He learned the printing trade working in small town shops and newspapers, and joined the union in Tacoma, Wash.

During the world war he served in the United States labor department. From 1922 to 1924 he was vice president of the I. T. U. In 1925 he went to work for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Card in Tribune Files.

While still a TRIBUNE employé he was elected president of the I. T. U. in 1926, and was reëlected for five consecutive terms. Howard still was a member of the Chicago Typographical union. His union card remains in THE TRIBUNE chapel files.

Howard was known nationally as a great parliamentarian, a forceful labor leader, and an outstanding orator.

He also was a noted scale negotiator for printing craftsmen. During his regime as president the five day, forty hour week was installed.

B. H. KROGER, 78, GROCERY CHAIN FOUNDER, DEAD

Cincinnati, O., July 21.—(AP)—B. H. Kroger, 78 years old, who founded the chain grocery system that bears his name, died today of heart disease at his summer home at Wianno, Mass., on Cape Cod. Kroger salvaged the beginning of his great chain organization from the Ohio river flood of 1884, which all but destroyed his own store.

In 1902, with thirty stores, he incorporated the company, which now operates 4,844 stores in 1,000 communities in the middle west, thirteen bakeries, three packing plants, two beverage plants, and a candy factory. His stores and plants employ 19,000 persons.

Kroger's health failed and he retired from business six years ago to devote his time to philanthropic interests. He is survived by his widow.

STOLEN LIQUOR VENDOR AND 3 PALS SENTENCED

On July 5 prowlers broke into Gus Boila's tavern at 752 West North avenue and stole several cases of liquor. The next day a man identified as William Manski offered to sell Boila some of the stolen liquor. Hudson avenue police were notified. Yesterday Manski and three other men were sent to the Bridewell for the theft.

Clarence Barschmidt, on whose houseboat on the north branch of the river at Weed street most of the liquor was recovered, was sentenced to 60 days. Manski, who lives at 1631 North Halsted street, Joseph Riley, 1545 Clybourn avenue, and Frank Mueller, 909 Willow street, were sentenced to 20 days each.

Spectator's Death at Ball Game Called Accidental

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday at the inquest over Henry Hine, 70 years old, a retired farmer, who was knocked down Sunday while watching a ball game at a playground near his home, 5004 North Kenneth avenue. One of the players ran against the elderly man during the game, witnesses said. The identity of the player was not learned. Hine died Tuesday.

HUNT HOUR FOR 'KIDNAPED' GIRL; FIND HER HOME

For nearly an hour yesterday police squads and neighbors searched the weedy prairies in the vicinity of 52d street and Laramie avenue. It was reported that a man had kidnaped Valerie Vilimek, 3 years old, while she played in front of her home at 5216 South Laramie avenue.

Screw Pine Tree, in Park 31 Years, Bears First Fruit

A screw pine tree received at the Garfield park conservatory thirty-one years ago is bearing fruit for the first time. The fruit is the shape of a pineapple and the size of a man's head. Ordinarily the layman does not look in a screw pine's branches for fruit, Assistant Horticulturist Frank Balthis said, because he is so busy looking at its roots, which grow mostly above ground. It is a tropical tree from the Island of Madagascar and, roots and all, has a height of twenty feet.

Body of Insull Will Be Taken to London Today

The body of Samuel Insull Sr., former Chicago utilities magnate, will be taken from Paris to London today for burial in Putney Vale cemetery either today or tomorrow. Mrs. Insull also has left Paris for London, according to word received yesterday by her son, Samuel Insull Jr. The elder Insull died in Paris last Saturday from a heart attack. Burial in London, his birthplace, will be beside his mother and father.

RADICALS HURT COLUMBIA, SAYS HEAD OF LEGION

New York, July 21.—[Special.]—"The name of Columbia university is besmirched when un-American doctrins emanate from those who identify themselves with this institution," Daniel J. Doherty, national commander of the American Legion, said tonight.

Doherty spoke at a joint conference of educators and other community workers under the auspices of teachers' college of Columbia. If it is true that such remarks do not represent the opinions of the great majority in attendance, he asked, "why not rid this institution of such baleful influences?"

Doherty disclaimed any intention of replying otherwise than by indirection to attacks on the Legion. His address gained added attention because of the recent issuance of an article by Prof. William Gellerman of Northwestern university which charged that the Legion was a potentially anti-democratic force.

Doherty attributed attacks on the Legion to realization that it is a bar against the forces that would destroy Americanism.

DROWNS IN LAKE NEAR WAUKEGAN; WOMAN RESCUED

High waves and a strong undertow caused the death in Lake Michigan last night of Ivan [Dutch] Murray of 146 West Wisconsin avenue, Waukegan, and almost claimed the life of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Murray of Mercer, Wis. The two were swimming after a beach party. Murray's wife, Gavena, watched helplessly from the shore while he drowned.

Murray and his sister-in-law had been swimming off a private beach near Waukegan owned by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. Mrs. Dorothy Murray was rescued by Frank Morocco, an employé of the utility company. Murray's body was not recovered.

FIND 896 OF 47,781 WITH SYPHILIS IN MARRIAGE TESTS

Springfield, Ill., July 21.—(AP)—The state health department reported today on blood specimens submitted to state diagnostic laboratories during the first full years' operation of the Saltiel hygienic marriage act and said:

"Evidence of syphilis was found in 896 out of the 47,781 persons who wished to apply for marriage licenses. Probably a majority of these were previously unaware of the infection, else they would not have risked the examination."

The percentage of infection was 1.9, in line with official estimates that 2 per cent of the population has syphilis.

Indorse O'Connor, Foe of Roosevelt, for Congress

New York, July 21.—(AP)—Tammany Hall tonight indorsed Representative John J. O'Connor, chairman of the house rules committee, for renomination despite widely credited speculations among politicians that the administration would not be happy at his return to Washington. QUEEN MARIE'S BODY IS IN STATE IN ROYAL PALACE

BUCHAREST, July 21.—(AP)—The body of Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania today was placed in the royal palace to lie in state until the funeral Sunday.

It was brought here by special train from Sinaia, the royal summer residence, where the queen died Monday in her 63d year, after a long illness.

Just before the train left Sinaia, her daughter, Princess Elizabeth, former queen of Greece, fainted. In Bucharest, the queen's favorite possessions were exhibited near her coffin. Among them were a portrait of herself by Philip de Lazlo, some old Russian lace and holy pictures. Authorities expected more than 350,000 persons to pass her bier today. The casket was decorated with huge silver initials and family crest. Roses, carnations, and gladioli—all red—blanketed the hearse over which also was drawn the red, yellow, and blue, national colors of Rumania, en route from the station to the palace.

King Carol and Crown Prince Mihai, her son and grandson, appeared in public, in Sinaia, for the first time since her death. They were accompanied by other members of the royal family.

COURT CONSIDERS PETITION IN FIGHT ON RINGLING WILL

Sarasota, Fla., July 21.—(AP)—A county judge had under advisement today a petition asking probate of a codicil to the will of the late John Ringling, circus magnate, which revoked legacies to two nephews.

Ringling died in New York in December, 1936, leaving property in Sarasota county worth about $20,000,000. Mrs. Lorene Cowgill of Madison, Wis., niece of Ringling, filed the petition asking probate of the codicil. She contended the executors, John Ringling North and Ida Ringling North, failed to offer it to the court. The instrument was dated Nov. 2, 1935. As published in newspapers here the codicil revoked legacies to John Ringling North and Henry W. R. North.

Mrs. Ida Ringling North, given half of the estate under the Ringling will, would receive instead an annual income of $5,000 under provisions of the codicil.

FAITH, SCIENCE, MUSIC JOINED AT AUGUSTANA

College Swedes Founded Retains High Rank.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rock Island, Ill., July 21.—[Special.]—Augustana college, seminary and school of music, which lift spire, bell tower, and dome on Zion hill above the Mississippi river at this crossways, stand as a monument of the Swedish immigrant's hunger for knowledge, love of beauty, and yearning for what is eternally good.

In a memorial booklet, tracing the course of this heritage from the colony on the Delaware in 1638 to Augustana of today, and what it has meant and may mean to the happiness and stability of American life, there is the thought, not of an outmoded system, but of a pioneer adventure of the human race which still continues. It is expressed in this way:

"On the Delaware the Swedes began an attempt to build a new world. The endeavor is repeated on the Mississippi. The attempt is still in process of realization. Augustana is an expression of the hope that the best of the past may be transmuted into a future, whose riches and blessings she may have been able in some degree to mediate. Kalmar Nyckel sailed toward the west. Still in the west the great adventure continues."

Carries Spirit of Upsala.

As to knowledge, first. There has been established here and maintained for three-quarters of a century of steady growth a high university tradition out of Lund and Upsala, which has found expression in scholarship and equipment that rank this institution among the better small colleges of the United States. Its primary purpose is to serve the young people of the Lutheran Augustana synod, by which it was founded and is supported, in providing a thorough liberal education in preparation for theology, the arts, professions, or business. In this it is much like any other Christian college of high standards. Its distinctive field, however, is explained by Dr. Arthur A. Wald, dean and vice president, who was graduated from Augustana and later studied at Chicago, Madrid, Upsala, and Gottingen, as follows:

"The college has an obligation to represent and to cultivate and preserve the specific values of Swedish culture. It seeks to accomplish this purpose by maintaining a department of the Swedish language and literature on a par with other foreign languages, and by courses in comparative literature, especially Scandinavian, in English translation; by building up in its library a large and representative collection of Swedish literary works, reference books, and magazines; by collecting a wealth of material dealing with the history of the Swedes in America in its archives such as Swedish-American newspapers, correspondence, etc., and by providing for research in the field; by establishing a local Augustana chapter of the American-Scandinavian Foundation as an active organization to encourage the understanding and appreciation of Scandinavian culture."

New Science Hall.

Augustana has a new men's dormitory and a new science hall. For here science and religion meet face to face and religion does not back down. Dr. A. J. Carlson, noted chairman of the department of physiology of the University of Chicago, who came here in his youth to study for the ministry and remained to become a scientist, is leading a movement for a lasting memorial to his former professor of geology, Dr. J. A. Udden. Dr. Udden in turn was a student of Dr. Joshua Lindahl, a doctor of philosophy at the University of Lund, who laid the foundations of the study of the sciences at Augustana. The Udden geology club and the Lindahl biology club are two campus organizations.

As to love of beauty, first reference at Augustana concerns its famous choir of seventy voices, consisting of the combined Wennerberg and Jenny Lind choruses, and its chorus of 350 voices which this year gave its 57th annual Messiah concert.

The true in science, the beautiful in art, and the good in the religious orientation of life. This is Augustana's trinity of objectives, made one in the word "wholesome."

Science has not written the final word concerning the nature and history of man, according to Dr. Conrad Bergendoff, president of Augustana, who writes:

"A liberal education does not exclude the scientific method, but it includes methods necessary in the discovery of the more profound truths. It includes, if it be a Christian liberal education, the method of faith, for the attainment of the highest of all truths.

Discusses Evolution Theory.

"I realize that there are crises that surround us. I know how modern opinions slowly have undermined faith in the source of Christian knowledge—the Scriptures—and how views become current since the founding of this institution seem to make impossible the continuance of beliefs held by its founders. Though I admit the great light, which the theory of evolution has cast upon things created, and am not unmindful of how it has helped man to understand his own body, I am not ready to admit that those who have developed the theory have read the story of man as truly as Scripture has delineated his origin and his destiny. The Christian college will do well to keep a-burning this lighthouse of the human soul amid the darkness and storms of contemporary life."

As to current educational philosophy, which opposes indoctrination of youth with the convictions of the older generation, Dr. Bergendoff says that it is not a question of whether or no convictions are to be transmitted, but whose convictions are to be taught.

"Such a philosophy of education is pure theory," he says, "and is to be found realized neither in present day Europe, where the state is forcing its conceptions on all its youth, nor in modern America, where planning for the future includes inculcating in the youth the designs of the planners." His reference here is to "Redirecting Education," by Tugwell and Keyserling.

Story of Its Career.

This method of faith of which Dr. Bergendoff speaks can only be proved by works, and Augustana accepts this on its record and its efforts.

Begun as a Lutheran school in Springfield in 1858, moved to Chicago from 1860 to 1863, then to Paxton, Ill., for twelve years, Augustana became established in Rock Island in 1875. The synod is now a national body with a communicant membership of 254,677 and 1,203 local congregations. The college and seminary campus comprises forty acres of hill land, with ten buildings. The endowment, buildings and grounds represent about three million dollars. The college enrollment is 512.

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

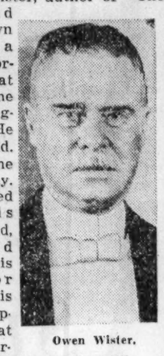
Washington, D. C., July 21.—[Special.]—Final revisions in the designs of the new Jefferson nickel were approved today by Wayne C. Taylor, assistant secretary of the treasury, and the designs were forwarded to the Philadelphia mint for preparation of dies. Minting of the new coins is expected to start in the middle of August. The design was executed by Felix Schlag of Chicago, whose drawings were selected in a nation-wide competition. One side of the coins shows a profile of Thomas Jefferson and on the reverse side is a representation of Monticello, Jefferson's home at Charlottesville, Va.

OWEN WISTER DIES; AUTHOR OF 'THE VIRGINIAN'

Stricken Suddenly at His Summer Home.

Providence, R. I., July 21.—[Special.]—Owen Wister, author of "The Virginian" and other well known novels, died of a cerebral hemorrhage today at his summer home in North Kingston, R. I. He was 78 years old.



Owen Wister.

Wister became ill only yesterday. He had arrived July 8 at his home, Crowfield, where he had quietly spent his summers for many years. His last public appearance was at a charity entertainment in Narragansett in 1935.

At his bedside at the end were his daughter, Mrs. Walter Stokes of Philadelphia, and three sons, Owen J. Wister of New York City, and William and Charles Wister of Philadelphia. There is another daughter, Mrs. Andrew Dasburg of New Mexico. Wister's body will be taken to Philadelphia for the funeral.

Educated for Law.

Wister was educated to become a lawyer and a musician. He was a member of the Philadelphia bar and studied music in Paris in the eighties after he was graduated from Harvard. Both fields proved unsatisfactory, although Wister's failing health was responsible for transforming him from a little known musical composer to one of the best known novelists of his day.

Impaired health forced him to return from his musical studies in Europe. Upon returning to America he journeyed westward in an effort to regain his strength. While on an elk hunting trip through Arizona and Wyoming he gained impressions that left a lasting mark upon his mind.

Following that eventful trip Wister published "The Virginian" and leaped to fame. He later wrote other books based upon his knowledge of the west, but none attained the popularity of "The Virginian." His story also was successfully produced on the stage.

Theodore Roosevelt Friend.

Wister's life had many parallels with that of his friend and schoolmate, President Theodore Roosevelt. They attended Harvard together, both came of aristocratic families, and both had a strong independent strain of thought. Both were frail and went to the west to regain their health.

Roosevelt also wrote an outstanding book about the west which he called "The Winning of the West." Wister wrote a book about Roosevelt entitled "Theodore Roosevelt, the Story of a Friendship, 1880-1919."

The Roosevelt book was suddenly withdrawn by its publishers and was revised before it was put on the market. After some mystery it was disclosed that Wister had related an incident in which Roosevelt was induced to accept the hospitality of a southern hostess who outwitted a rival hostess to get him.

Among books Wister wrote are "Lady Baltimore," "The Pentecost of Calamity," "Lin McLean," "The Jimmy John Boss," "U. S. Grant, a Biography," and "The Dragon of Wantley—His Tail."

Mrs. Nelson started something!

• Mrs. Nelson bought a new electric refrigerator last month. Her old one was not able to keep her family's food at safe temperatures, and there were so many modern conveniences that she wanted. She figured costs and savings carefully—and purchased the electric refrigerator she liked the best.

And she started something!... Not an economist, she thought of its purchase price only as an amount to be paid to the seller for the refrigerator. But this is what happened to her check!

The salesman who helped her with her purchase found his commission for the sale in his pay envelope. The company from which she bought used part of it to pay its office force. The delivery crew which took the new refrigerator up the back stairs was kept at work.

Back in the factory, the refrigerator was paid for by the store that sold it to Mrs. Nelson. Freight bills were paid. Machinists and motor builders were kept on their jobs. A check went to the steel mill, another to a rubber factory. A thousand people in a dozen industries whose labor was represented in Mrs. Nelson's electric refrigerator each received a tiny fraction of the price she paid.

This story could be continued indefinitely, through steel mill and enameling plant, through the makers of plastics and copper, the chemical industries, through railroads and farms and stores. Because Mrs. Nelson had decided to buy, they had work to do. Salaries could be paid....Sales do mean jobs. Every purchase that you may make not only means work for uncounted men whom you may never know . . . but it contributes directly to the security and to the prosperity of every single one of us.

COOKING EDITOR DESCRIBES THE TYPES OF MILK

BY MARY MEADE.

Evaporated and dried milks do not differ much in food value from fresh bottled milk, and may be used freely in the kitchen when fresh milk is not available, or when pennies must be pinched.

The only important advantage which bottled milk holds of these other types is its unsurpassable flavor. Even when evaporated milk is used for all cooking purposes, bottled milk is the only kind served as a beverage in most homes. Its use for that purpose shouldn't be limited unless the budget must be peeled to the very minimum, for fresh milk probably is the most important food of all, especially for children.

Evaporated milk diluted with an equal amount of water approximates the composition of fresh milk, and may be used in place of it in recipes. When cream is called for, evaporated milk may be used undiluted. The greatest savings in using evaporated milk are effected when it takes the place of whipping cream, and many persons buy it for that use alone. Before it will whip readily evaporated milk must be scalded in the can, and then thoroughly chilled.

Sweetened condensed milk is an entirely different product. It is a thick, sweet milk, excellent for dessert making, but not at all interchangeable with fresh milk. When acid is added it thickens considerably. Many summertime pies and refrigerator cakes are made from a base of sweetened condensed milk plus enough lemon juice to thicken it to pielike consistency.

Coffee Ice Cream with Evaporated Milk.

[Two Quarts in Freezer.]

4 cups evaporated milk
2 cups strong coffee
1 tablespoon flour
1¼ cups sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat evaporated milk and coffee to scalding point in a double boiler. Mix flour, sugar, and salt, and add gradually to hot milk, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Cook 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Pour over slightly beaten egg yolks, blend thoroughly, and return to the double boiler for two minutes longer. Stir constantly. Strain through a fine sieve and chill. Add vanilla and freeze in a two quart freezer. Remove dasher and pack in ice and salt for an hour or more after freezing.

Cooked Salad Dressing with Evaporated Milk.

[One and One-quarter Cups.]

1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon mustard
Dash of cayenne pepper
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2 egg yolks or one whole egg
1 cup evaporated milk
¼ cup vinegar

Mix dry ingredients. Add egg yolks and blend thoroughly. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook over hot water until thickened, about 15 minutes, stirring to keep smooth. Remove from heat and add vinegar.

Graham Cracker Cake with Evaporated Milk.

[Two Eight-inch Layers.]

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups graham cracker crums [about 23 crackers]
⅔ cup evaporated milk
⅔ cup water
1 cup chopped nuts

Cream butter and sugar and add well beaten egg yolks. Beat until fluffy. Add vanilla. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt, and add to sifted graham cracker crums. Add to butter mixture alternately with combined evaporated milk and water. Add nuts and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into greased cake pans and bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes, or until done. Frost as desired.

A GOOSEBERRY PIE RECIPE LIKE GRANDMA USED

Everybody likes gooseberry pie. Especially those who have enjoyed picking wild gooseberries. Grandmother sometimes made this mouth-puckering pastry with spices, something like this:

GOOSEBERRY PIE.

[1 Nine Inch Pie.]

3 cups gooseberries
1½ cups sugar
½ cup water
2 tablespoons flour
Dash of salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon butter
Pastry for 2-crust pie

Cook gooseberries with 1 cup of the sugar and ½ cup of water until tender. Combine remaining sugar, flour, salt, and spices and stir into cooled fruit. Pour into pastry lined pieplate and dot with butter. Cover with crust or lattice pastry strips, fastening well at edge. Bake in hot oven [450 degrees] for ten minutes, then reduce heat to moderate [350 degrees] and continue baking, about twenty-five minutes.

GREENSTUFFS GO DOWN IN PRICE; MOST MEATS UP

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Merchants in Chicago and suburbs are featuring picnic items and foods that can be used in preparing quick meals during the vacation season. It is the time of year when stores are not usually crowded and shoppers have time to mosey along the ashelves and among the display counters, picking out tasty items for finicky appetities. Some housewives take the advantage of summertime to familiarize themselves with new foods that may be added to their regular pantry list.

Retail price trends in vegetables continue downward, while most meat price changes are higher. Not many significant changes in staple prices were found by Tribune reporters in making their weekly price survey of neighboring shopping centers.

Price of Sugar Lower.

Sugar will be found lower in a long string of stores. Some merchants have cut their prices 4 cents on a ten pound sack of sugar. Shoppers will have no trouble in finding green beans selling at prices even lower than last week. Green beans generally are considered reasonable in price.

Head lettuce is much lower this week; some green grocers have clipped off 4 cents a head since last week. Grapes are becoming more plentiful and prices are off 2½ cents a pound. Celery and apples are cheaper in most places. Carrots, fresh tomatoes and onions will be found at lower prices.

The quality of roasting ears is improving. Golden bantam corn is on the green grocer's counters. Corn is lower generally.

One to 3 cents a dozen has been added to the price of eggs by most merchants. In the cheese cases of many stores mild American is up 2 cents and the snappy sort up 3 cents a pound. Lard is up 1 to 1½ cents a pound. Lower grades of coffee are up 2 cents a pound in stores that had them on sale last week-end. Higher grades of flour have been raised 4 cents on a 24½ pound sack in many stores. Several stores marked peas up 1 cent a pound. Oranges are higher.

Butter Up and Down.

Butter prices traveled in two directions this week—up 2 cents a pound in some and off 2 cents a pound in other stores. Lemons fell off 6 cents here and there, while some merchants added 3 cents a dozen.

Peaches are generally cheaper, although in a few cases they are higher than a week ago. Spinach is on the up and down list this week.

The berry season is fading out. Strawberries and blackberries are about all gone. There still are a few blueberries, dewberries, and raspberries. Some stores are not offering any berries this week.

Butchers have had difficulty in sawing bargain cuts out of the carcasses of beef, pork, or lamb this week. Most of their price changes made this week are up. For example, they added 2 to 4 cents a pound to the various brands of cured bacon. It is common all around the shopping centers to find pot roast marked up 2 cents a pound. The same is true of shoulder, rib, and loin lamb chops, with as much as 4 cents a pound added to the price tag. Leg of lamb is on the up and down list.

Cost of Steaks Higher.

Steaks are higher, too. Round and porterhouse steaks have been raised 2 cents a pound, while sirloin is 4 cents a pound higher in several shops.

Fish will be found higher today and tomorrow. Whitefish jumped up 4 cents a pound in some shops. Two to four cents a pound has been added to the price of pike, perch, and herring in most retail meat markets. Trout is higher in some and lower in other places.

At the Union Stockyards official reporters said yesterday that beef steers sold this week at the highest price since the first of the year. The week's top reached $13 a hundredweight. The best steers are 25 to 40 cents a hundred above last week. Dressed beef, however, is off 50 cents a hundred.

Hogs of the lighter weights went up 25 cents, while the heavier grades went down 35 to 65 cents a hundred under last week's prices. The week's top on hogs weighing 230 pounds and over was $10.25 a hundred. Pork loins from light carcasses are 50 cents to $1 a hundred off, while loins from the heavier carcasses are reported to be steady to 50 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Lamb Prices Show Drop.

Fat and dressed lambs are lower. Spring lambs are 25 to 50 cents less than a week ago, with the highest price for the week dropping to $9.35 a hundred. Dressed lamb is $1 to $2 a hundred less than a week ago.

Wholesale prices of most fresh fruits and vegetables are lower this week than last at the central market. Cantaloupes, carrots, cauliflower, corn, lettuce, onions, honeydow melons, tomatoes, watermelons, apples, grapes, plums, and pears are lower.

The first Missouri watermelons for this season were received here this week.

UNCOOKED CANDY FUN TO MAKE BECAUSE IT IS SO VERY SIMPLE

Uncooked candy is always fun to make because it's such a simple business. In summer, when chocolate melts, when fondant is hard to make, and when any cooking is to be avoided, an uncooked candy is doubly appreciated. Apricot marbles are as good as they are simple.

APRICOT MARBLES.

1 cup dried apricots
1 cup shredded coconut
½ cup nut meats
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
4 teaspoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon salt

Run the washed apricots, coconut, and nut meats through a food chopper and mix with remaining ingredients. Knead, adding confectioners' sugar if too soft to mold or orange juice if too stiff. Form into balls measuring from ¾ to 1 inch in diameter and roll in granulated sugar.

SAUCE FOR THE ICE CREAM IS EASY WAY OUT

HOT FUDGE SAUCE.

[One and Three-quarters Cups.]

8 squares unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces
1⅔ cups water
2½ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine chocolate and water and cook over direct heat four minutes, stirring constantly to prevent scorching. Beat with rotary beater until blended. Add sugar and salt, return to heat, and cook four minutes longer. Serve hot. This sauce keeps well when stored in the refrigerator.

MARSHMALLOW SAUCE.

2 tablespoons boiling water
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cut the marshmallows in quarters with wet scissors. Place them in top of double boiler to melt. Dissolve sugar in the boiling water and add to melted marshmallows. Stir in vanilla and serve hot or cold.

BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE.

2 tablespoons butter
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Heat milk to boiling. Add butter and all the sugar. Cook to 224 degrees F., or until it is a thick sirup. Add vanilla and cool without stirring. This may be served hot if desired.

Children Come to Rescue in Free Ice Fund Crisis

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

It was the charity of children again yesterday that lifted the free ice fund over its first emergency of the summer. Wednesday's heavy demands from poor mothers, physicians, and friends of needy aged had drained the fund of its last dollar. Even the most urgent cases that came to the United Charities' attention were told they would have to wait until something could be done for them.

Within a few hours something was done. Three little girls who live at the Belden Stratford hotel sent in $15, the receipts from their own production of "The Eccentric Lady." Their money was used immediately to buy ice tickets for fifteen families—enough to last almost a week.

Their gift and the others received follow:

500 to Take Oral Exam for Teachers College

Oral entrance examinations for the Chicago Teachers college will be given to 500 high school graduates July 25 to 29, Henry S. Crane, board of education examiner, announced yesterday. The class entering the college in September will be the last permitted to take a three year course for a teacher's certificate.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Remember the white nail wax that came out a couple of months ago? We were and are strong for it because we've seen wonderful results with it. It forms a protective sheath beneath the polish and gives ailing nails a chance to heal up nicely. The polish used over the wax is necessarily of a darker shade and the nails take longer to dry after a manicure, but we are staunch in our belief that using the wax is well worth the trouble.

This same white wax can be used as a white nail polish if your hands are deeply tanned. It's surprisingly effective, too. Another trick, if your nails need coddling, is to use the white wax alone during the day when you have privacy. The wax gets in its healing action during these idle hours. The white protective wax is rather heavy and must be applied carefully when used beneath polish.

You might also be interested to know that the originator of the wax has now brought out more shades in the polish to go over it. They're better ones, too. Much prettier, we think, than the shades that were originally introduced.

The vogue for brilliant nails, which died down considerably for a while, is picking up again at a great rate. The soft makeup shades haven't deterred it a bit. The fashion is for long, strong nails, vividly lackered.

The vivid shades, however, are more beautiful than they used to be. Artistic blending has developed lovely colors, some smoky, some clear. The best way of finding the polish that's right for you involves experimenting. You must try a polish for a couple of days before you can be certain that it "does something" for your hands. It should set off the shade of your hand skin, for one thing, and for another should blend well with the color of your costumes.

First Big Dance at Lake Geneva to Be Tomorrow

BY JUDITH CASS.

LAKE GENEVA, Wis., will be deserted by young people today, as it was yesterday. The young sailing enthusiasts of the resort are at Pine lake for the class X boats regatta. Lake Geneva will be buzzing tomorrow though. The first big dance of the season will be held at the country club, climaxing the usual Saturday races at the yacht club.

Miss Sara Peace, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Peace of Bellevue place, is one of Lake Geneva's experienced skippers. She is entertaining thirty-two of her sailing contemporaries at the dinner-dance tomorrow. Angie Johnson, daughter of the C. Wallace Johnsons, will have a slightly younger group at the club, and their elders will dine and dance as guests of the Henry Bartholomays.

Golf is just as popular as sailing with Lake Geneva's summer colony. One of the resort's annual golfing parties is the men's invitational tournament, which will be held Aug. 4, 5 and 6. That week-end will be an especially gay one, with guests at almost every home and dinner and luncheon parties galore for the visitors.

The following week-end, Aug. 12, 13 and 14, will be hectic for Lake Genevans. The annual flower, fruit, and vegetable show will be held on that Friday and Saturday, and the Inland Lakes regatta starts on Sunday the 14th at Neenah. Since most of the flower show committee members have sailors in the family, it means that doting mammas will have to leave the show in other hands to get their young people off either on Saturday or by dawn on Sunday for Neenah.

Expect Big Crowd for Regatta Week.

Inns, hotels, and homes in the vicinity of Neenah will be crowded during the week-long regatta which attracts boats from a wide area. Philip A. Starck has reserved rooms at the Lawsonia Country club for himself and the crew of his boat. A. Frederick Gartz Jr., who is commodore of the Lake Geneva Yacht club; Gloria Gartz, "Sonny" Maxwell, the James N. Rawleighs' sons, Jim and Bill; Bruce P. Adams, Harry Nye, and Miss Peace all will take their boats to Neenah. Some of them will enter the class C races at Oconomowoc next Friday and Saturday.

A new generation of sailors is being coached by Jerome Kipley at the Lake Geneva Yacht club. There are 20 youngsters in the class. Members of the class must be able to swim, and must be at least 12 years old. Some of them are Gail Gartz, Dorothy Barton, Jane Cameron, Margaret Cox, Billy Petersen, Sally Whitaker, Dick Spence, Tom and Bob Courtney, and Patsy Darby.

Mrs. Arthur W. Wakely Heads Garden Show.

Because Mrs. William N. Peleuze will be in northern Wisconsin at the time of the flower show, Mrs. Arthur W. Wakely is to be chairman this year. Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell is the publicity chairman. Mrs. Joseph Cudahy of Lake Forest already has consented to be a judge. Two others who have been invited to be judges are Mrs. Warren W. Shoemaker of Glencoe and Mrs. Harry Swigart of Milwaukee.

The next meeting of the Garden club will be held at the country club on Aug. 3, with Mrs. Frederick Clifford as hostess. Mrs. Anna Crosley Ward will speak. The meeting is being held at the club expressly to get some new ideas about decorating it for the time of the flower show. The club is a popular luncheon place for show visitors.

The show will be the thirty-fourth annual one. Hours are from 1 until 10 o'clock, standard time, on Friday, and from 10 until 6 o'clock on Saturday.

Mrs. Raymond Watts' talk on "The Origin of Garden Plants" on Wednesday at Mrs. Henry H. Porter's home was one of the best the Garden club members had heard. Mrs. Watts spent two days with the William F. Petersens.

The country club will be the setting for a benefit bridge party next Wednesday, sponsored by the directors of Holliday home. Mrs. Frank S. Porter, Mrs. Maxwell, and Mrs. Henry Porter are in charge of the party.

Mrs. Frank Porter's sister, Miss Katherine Lefens, who was in Lake Geneva for a few days en route from Pasadena to Europe, now is in Carlsbad. Visitors from New York are Baron and Baroness Ruprecht von Boecklin, who are staying with the former Jane Brand's parents, the Armin W. Brands. The Von Boecklins spend their mornings sailing and their afternoons with Mr. and Mrs. Brand at Arlington. The Von Boecklins will be in Lake Geneva until after the baron's birthday, Aug. 9.

Poole-Wickes Nuptials Sept. 9.

Miss Kitty Wickes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe Wickes of New York and Ralph H. Poole Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Poole of Lake Forest have set Sept. 9 as their wedding day. The wedding will be a small one, with only the members of the families present and no formal invitations are being sent out.

The ceremony will take place at the home of Miss Wickes' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Parsons in Harrison, N. Y. After a honeymoon Mr. Poole and his bride will live in Florida near the Marine studios with which he is connected.

Double Wedding of Potter Sisters Aug. 9.

The Indian Hill club will be the setting for a double wedding the night of Aug. 9 when the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. T. Potter of Evanston will become brides. Miss Mary Elizabeth Potter will be mar-

Looking at Hollywood

Hollywood, Cal., July 21.—Most breath-taking of the bidders for the Garbo-Dietrich crown, dark haired Hedy La Marr. . . . Only flaw is in her smile. . . . Most poignant scene in recent flickers, the birthday party to Andrea Leeds in "Stage Door." . . . Best "running" piece of business, Spencer Tracy sticking the wad of gum to Gable's plane in "Test Pilot."

Hedy La Marr picked as winner.

Most striking eyes on celluloid, those of Sigrid Gurie. . . . Funniest crack of the week, Russell Crouse's observation: "If you steal from one guy, it's plagiarism; if you steal from two or more, it's research." . . . Most effective single closeup in pictures, that of the mother in the audience in "Alexander's Ragtime Band," who suddenly realizes her son is marching out of the theater—to death. . . . Best of the serials, the very human adventures of Judge Hardy and his family.

Cutest of the foreign imports, Danielle Darrieux. . . . Performer who has staged the greatest comeback in films, young Doug Fairbanks. . . . Most brilliant production, "Marie Antoinette," Leo the Lavish Lion at his best. . . . Greatest story of recent moons, Corrigan's hop to Baldonnel. . . . I'm still chuckling over that guy.

Greatest entertainment I've seen out here, reel for reel, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," which puts Alice Faye into the big star class. . . . Second to that I'd rank "Test Pilot." . . . Third, "Adventures of Robin Hood." . . . In all of these the producers remembered that they were making MOTION pictures. . . . Few producers keep that in mind, and as a result, clog up the screen with talk, talk, talk. . . . Best of the "talkers" was "Stage Door."

Hollywood should remember that it is in MOTION picture business. . . . Motion means action. . . . The first picture which I remember most vividly was the locomotive which came rarin' head-on out of the screen. . . . All pictures should be predicated on that simple formula, motion. . . . It is the talk, talk, talkies that drive theaters to double features and bingo.

Attorney General Cummings files suit against the eight major companies on the grounds that they constitute a monopoly, acting in restraint of trade. . . . Last time I saw Mr. Cummings was at a party he gave for your reporter at Washington, D. C. . . . At that time we argued about the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Chicago. . . . I took Dempsey's side; as a fellow Stamfordite from Connecticut, he upheld Tunney. . . . Mr. Cummings lost that argument, and I believe he's wrong in this attack on the movie majors.

The moving picture companies repudiate the monopoly charge by fighting each other at every turn; they fight over story material, performers, producers, directors. . . . If this industry is a monopoly, it's a cat-eat-dog monopoly. . . . They can't be brought together to see eye-to-eye on any single problem. . . . If that's monopoly, I'll eat it.

Interesting character is Johnny Speaks, one of the RKO sound men, who has a keener wit than most of the writers employed here at huge salaries to pen witty cracks. . . . Speaks was out of work for three months, so he decided to improve the shining lay-off hours by writing a book of recipes, of all things. . . . He has completed the book. . . . It is entitled "Forty Ways in Which to Prepare a Wolf for Dinner." . . . I think that's the funniest title ever composed.

Patrick O'Brien of Milwaukee has not won any academy awards as has his fellow Milwaukeean, Spencer Tracy, but have you noticed the rush of assignments to which O'Brien has fallen heir. Every time you turn around out here, it seems a Pat O'Brien picture is being previewed. The reason? Movie fans like the big fellow and his company is capitalizing on his popularity.

Pat's characterization of the night club manager in "Garden of the Moon," previewed last night, is one of the greatest things he has contributed to the movies.

O'Brien himself would rather travel around the country and attend sporting events, because essentially he is a rabid sporting fan. . . . He has a charming home in Brentwood, but the first room he shows you is his den loaded with boxing gloves, baseball bats, autographed pictures of champions, action pictures of famous fights. . . . A fellow like that has to be a nice guy. O'Brien is.

While on the fringe of sport it is not amiss to pay a well deserved compliment to Silvio Coucci, the Bronx youngster who has won the admiration of the picture colony by his fine comeback out here. Coucci belongs to that diminutive colony which earns a living riding race horses.

He was a star on the eastern tracks, and then went so sour that he couldn't get a mount. So he did a Horace Greeley and lugged his riding tack and his diet across the Rocky mountains. He has won a fine success out here, riding honestly and brilliantly and keeping his weight down by hard training that demanded plenty of will power. So a toast to Coucci is in order and here it is.

Newest member of the Tough Luck club is Dominick Amici, who is known to the trade as Don Ameche. He had never had a vacation. So he and his flaxen haired wife, Honey, finally got enough time off to go to Europe. In the middle of the trip they hauled him off a train for an emergency appendectomy. If that's not tough luck then write a letter to your congressman.

Irish Dancers, Singers Appear at Grant Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The intoxicating music of Irish jigs and reels blared through speakers and rose to the serene sky. Twenty bright faced little girls of grammar school age skipped about the stage of the band shell. Members of the audience hugged personal or ancestral memories of the soft wet winds of Kerry and danced inwardly to the rhythm of the small twinkling feet before them.

All of this went on at Grant park last night when the twenty-first of the free lake front concerts was dedicated in an especial manner to Chicagoans of Irish descent. Besides the Irish dancers there was the Celtic chorus.

"Killarney," "The Minstrel Boy," "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms"—these are songs which Ireland's people have carried with them to the ends of the earth. They issued last evening from the throats of men and women who for the most part have never seen the Old Country, but to carry in some secret compartment of their being a feeling for the green little island from which their parents or their parents' parents came.

Accompanying both dancers and singers and presenting an independent program of its own was the Cavallo Symphonic band. The Irish motif [with a Japanese twist] was reiterated in the instrumental part of the evening when the band presented a medley of tunes from the Gilbert-Sullivan "Mikado."

Matteo Manna, cornetist of the band, bowed in the direction of Erin by offering "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" as an encore. His first number was the definitly Non-Hibernian "Inflammatus" from Rossini's "Stabat Mater."

Other numbers on last evening's program which can by no means be tied in the group to which the program was dedicated were the "Fingal's Cave" overture of Mendelssohn, a potpourri of the music of Boito's "Mefistofele," and the symphonic poem, "Les Prèludes," of Liszt.

The instrumental parts of the program were conducted by P. A. Cavallo, Sr., and the dancing and singing by Beecher Burton.

Latest Work by Van Vactor Definitly New

BY CECIL SMITH.

Eugene Goossens, London born conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, began a term of four concerts as guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra at the Ravinia festival last evening. Sharing the honors of the evening with him was David Van Vactor, the orchestra's second flutist, who conducted the première of his new "Symphonic Suite," commissioned last spring by the program committee of the Ravinia festival.

This was Mr. Van Vactor's first appearance as conductor of the orchestra to which he belongs, although he has previously directed both the Illinois Symphony and Civic orchestras in performances of other works from his pen.

In the midst of Chicago's musical conservatism the experimental freshness of Mr. Van Vactor's music is a healthy symptom. The "Symphonic Suite" is music of today, not of yesterday or the day before. If its dissonant style awakens memories of Hindemith and Shostakovich, at least it turns its back on the easy eloquence and melting harmonies of effete and decadent romanticism.

The four movements of the suite are a march, a serenade, a waltz, and a final chorale and fugue. The last of these is the most consistently well written, achieving a climax not merely through loud orchestral sonorities but also through the sense of musical fruition that is the crowning reward of a movement logically and inevitably developed.

The first three movements are perhaps best characterized by the keen analysis of a member of the audience who remarked that the composer has not yet learned to sense the full value of his own musical ideas. This was evident, for one thing, in his conducting, which did not always find the best tempo for completely effective presentation.

It was further evident in the nature of the orchestral score itself. While years of experience in the orchestra have given the composer a superb knowledge of the capacities of the various instruments, he has not yet learned to focus this knowledge upon the development of unfailingly interesting and appropriate instrumental color.

All in all, the performance was one of the distinctive successes of the summer, and serves to put Mr. Van Vactor definitly in the group of American composers who deserve to be watched in the future.

Mr. Goossens chose a debut program of the kind British conductors like: Berlioz ["The Roman Carnival"], Mozart [the "Jupiter" symphony], Delius ["The Walk to Paradise Garden"], and Rimsky-Korsakoff [excerpts from "Le Coq d'Or"]. The Berlioz overture made a splendid impression at the opening of the concert. Few conductors are fortunate enough to discover as Mr. Goossens did just exactly the perfect tempo for the melodious love song in the first half of the overture.

With his interpretation of the Mozart symphony, on the other hand, it was possible to pick many a quarrel. The first movement, taken a shade too slow, lost too much of its vivacity and became static. The slow movement lost shape and substance by being made the victim of a rather unbridled enthusiasm for nuance and inflection.

How wonderful a Mozart slow movement can be made to sound by a conductor who realizes that Mozart himself was extremely exact in the matter of musical notation! The printed page tells what to do, and frequent slowings down and speedings up are bound to be works of supererogation.

The program committee of the Ravinia Festival association is trying a unique experiment this week. At each concert the members of the audience are asked to fill out a questionnaire indicating their reactions to the music they have just heard. The results will be collated and used as a guide in planning programs for the 1939 season.

For tonight's program Mr. Goossens has chosen Beethoven's "Egmont" overture, the Third Symphony of Brahms, and his own arrangements of a number of excerpts from Wagner's "Ring" music dramas.

Diagonal Stripes Trim Dress

The striped cotton daytime dress uses the striped design for trim in the double slanted chest pockets, chevron striped short sleeves, and the diagonal stripes in the blouse and skirt. Flat white buttons and the narrow patent lether belt complete the costume. Similar summer dresses will be found in any of the current showings.

A Dressmaker Swim Outfit Is Good Flatterer

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Dressmaker swim suits are justifiably popular this year, being as successful as the tennis dresses that are really dresses. While the one piece, form revealing skirtless swim suits are still favorites with beach beauties with flawless streamlines, lots of slim shoppers are buying the dressmaker styles. Gayly printed cotton, stripes, floral patterns and the sleek printed silk jersey materials are especially good for these more femininized versions of freedom of the seas.

Don't let the skirt idea discourage you . . . these short flared skirts are smart. They're short, have a definite snap, and really fit around the waist and hipline. They're much kinder to the average figure.

The bodice tops are cleverly designed with small perky bows tied at the shoulders, expertly placed tucks, and shirrings, and give a softer, easier to wear appearance. The printed jerseys are stunning. You come out of the water as sleek as a seal.

All these dressmaker suits are made with fitted under suits of wool jersey, whether the tops are of cotton, or any other material. They all dry rapidly, and are guaranteed sea worthy, for color and shape.

Vividly printed cotton makes some of the best ensembles of dressmaker suit and a long peasant type skirt shirred tightly from the waistline down to the hips. This skirt leads a double life, as a skirt tied in front or as cape slung over the shoulders.

Fashion photograph . . . clean, cool stripes, narrow and precise, are contrast for printed cotton summer dresses. Short sleeves have the stripes in chevron formation and the slant double pockets are inset at right angles to the diagonal stripes of the blouse and skirt. Huge, flat white buttons down the front and a narrow patent lether belt complete the details. Daytime striped cotton dresses such as this model are available in all the summer showings.

Marriage Out of Question on $20 Per Week

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The ideal marriage may well be concerned with a husband who works while his wife takes care of the home. But the young people must face the fact that economic conditions are difficult today. The man's salary may be too small to support a wife. There may be dependent mothers whose needs cannot be overlooked.

Two young persons in love may wait until they can realize the perfect financial setup for marriage, and let their romance drag on until it is dull and flat. Or else they can take their courage in their hands, pool their salaries, and work up to their ideal.

If they have love and consideration for each other, they will manage and grow closer together in their struggle to surmount their difficulties.

A man writes:

"I am 33 years old and wish to marry but I am afraid I cannot support a wife. I am making $20 a week as a waiter. Recently I won a scholarship in commercial art and hope to be able to make a few dollars in my spare time. I am against having my wife work, as I think women should stay in the home."

Twenty dollars a week isn't enough to support a wife. If he wants to marry, he'll certainly have to choose a girl who is willing to keep on with her job. But he is hardworking and ambitious.

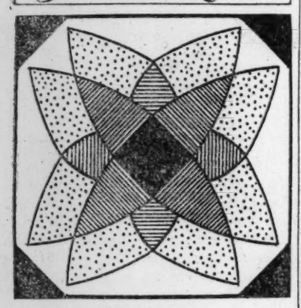
If he finds a girl who believes in him, in time he may gain more success.

A girl states her problem:

"I am to be married in August to a man who makes $50 a week. He wants to give his mother $20 out of his salary. I object as I have to help my mother, too. I am making $25 a week and he says I can keep on working and give her what I make."

Money isn't as important as this girl makes it. Financial arrangements can be adjusted. The girl is wiser to be generous. A man who feels a responsibility to his mother will be responsible and generous to his wife.

Today's Quilt



Double Poppy.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

For those persons who have a preference for the warm tones of reds and yellows, "Double Poppy" affords an excellent opportunity to be surrounded with all the richness of the two shades. Crimson, scarlet, and light red, combined with gold and soft yellow, are the choice for this beautiful applique block. It is not a difficult design to set together because the patches are simply cut. A coverlet composed of forty-two applique blocks has three inch bands between squares forming a frame for each flower. The quilting for "Double Poppy" must be simple and in keeping with the bloom itself.

Bathing Attire Calls Attention to Leg Contours

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Whether you like it or not, the beach puts your legs on trial. Every woman and girl should be sure her legs and ankles are as becoming as her bathing suit. The prettiest bathing suit on the prettiest figure won't look well above ugly legs.

Of course, no bathing suit should appear above legs covered with unsightly hair. A razor will remove the hair quickly and deftly. Only be careful not to ornament your skin with cuts and scars. A little creaming is soothing after shaving. Depilatories, pumice stone rubs, or special little sandpaper mitts also will remove excess hair. If the skin is very sensitive, rubbing the hair off may cause irritation. If the growth is light, a bleach sometimes is all that is necessary.

Get your legs tanned early. Pale, anemic looking legs aren't half as good looking as those tanned a nice healthy brown. Shade your face if you prefer a whiter complexion, but let the sun reach your legs. Socks will hasten the process.

Bow legs and knock knees don't improve the picture, but at least you can avoid positions that exhibit your defect. Of course, such things should have been corrected in early childhood. But even in an adult exercises that keep the legs and ankles supple and slim will help surprisingly. At least they will prevent excess fat on legs and ankles from exaggerating their faulty lines.

Fat isn't pretty on straight legs. It is likely to be stubborn, too. Perhaps you may not get your ankles and legs in shape this season. But the daily contrast with the shapelier limbs of your sister bathers may spur you on to exercising regularly. Here are a few remedies for fat legs and thick ankles.

2. Stand erect with left arm forward and right backward. Kick forward with the left leg to touch the left hand. Reverse and kick right leg back to touch the right hand. Repeat ten times.

3. Take a pillow and kick it vigorously. Or borrow your brother's or small son's football and do a little hard kicking.

The Housewife

Among the cleverest and most attractive little gadgets for making cool drinks cooler are colored glass balls which you freeze in the refrigerator. The new ones look like small golf balls and come in light yellow, white, red, green, and orange. They are sold in sets of four and six and are not expensive.

They are already filled with water and this water remains inside the balls. All you do is place them in a freezing unit of your refrigerator any time you want to use them. They can be used repeatedly.

They are as decorative as they are practical. And, of course, will not dilute any beverage in which they are used.

SYNOPSIS.

On board the S. S. Panama Queen, sailing from Los Angeles to New York via Panama, are Anne Sydney, who has a part in a Broadway play, and her crippled and embittered sister, Mena; Arnold Vernon, elderly rich English motion picture producer, and his coldly beautiful wife, Claire; Isobel Butler, who has a stateroom next to the Vernon suite and hopes to get in pictures through him; Alex Reed, young surgeon returning to work after two years' illness, and gossipy Mrs. Panting. Isobel meets and arouses Vernon's interest. Anne and Alex are mutually attracted. Mena spitefully tells Alex that Anne is a heartless flirt. Pride causes Anne to hold herself aloof from him. Dr. Neil Andrews, a friend of Alex's, joins the ship in Mexico. He wants to get married and thinks Anne meets his ideals. Isobel and Arnold Vernon fall in love. He tries to buy his freedom from Claire. When she refuses he threatens to make a new will disinheriting her. The ship fights through a terrific hurricane. Isobel finds Vernon in her cabin unconscious, hit by a stormtossed trunk. She sends Claire to him and struggles to find a doctor. Claire seeing her chance to gain wealthy widowhood, takes a loaded pistol, wrapped in a towel, from the purser's suite and shoots her husband, leaving the weapon in Isobel's wardrobe.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

OFFICIAL INVESTIGATION.

Somehow Claire got out of Isobel's room and into her own. She looked at herself in the glass. She did not look any different. White and strange about the eyes, but every one looked like that tonight. No one would know.

She was still holding the towel. It seemed to be stained with something—not blood—something acrid smelling and dark. She couldn't go back and leave it there. She turned on the tap, washed it and wrung it out, threw it on the floor with the others.

Now she would go looking for the doctor.

She met Alex Reed coming down as she hauled herself up the stairs —"O thank God—I thought no one was ever coming. Something's happened to Arnold—he's all covered with blood in the Butler woman's room——"

She thought—how awful if he had come down just a minute sooner. She felt a brutal grasp on her arm. "Pull yourself together. I shall need help. This isn't the time to faint——"

He wanted her to go back into that room! She could not. "No—no—blood makes me sick——"

No one would make her go into that room—no one. She swooned into his arms. He laid her down and left her on the stairway. He had gone when she opened her eyes. She hated him violently. She had been shamming and he knew it. She got back to the drawing room. The nurse was there now examining the passengers who had been bruised by the rolling furniture. She saw Isobel Butler lying on a sofa, her dress wet and dirty, her head bound with a bandage.

Claire bent over her. "Dr. Reed's with him now."

"Thank God. I hope he'll be all right."

"It'll be your fault if he dies," Claire said viciously.

THE ELEVENTH DAY.

The wind was warm now coming off the land—the high sky a flawless blue, washed immaculately clean.

Capt. David MacKenzie held a conference in the chartroom while the second officer paced the bridge. The entire crew and all the passengers who had had any experience of peril on the high seas were today marveling at his seamanship, but the old man himself was marveling at his inexperience and ineptitude. Sitting with him at his round table were William Flagg, purser, and Fred Ainslee, chief officer.

"Petty thieves, card sharps, drunks, and even a couple of would-be suicides I've had to handle, but such a thing has never happened on any of my ships!" He groaned. "And to happen now after all these years on my last trip."

Fred Ainslee was a handsome officious fellow in his smart white uniform, self-important, full of very little but himself. There was no sign of regret or solemnity on his large heavily modeled face—on the contrary, he was interested in the drama, vaguely pleased that something had happened on the old tub at last. "Of course the man may not die, sir," he said.

"Good God, I hope not. But that doesn't absolve us from doing our duty. The point is, Flagg, what exactly is our duty? I'm hanged if I know."

"To question everybody concerned till we're pretty sure we're right, then lock the fellow up."

"If it is a fellow," interposed Ainslee. "From what I've gathered so far, it's much more likely to be a girl."

"I agree," said Flagg quietly. "I suspect the wife."

"No, it's the other woman. Tell me in detail about that will."

While Flagg recounted the surprising facts of Arnold Vernon's visit to his rooms the night before last, the old man watched him intently with light eyes gleaming under thick, sandy lashes and bushy yellow and white brows.

"I saw him in the elevator going down to dinner. I told him he looked tired, but he said no—and could he come to pay a little visit afterwards. I thought it was for a friendly chat, but when he arrived about half past eight, he was all worked up over something—said he'd got a fright with that heart attack, might pop off any minute. He didn't care about that, he said, but he would care if he went without altering his will.

"I helped him to draw one up, a very simple one. He left all he possessed to Miss Isobel Butler, stating there was no undue influence and requesting us to testify to his sanity, and a shilling to his wife."

"Us?" inquired the captain testily, "whom do you mean—us?"

"Richardson, my assistant. Two of course were necessary to witness the will."

"Is such a will valid?"

"I don't know English law, but after all that isn't the point."

"The point is," interposed Ainslee, "did the Butler girl know it and take a marvelous opportunity to bump him off?"

Flagg gave him a look of positive dislike. "I should very much doubt it. My theory is that he had threatened his wife he would do this, and she shot him unaware that he had already made the new will."

"That gun of yours, Flagg," said the captain, "why did you have to have a thing like that in such an accessible place, and having it—let everybody know it at your cocktail party?"

Flagg said sheepishly, looking at his finger nails, "I'm ten thousand kinds of a fool. My only excuse is that I never dreamed——"

"It was found in Miss Butler's cabin," said Ainslee.

"That doesn't mean a thing," countered Flagg. "Any one who went in with it would leave it there. No one could get rid of it over the side of the ship with everything screwed up and battened down."

The captain reached for his telephone. "This isn't getting us anywhere." He spoke to the bell captain. "Page Dr. Reed and ask him to come up here. That is, if he isn't urgently engaged with a patient," he added, putting down the instrument. "Thank God, we have Reed and Andrews on board. I don't know what we would have done without them."

Alex Reed appeared at the door of the chart room in a few minutes. He was pale and his eyes were sunken. He had not been to bed. "Sorry to bother you," said the captain. "I know you're busy. I just wanted to ask you a few things. Did you notice anything that might lead you to draw any deductions when you first saw Mr. Vernon last night? Anything, for instance, left in the cabin?"

"Yes. He must have been shot not more than five minutes before I got there. The smoke from the powder was still hanging in the air."

"How long does it hang?"

"I don't know. I surmised. After all, I know nothing about the powder used in old-fashioned firearms."

"I see. You met his wife on the stairs coming to look for you. Do you think she might have done it?"

"She might have. But I wouldn't like to form such an opinion."

"Is the patient going to live, doctor?"

"No hope at all?" The captain's pink face was pathetic with his entreaty.

"Yes, an immediate and intricate operation. But Dr. Holt's hand was crushed helping to shut a storm door, as you know. However, with your permission I would be very glad to go ahead and do it for him."

The captain's fingers stopped drumming. He lowered his head and stared at Alex from under his bushy brows. "Dr. Andrews told me what a fine surgeon you are. I shall be very grateful if you'll do this, doctor."

Sally's Guests Enjoy Showing of "Lord Jeff"

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Mickey Rooney tackled the sly crook just as he was escaping from the Queen Mary. Down the crook went, flat on his back, and the kids howled with glee. In fact, they were entranced with every minute of the adventures of Mickey and Freddy Bartholomew in "Lord Jeff," and had a wonderful time at our party yesterday.

We had a private projection room all to ourselves and Mr. Bishop of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer arranged a special screening of the film for us. From the minute the lights were dimmed, and Freddy appeared as an exceedingly hateful little boy in a high silk hat and a stiff collar, until the final thrilling scene when the crooks had been captured and the Queen Mary moved majestically out to sea with Freddy and Mickey as shipmates aboard, my guests enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

My party of fifty boys and fifty girls approved highly of the co-starring of the two boy principals. One youngster wrote that he liked Freddy, but thought that Mickey would be a good companion for him—"Toughen him up a little." The idea was right, because the two have a real, bangup fist fight before they become pals, and my guests were delighted with such goings-on.

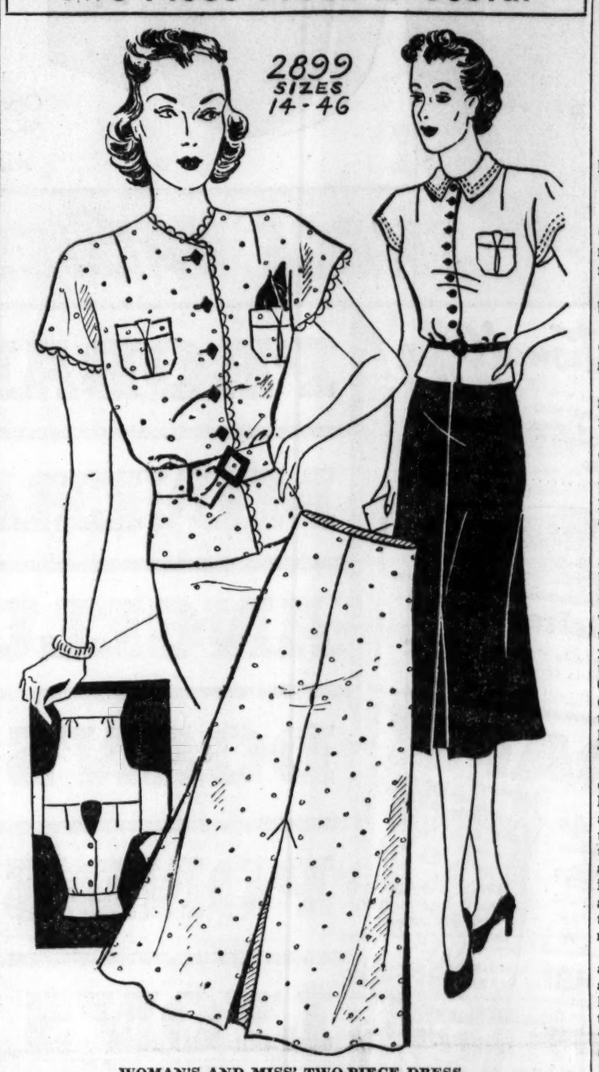
Appeal for Drivers for Orphans' Auto Day Picnic

Directors of the Orphans' Automobile Day association met last night to draft plans for the thirty-fourth annual picnic to be held in Lincoln park Wednesday, Aug. 17. More than 5,000 orphans, crippled children, and residents of old people's homes will attend from thirty-seven Cook county institutions. Persons willing to drive picnickers to the park about 9 o'clock and return for them at 3:30 are asked to volunteer. Volunteers may register with Charles P. Leach at Dearborn 0718 or Dearborn 0719.

Two-Piece Frock Is Useful



WOMAN'S AND MISS' TWO-PIECE DRESS.

There are so many ways you can style this two piece frock, and such a variety of ways in which you can wear it, that it really is in the class of "indispensables." The sleeves are the comfortable sort that are cut in one with the shoulderline. The high neckline may be left plain and trimmed with rickrack, the same that edges the front closing and the jacket hemline, or you may have a shirtwaist collar and use stitching as the trimming detail. The skirt is fitted through the hipline and has an inverted plait to give fullness at the hem.

You may wear the frock as you make it, and also use the blouse and skirt with other articles in your wardrobe. The skirt can give a new lease on life to an old sweater, and the blouse may find itself a part of your suit.

Style No. 2899 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material.

Be Glad Your Youngster Is Lively, Eager

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

What a bore! And not only that, but would he or she be quite normal?

Some of the things that fret you or annoy you about your children may be things which should really satisfy you, because they may be merely signs of growth and development.

When your child touches things constantly, it is a sign that his senses are developing. When he asks a hundred questions a day it means his mind is hungry for knowledge—another sign of development.

When he chatters and chatters or listens and repeats, he is acquiring language—still another sign of development. Did you ever, by the way, realize how rapidly he acquires this skill? Just think: at one year your baby may be able to say only three words—but by the time he is 6 the average child has a vocabulary of more than 2,500 words, and by the time he's 11 or 12 his vocabulary will have reached the large size of around 7,000 words.

One other thing that either annoys or seriously worries parents is the habit their children have of not answering or not even knowing they've been spoken to. This is something to be glad of because it almost always means your child is growing in mental powers. He is gaining in ability to give his attention deeply to a thing, whether it is reading, or making something, or thinking.

To foster the development of his ability to concentrate we must manage him wisely, try not to break up his reading or work by constant trivial interruptions, to plan what we want him to do with that in mind, and when we do have to penetrate his absorption for some necessary thing to do it quietly and firmly, but without irritation. For he is now acquiring a new and important mental ability.

It is hard for us to realize what the mental growth of our children means, how much richer in significance everything becomes to him, how many more influences from outside reach him as his understanding grows, and also how much more he lives within himself.

So, as your children develop certain tendencies or habits that are inconvenient, try to look beneath the surface for the meaning of them, see if they are not the result of mental growth, and handle them intelligently.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Yesterday I pointed out that the so-called rule of play "second hand low" is fallacious, and cited one of many situations in which the proper play by second hand is to put up a high card. Today's hand illustrates an entirely different sort of reason for a "second hand high" play. In this case deception is the motive, but the result is likely to be equally satisfactory.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

It should be noted that South, although holding four and a half honor tricks, did not "jump" over his partner's one no trump response. South correctly reasoned that if North had to pass to a mere two heart rebid there would be no reasonable assurance of a game in the combined hands. Over two hearts North was not quite strong enough to give a jump preference to three spades, but when his partner, after a mere preference bid, made the urging rebid of three spades, North properly appraised his own holding as worth a game bid.

Against almost every defensive team, I venture to say, the contract would have been fulfilled. West made his normal opening, the heart queen. Declarer won and, in an attempt to establish a diamond trick for a club discard, led the nine of diamonds. The unfortunate position of the ace and queen spoiled this idea and East returned a heart. Declarer won and now had to gamble on the success of a spade finesse, since he was sure to lose one diamond, one heart, and one club. He entered dummy with a low club to the king and led the five of spades toward his own hand. If East had been the wooden type of "second hand low" player, and had tried to hide the king as an ostrich does his head, the contract would have become a laydown. Declarer would have captured the ten with the queen and, as the only possible play, would have laid down the ace. The king would have fallen and the favorable heart break would have given declarer his ten tricks!

East, however, did not wait for the ace to fall. On declarer's play of the low spade from dummy East unhesitatingly played the king! Now, bearing in mind that declarer could not see the outstanding cards, consider his dilemma. As far as he could tell East's play of the king was absolutely honest, i. e., it was a singleton. In that case West would have the ten and two small spades remaining, and only a finesse to dummy's nine spot would pick up all the trumps without loss.

Declarer could not be criticized for "falling for" East's deceptive play. Taking the king with the ace, he led a low spade and tried the nine spot finesse, whereupon East swooped down with the blank ten. After that, of course, there was no play for the contract.

Score one more for the "second hand high" school!

Roosevelt's Sister-in-Law Is Night Club Entertainer

Boston, Mass., July 21.—(AP)—Sally Clark, debutante sister-in-law of John Roosevelt, tonight embarked on the career she hopes will avoid a life of idleness. The attractive young brunette, 18 years old, made her debut as a singer and dancer on the roof garden of a downtown hotel. She was maid of honor when her sister, Anne, was married to the President's youngest son last month.

CUBS WIN AND LOSE IN HARTNETT'S DEBUT

SARAZEN FACES ROUGH ROAD TO SECOND CROWN

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago golfdom today greets its 1938 world series—the second annual open tournament conducted by the Chicago District Golf association. In every sense it is a real world series. A field of 389 players, including nearly every big name in the game, tees off at 8 o'clock this morning at the Olympic Fields Country club, the largest golf post in the world.

Gene Sarazen.

That field, which is matched in quantity by its quality, will play eighteen holes today and eighteen tomorrow. It consists of 183 professionals and 206 amateurs. After the completion of thirty-six holes Saturday night, it will have been reduced to forty-eight professionals and twenty-four amateurs, and ties, for Sunday's concluding round of thirty-six holes.

Dudley Cards a 66.

Performances in yesterday's practice round attest to the caliber of the performers entered. Ed Dudley, Philadelphia professional, went around the No. 1 course in 32—34—66, one under the official competitive record established by Walter Hagen of Detroit when he won the 1927 western open title. Hagen, playing with Dudley, shot a 72, and in a second round on the No. 4 course, he shot a 68.

Other practice round totals achieved on the No. 1 course were Harry Cooper, 71; Sam Snead, 72; and leading the amateurs, Charles Becka Jr. of Calumet Country club, 71; and Frank Souchak, University of Pittsburgh, 76. On the No. 4 course, Jimmy Thomson shot a 70 and Tommy Armour and Ralph Guldahl 71s.

The preponderance of amateurs is a testimonial to the original aim of the association in conducting the tournament. Officials have felt for the last five years that amateur golf in the Chicago district has not been up to the standard which made it one of the major centers of amateur

FOUR COACHES AGREE WHITE AND DAVIS ARE STARS

Triple threat backs are the dream of every coach. Next to a man who can kick, run, and pass, they prefer a smashing back rugged enough to stand up under sixty minutes of bruising football. That explains why Whizzer White of Colorado and Corby Davis of Indiana were unanimous choices of four coaches and a veteran official on ballots cast yesterday in THE TRIBUNE'S All-Star poll to determine the personnel of the team which will start against the world champion Washington Redskins in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 31.

All Pick White and Davis.

Robert Zuppke of Illinois, for a quarter of a century one of the leading coaches in the country; Lou Little of Columbia, a former member of the All-Star coaching staf; Howard Jones of Southern California; Ben Connor of De Paul, and Joe Lipp, Western conference official who was head linesman in the first two All-Star games, all placed White and Davis in their squads.

Zuppke teamed two members of his Illini squad, Bill Bennis, an end, and Dick Fay, a guard, with seven men he would have appreciated very much at Illinois. Two of them are from Ohio State, Gus Zarnas, a popular choice at guard, and Nick Wasylik, whom he prefers at quarter back. His team follows:

TACKLES—Lou Midler, Minnesota, and Tony Matisi, Pittsburgh.
GUARDS—Gus Zarnas, Ohio State, and Richard Fay, Illinois.
CENTER—Alex Wojciechowicz, Fordham.
QUARTER BACK—Nick Wasylik, Ohio State.
HALF BACKS—Whizzer White, Colorado, and Don Heap, Northwestern.
FULL BACK—Corby Davis, Indiana.

This Is Quite a Team.

Jones' and Little's teams are distinctive in that they do not include a member of their own squads. Little gives New York representation, however, by selecting Ed Franco and Alex Wojciechowicz of Fordham in the line. His All-Star team:

ENDS—Charles Sweeney Notre Dame, and Frank Souchak, Pittsburgh.
GUARDS—Gus Zarnas, Ohio State, and Joe Routt, Texas A. and M.
CENTER—Alex Wojciechowicz, Fordham.
QUARTER BACK—John Meek, California.
HALF BACKS—Clint Frank, Yale, and Whizzer White, Colorado.
FULL BACK—Corby Davis, Indiana.

MENOW DRAWS NEW BACKERS IN CLASSIC STAKES

BY FRENCH LANE.

Much ado was made at Arlington Park yesterday over the arrival from Saratoga at noon of the two Classic stakes entries, Menow and Nedayr, which earlier in the season were in somewhat bad repute, but are now again in fans' esteem because of recent developments.

So much fuss was made over Menow that a betting plunge came on the colt from Kentucky, owned by Hal Price Headley. The odds against him shortened and the odds against the Maxwell Howard entry of Stagehand and The Chief lengthened.

If the Classic visitors continue to rally to the Menow colors, Trainer Earle Sande's entry of Stagehand and The Chief may go to the post tomorrow at 2 to 1 in the betting, with Menow a close second choice at 5 to 2 or 3 to 1.

Works Out in Fast Time.

It was Menow's victory by more than six lengths over War Admiral and other older horses in the Massachusetts handicap that brought the first wave of support to him. It was a workout the other morning at Saratoga in which he ran a mile and a quarter in 2:04 1-5 that nearly caused a stampede to back him.

Those persons who were basing their opinions on his early season races and who had concluded he never would go a mile and a quarter, weakened under the arguments of Menow's supporters.

Mr. Headley is at Arlington with his colt. "Menow was never better in his life," he said. "For the first time this year his legs are sound. He's a fine traveler and he got a good night's sleep on the way out from Saratoga. It will require a lot of speed to beat him."

Wall to Ride Menow.

Owner Headley announced a late change in the rider for Menow in the Classic. Nick Wall, instead of Eddie Arcaro, will be in the saddle. It was Wall who rode Stagehand to his victory over Seabiscuit in the Santa Anita handicap last winter. Wall also was in the saddle on Menow when he won the $50,000 Massachusetts handicap recently. Having beaten both Seabiscuit and War Admiral, Wall believes that his next big job will be to turn back Stagehand.

Nedayr, also the picture of health, traveled to Arlington on the same train with Menow. His trainer, Doc Crawford, believes the Willis Sharpe Kilmer colt, which came to hand late last season, is ready now to run his race.

Nedayr Also Impresses.

Reports from Saratoga were that Nedayr's final long workout for the

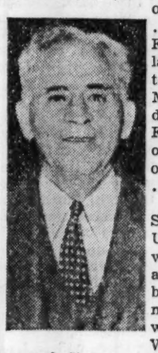
In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

CHICAGO'S own major event of the 1938 golf season tees off today with the first round of the second annual Chicago open tournament. . . . Officials of the Chicago District Golf association are to be congratulated for their efforts to make it a regular yearly fixture. . . . Even a section as golf minded as ours cannot hope to be awarded the national open every year, but it is entitled to an annual show in which the stars of the game play. . . . The Chicago open is that show. . . . The C. D. G. A. made a fine selection in Olympia Fields for the site of the tournament. . . . The world's largest golf plant, it also is one of the most accessible to the public. . . . The club was founded by Charles M. Beach, who died last Septembter, after seeing his dream club of 1913 become a reality. . . . Olympia Fields' charter was signed on July 16, 1915, and play on the first course began one year after the signing, on land which originally had been good farming soil. . . . The first clubhouse was a farmhouse.



A. A. Stagg.

First president of Olympia Fields was Amos Alonzo Stagg, then athletic director and football coach at the University of Chicago. . . . First pro and greenskeeper was Jim Foulis, winner of the second national open and uncle and namesake of the Jimmy Foulis who will be one of the favorites in this tournament. . . . Older members still recall the chicken dinners Mrs. Foulis, who was in charge of the dining room, served. . . . Walter Crowdus, first club champion, crashed twice as a world war flyer. . . . During the war period, Olympia Fields patriots plowed up 175 acres of their courses and sowed them with wheat. . . . Thrift stamps were regular stakes in club foursomes at that time. . . . Earle F. Tilley, Olympia Fields member and booster of the 1938 open, owns one of the most complete golf libraries in the world. . . . Included in his collection are the original statutes of Scotland, going back to 1424. . . . Among these are the three Black acts, which forbade the playing of golf in the realm through the reigns of James I., II., and III. . . .

Horace P. Ramey, president of Olympia Fields today, won track letters at Michigan in 1905-'06-'07. . . . The club has been the scene of numerous national and western championships. . . . In the 1925 P. G. A. Al Watrous coined the classic tribute to Walter Hagen's gallery appeal. . . . Meeting Johnny Farrell on the course, Watrous told him he was setting a course record. . . . "Where's your gallery?" Farrell asked. "They're back of the clubhouse watching Hagen play mumblety-peg," Watrous replied. . . . It was at Olympia in the 1928 national open that a 1,000 to 1 dark horse nearly came home in front. . . . He was Roland Hancock, who shot the first 16 holes of the last round in 60 strokes. . . . Good-by! And may your new life be complete!
You will be happier when I am gone,
Though you may sometimes miss the romping feet
Of children tramping through your room at dawn;
You will be free to go your own sweet way
And cares of home will never cloud your bliss,
Even when shadows fall at close of day
No little ones will clamor for your kiss.

And you and I must tread our ways apart;
God grant that we may reach the end somehow
Despite our shattered vows and broken heart;
Our selfishness has taught us to erase
God's living image from each other's face. —T. E. B.

BRYANT HALTS DODGERS, 5 TO 2; ROOT FAILS, 1-0

Hamlin Yields Only Two Hits.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

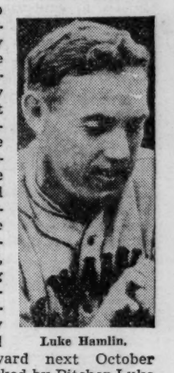
The Cubs yesterday launched successfully the managerial career of Charles Leo [Gabby] Hartnett, but shortly thereafter the new skipper unsuspectingly steered his craft onto an uncharted shoal. The launching occurred when the Cubs splattered Brooklyn's Dodgers with base hits and triumphed, 5 to 2, in the opening half of a doubleheader before 25,830. But Gabby no sooner started downstream toward next October than he was wrecked by Pitcher Luke Hamlin, who gave the Cubs their soundest beating of the year. He held them to two hits and scored a 1 to 0 shutout in the second game.



Luke Hamlin.

Leading in the first game celebration for the new boss was Clay Bryant, who, except for a couple of spots, was almost flawless in his pitching maneuvers. Bryant tottered a bit in the second inning and a couple of Dodgers scampered across the plate to cloud the Hartnett debut. The cloud drifted away in a hurry, partly because Bryant yielded only two hits in the last seven innings and partly because the Cubs, after getting into a tie by pecking patiently at old Freddy Fitzsimmons, blew him out of the park with a three run splurge in the fifth.

Camilli Is the Villain.

The slim margin by which Hamlin made a success of his effort to prove that switching managers couldn't solve the Cubs' hitting problems was the result of Dolph Camilli, a Cub alumnus, hoisting a homer into the bleachers in the second inning. It was a costly blow for the veteran Charles Root, who in his first start of the year revealed an amazing amount of vigor. Root went the full route on an allowance of five hits, and his one chance to get back into a tie was ruined by a piece of strange base running in the seventh.

Hartnett was actively present for his managerial inaugural, but his bat played no part in the run accumulation. He fanned once and twice was thrown out by infielders. However, he did manage to get to base once. Fitzsimmons handed him a pass just before Galan tripled, so Gabby, while held hitless, at least had the pleasure of carrying his portly self around the bases.

HARTNETT CALM, FIRM AS HIS NEW CAREER BEGINS

All was calm and quiet with Gabby Hartnett yesterday as he experienced his debut as a manager, an event he had long awaited. The usually boisterous Irishman, who refused to be quieted down by seventeen seasons of big league campaigning, practically was silenced by his new duties with the Cubs. Maybe it was the newness of it all that bottled up his pepper supply.

Gabby was almost hesitant when performing the first official act after supplanting Charley Grimm the previous evening. Gabby talked to his new charges before the game and he didn't waste words. He simply told them he expected them to hustle. He made no threats to deal harshly with shirkers if any were discovered. Then he added, "Let's go out and win a couple of ball games," and the meeting broke up.

Herman Is Promoted.

Hartnett's next official act was the appointment of a field captain, the title he held until his promotion. He gave it to Second Baseman Billy Herman. Grimm was captain until he succeeded Rogers Hornsby.

Gabby happened to notice that the kids who come out daily for tryouts were drifting into the clubhouse to shed their uniforms. Gabby told them not to return. All he wants around in the future are fellows who really have a chance in some minor circuit.

Leo Looks Pleasant.

Once on the field Gabby saw more cameras than he ever had faced at one time. The photographers posed him with Hans, Mike, Charlie, and Ike, as well as with the ground crew. Then Gabby saw some flowers brought out to the plate and knew without asking they were for the new manager.

It's an old custom. There were two floral pieces. The members of both teams strolled up to the plate to participate in the ceremony, which wound up with Babe Ruth's sharing the cameras with Gabby.

Owner Phil K. Wrigley's admission that Hartnett's appointment covers only the remainder of the season can be taken to mean that, unless the Cubs win the pennant, he will bring in an outsider to lead them in 1939. Until a week ago he always insisted that when the ax fell on Grimm he would not pick a successor from the Cub ranks.

The champion Giants will be on the Cubs' premises today as Bill Lee attempts to score his twelfth victory of the season. The Giants will start Harry Gumbert.

The great Dizzy Dean, who last Sunday staged what appeared to be a comeback, will try his problem arm on the Giants tomorrow.

FIRST GAME

The Dodgers took the lead with two runs in the second inning of the first game. Camilli singled to left and after two were out Bryant hit Koy. The runners advanced on Hartnett's passed ball. Shea beat out a hit to Herman, Camilli scoring, and when Herman threw wild Koy scored and Shea went to second. A third run would have scored if Jurges hadn't made a one handed catch of Fitzsimmons' low liner.

The Cubs made a mess of their base running in the third and got only one run out of three hits, a pass, and an error. Demaree singled and Collins did the same. Hudson's bad throw on the latter hit put the run-

IT'S ALL IN A DAY'S WORK FOR THE NEW CUB MANAGER

SENATORS WIN AGAIN

Washington, D. C., July 21.—(AP)—Relief Pitcher Dutch Leonard doubled in the ninth and scored the winning run on Rookie George Case's single today, enabling the Senators to sweep a three game series with the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 3. Detroit lost for an undetermined period the services of Catcher Rudy York, who was beaned accidentally by one of Monte Weaver's pitches in the fourth inning. He was taken from the field on a stretcher and removed to a hospital. George Tebbetts replaced him.

THIS TELLS HOW HARTNETT DIDN'T MANAGE BROWNS

St. Louis, Mo., July 21.—(AP)—Now that Gabby Hartnett is managing the Chicago Cubs, the story can be told of how he almost became manager of the St. Louis Browns.

Before Donald L. Barnes and Bill De Witt of the Browns gave the job to Gabby Street, they called on P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, and asked if they could get Hartnett.

"Yes, if he wants the job and you can make terms with him, you can have him," Wrigley replied.

Barnes and De Witt called on Hartnett. He liked their offer, but wanted time to think it over.

"Shucks, I can't leave Chicago," Hartnett finally decided. "I'd be lost in any other city. I guess I'll just stay here and be an old catcher. I can't leave until they push me."

Now they've pushed him—upward.

Rain Persists; Sox Invade Yankeeland

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 21.—The White Sox moved on to New York this afternoon without lifting a bat or donning bloomers a single time during their four day sojourn here. And with the raining out of the doubleheader which the Red Sox had planned for today, came complications.

The White Sox have seven games to play and they will be in Boston only three more days this summer—Aug. 25, 26, and 27. That means there will be three double-headers here in three days and still there will be a game left over. This will be transferred to Chicago, where the Bostonese will be scheduled to visit Sept. 18 and 19.

5 Double-Headers in 8 Days.

So, if the Sox, White and Red, play their full schedule, they will have five double-headers in the eight days they are to face each other.

It hasn't been so dry in New York but the Sox are making plans on the assumption they will play the Yankees a single game tomorrow, another single game Saturday and a doubleheader Sunday. Fortunately, none of Mr. Dykes' pitchers is especially overworked, seeing as how nobody has much more than moved a few muscles since Monty Stratton beat the Washington Senators last Sunday.

Lee to Pitch Opener.

Thornton Lee is designated as the pitcher in the opener. After that the order is uncertain, with the scuffling to be among Stratton, Yum Yum Whitehead and Ted Lyons. All are in good shape except that Whitehead is beside himself with disappointment. He had planned to go into training this week and all his plans were upset by the precipitation. The rain has cooled things along the eastern seaboard and if it only stays cool until Johnny's turn there'll be a well pitched game.

swinging when it first went into the game. Realization of the fact that competition with leading professionals and low handicap amateurs would be a move in the direction of stimulating more consistent play among amateurs prompted the district to inaugurate the Chicago open last year.

Special Qualifying Round.

In another move toward attracting amateurs who do not belong to private clubs, the association conducted a special qualifying round for those players who have a handicap of five strokes or over on Tuesday at Olympia Fields. Fifty of the 206 amateurs who competed in the special trial gained the tournament proper by qualifying with scores which augur for real competition today, tomorrow, and Sunday.

This year the C. D. G. A. officials also are stressing the appeal of the game to golf fans who may not be members of private clubs. To this end they are making every effort to make the present tournament one of the most convenient for a gallery ever held. Choice of the Olympia Fields club, one of the most accessible to a metropolitan center in the game, was their first move.

Every big name professional and amateur in the game will take part in the 72 hole tournament starting this morning, with the exception of Paul Runyan, Jimmy Hines, and Charley Yates. Yates, winner of the British amateur, has been advised by Bobby Jones to abstain from competition until the national amateur in September.

But a little man who always plays heads up golf will be in evidence through the next three days. He said so last night in a broadcast over station W-G-N. He is Gene Sarazen, the Connecticut squire who won last year's inaugural Chicago Open at Medinah, with a 72 hole score of 290.

Record Holders Present.

Debating a Sarazen repetition are the two pros who hold the competitive course records for the No. 1 and 4 courses, over which the tournament will be decided. They are Hagen and Dick Metz of the Mill Road farm course. Hagen has scored several of his greatest successes at Olympia Fields. Metz, runner-up in the National Open last month, shot a 66, four under par for the No. 4 yard, in qualifying for the big show in Denver.

And in addition to Dudley, Hagen, Cooper, Snead, Thomson, Armour, Guldahl, and Metz, there will be Lawson Little, Leonard Dodson, Ray Mangrum, Johnny Revolta, Jimmy Foulis, Ky Laffoon, Tony Penna, Abe Espinosa, and Harry Adams striving for the $1,500 prize that goes to the winning professional.

Guldahl is in the midst of one of the hottest scoring streaks the medal play side of the game ever has seen. Last month, within the space of eight days, Guldahl won his second straight national open and his third consecutive western title.

Two Industrial league softball games will be played tonight in Spencer Coals park. The Hall Printers will meet the Olson Rugs and the Motorola Radios will clash with O'Shea Knitting Mills.

GRIMM, A GREAT GUY, GOES SADLY HOME TO FORGET

He Still Hopes to Find a Place in Baseball.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Charley Grimm today is down on the farm. He's through with baseball apparently, as far as getting any job in the Wrigley organization is concerned. At least, there was no news forthcoming yesterday after Charley's last interview with the Cubs' owner.

But Grimm still hopes to stay in major league baseball, the only business he knows and the sport that brought him fame and a comfortable competence in the years since he first carried bats for the Cardinals.

"I love baseball," Charley said in his final official interview the evening he lost the job that now belongs to Gabby Hartnett. "I've always given my best as a player and as a manager and I hope to hook on with some other club."

The Fans Like Him.

Thousands of Chicagoans will give Charley Grimm sincere references. Not even Joe McCarthy, when he walked the plank and was replaced by Rogers Hornsby, had more friends. Perhaps, this was Grimm's worst fault, that he made no enemies. In seven years as leader of the Cubs, Charley never fined a player until last week, and then it was too late to prove, if fines and punishments can prove it, that he was a stern taskmaster.

Grimm liked his players and they liked him. But the players hadn't come through so far this season and that is the only reason any one has advanced this general indictment of failure, for Grimm's dismissal. At that Grimm didn't do so badly after he took over the management on Aug. 2, 1932, from Hornsby. That season the Cubs won the championship and they won again in 1935. Both times they lost the world series.

The "New Broom" Idea.

That sudden shift in 1932, when Grimm inspired a faltering team to march to the championship, must have been in Wrigley's thoughts when he decided to replace Grimm with Hartnett. For the old bromide, "a new broom sweeps clean" was Wrigley's personal explanation to the reporters gathered to hear the reason all had been summoned abruptly to the Cubs' offices.

We've always admired Grimm, as who hasn't, just as we've always liked the big jovial Hartnett, who long has been Grimm's handball partner in the rousing weight reducing handball games we sometimes indulged in. But we've never admired Grimm more than when he smiled and congratulated Gabby.

The Act of a Sportsman.

There were no recriminations, no sourness as Charlie spoke earnestly of his friendly relations with Wrigley, his admiration for the men associated with him, and the men he managed.

Grimm had been fired and that hurts. Inside Charlie wasn't happy but unless you knew him well, you wouldn't have noticed the occasional tenseness of the face. He posed again and again for the photographers, stayed in there pitching, as he might have called it. And when the ordeal was all over Charley Grimm smiled and walked out.

"The team is Gabby's and I'm not going near the ball park except to pick up my things. Some time I may watch 'em play a few games, but not now. It won't help the team and it won't help Gabby to have me sitting in the grandstand. I wish the boys luck and I hope they win."

Grimm did go to the park early yesterday to clean out his belongings. He went with his wife, Lillian, who had driven through the night from St. Louis to be with her husband. Charley's mother was waiting for him on the farm.

Poffenberger, Back Home, Says He Won't Go to Minors

Williamsport, Md., July 21.—(AP)—Cletus Elwood Poffenberger, Tiger pitcher ordered back to Detroit by Manager Mickey Cochrane, asserted tonight that come what may, he will "never go back to the minor leagues." "The salary I'm getting now is not enough. I'd sooner give up baseball," he declared. As to why the boss ordered him to the Tigers' home base, Poffenberger said he was given no official explanation.

CUBS WIN FOR HARTNETT, 5-2; THEN LOSE, 1 TO 0

ners on third and second. Demaree scampered home while Bryant was being thrown out by Durocher. After Jurges had walked Herman dropped a fly ball single in right and Jurges, upon arriving at third, discovered the base was occupied by Collins. Jurges was tagged by Durocher. Hack closed the inning with a tap to Fitzsimmons.

Tie Score in Fourth.

The Cubs burned up three more hits getting the tying run in the fourth. Galan scratched a single to Camilli with one out. Reynolds singled to left. So did Demaree, Galan scoring. Collins lost a hit through a great stop by Hudson and Bryant flied to Stainback.

The decline of Fitzsimmons in the fifth began with Durocher's boot of Jurges' grounder. The error bothered Fitzsimmons so little that he disposed of the next two batters, but he didn't want to give Hartnett a good ball to hit, the result being a pass. On the next pitch Galan tripled to the right field flag pole, Jurges and Hartnett scoring. Galan scampered home on Reynolds' single through Lavagetto's hands. Demaree singled past Durocher. Frankhouse assisted in ending the inning without further excitement.

After the second inning Bryant didn't give up a hit until Fitzsimmons singled in the fifth, but he had a little trouble on his hands in the ninth. Herman threw out Stainback and also Camilli, the latter after a sensational stop. Lavagetto walked and Durocher singled. Then another sparkling stop by Jurges on Koy's grounder ended the game.

SECOND GAME

Camilli's homer, which went into the right field bleacher, occurred before anybody was retired in the second inning of the second game. For a few minutes thereafter Root had a real job on his hands. Lavagetto walked, stole second, and went to third when Durocher beat out a hit to Jurges. Koy grounded to Collins, who whipped the ball to the plate, O'Dea getting Lavagetto after chasing him back toward third. Meanwhile the two other runners had moved up so first was filled by giving an intentional pass to Shea. The scheme worked perfectly. Hamlin rolled into a double play.

After the second inning only five Dodgers survived Root's skill. He was in only one tough spot. That was the eighth, which he started with a pass to Shea. Hamlin tried to sacrifice, but Collins picked up the bunt and tossed to Jurges to force Shea at second. Hamlin was forced on Rosen's poke to Root. Hudson pushed a bouncing single past Herman and the threat subsided when Stainback fouled to Collins.

Cubs Get Their Hits.

The only two runners the Cubs had during their futile struggle against Hamlin got on in the seventh. Jurges led off with his single to right and a moment later looked foolish on what was planned as a hit and run play. He was trapped between bases and retired. Herman followed with a two base drive past Lavagetto. Herman moved to third on Hack's grounder to Hudson and the Cubs' lone experience on the bases ended with O'Dea's tap to Camilli.

BABE DIDRIKSON TO WED WRESTLER GEORGE ZAHARIAS

St. Louis, Mo., July 21.—(AP)—Mildred [Babe] Dikrikson today slammed a golf ball down the fairway, told Partner George Zaharias to "try to match that," and announced to the third of the threesome, "We're engaged."

"This isn't exactly the most romantic place in the world to make the announcement, but it's so," the Beaumont, Tex., woman athlete admitted to questions about a diamond on the proper finger.

She and Zaharias, a professional wrestler from Pueblo, Colo., have been playing a little golf this week while he has a wrestling engagement here.

"When will the wedding be?" she was asked.

"We haven't agreed on that," the Babe answered.

Skippers Will Get Final Instructions Tonight.

"Another sixty mile gale is all we're looking for," was the remark made yesterday by Blair Walliser and Ken Griffin, coöwners and skippers of the 59 foot cutter, Revenge, which will defend the racing division honors in the 31st Mackinac race starting tomorrow. The yacht flies the burgee of the Chicago Yacht club, sponsor of the race.

Revenge won the Mackinac cup last summer when it placed first in one of the stormiest Mackinac races ever held.

Since last season the owners have added much equipment to the rigging and sail locker of the Revenge with the objective of more efficiency in sail hoisting and drawing power.

Has No Engine.

Fourteen sails will be carried on the cutter for the race. Not more than four of them can be up at any one time. Navigation with one is possible. Revenge's new parachute spinnaker, used with the yacht's mainsail, will present a total area of more than 5,750 square feet to the wind. Revenge will be the largest yacht of any class in the race not having an auxiliary engine. It is 100 per cent sail.

The C. Y. C. race committee, Byron Willis, chairman, will give last minute instructions to skippers and representatives of each yacht entered at a meeting at the Chicago Yacht club tonight.

The racing division will include another 10 meter cutter, Tar Baby, of the Milwaukee Yacht club; five Q class sloops, three 8 meter sloops, and yawls and schooners.

Green Spot Has Expert Crew.

Green Spot, owned and sailed by Albert H. Newman of the Chicago Corinthian Yacht club, will be the only entrant with a loose footed mainsail, said by naval architects to improve the flow of wind around the sail. Entering the Mackinac race for the first time, Green Spot will have the advantage of an expert crew. Don Prather, who has won three of the fifteen Mackinac races he has sailed, will be skipper, aided at the helm by Oscar Larsen, Frank Combith, and Newman.

BOLD VENTURE FIRST IN CUB YACHT CLASS

Hartland, Wis., July 21.—(AP)—Bold Venture, sailed by Tom Norris Jr., of the Oconomowoc yacht club, won today's race in the Inland Lakes Yachting association cub class regatta. Bold Venture's time for the three mile triangular course on Pine lake was 1 hour, 1 minute, 15 seconds. Trailing the winner by 23 seconds was Moby Dick, sailed by Marjorie Benson of the Calhoun yacht club, Minneapolis.

Third place went to The Dark Horse, with Dick Fitts of the Calhoun club at the helm. Her time was 1 hour, 3 minutes, 50 seconds. James Vetter of the Big Cedar Lake, Wis., yacht club, brought Ankle Deep home in fourth place, while James MacRae of the Calhoun club finished fifth with Rob Roy.

MEXICO'S LAND GRABS CALLED "CONFISCATION"

U. S. Note Proposes Arbitration.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—(AP)—The United States tonight declared Mexico's uncompensated seizure of American farm properties to be unlawful "confiscation." At the same time it proposed that the two governments submit the question to arbitration.

Mexican Ambassador Najera.

Secretary of State Hull handed the Mexican ambassador, Francisco Castillo Najera, a note which stressed this country's demand for adequate and prompt compensation for agrarian properties. The note avoided any reference to the American oil properties seized by Mexico.

"The taking of property without compensation," the note said, "is not expropriation. It is confiscation. It is no less confiscation because there may be expressed intent to pay at some time in the future."

Failure to mention the oil claims recalled the policy outlined several months ago by persons close to President Roosevelt.

Hold Oil Lands Overvalued.

They said last April that the administration would insist upon full and fair indemnification of persons who had invested meager saving in small ranches and farms which subsequently were taken over by the Mexican government. But they indicated that the administration considered the oil properties to be overvalued by their owners, and that it would try to collect for them only damages equivalent to actual investment, less depreciation.

It is estimated that approximately 1,000,000 acres of American owned land have been taken by Mexico in recent years.

Manifestly apprehensive that Mexico's policy of arbitrary expropriation of properties might spread to other Latin-American countries where American investments are heavy, the United States invoked the inter-American arbitration treaty signed here Jan. 5, 1929.

Procedure Under Treaty.

The inter-American treaty was drafted by Charles E. Hughes as chairman of the United States delegation to the Pan-American conference at Havana in 1928. It provides for arbitration of juridical questions that do not yield to diplomatic adjustment.

Each party to the dispute nominates two arbitrators, one a national and the other a non-national. These arbitrators name a fifth member who will be president of the court. If they are unable to agree on the fifth member, the two governments will each designate a non-American member of the Permanent Court of Arbitration at the Hague to select the fifth member. The award of the court is without appeal.

An inter-American decision in favor of the United States would automatically place the other Latin-American nations on record as opposing expropriation of foreign properties without full, immediate compensation.

Secretary Hull, in his note to Ambassador Najera, again admitted the right of Mexico to expropriate property "in furtherance of public purposes" provided there was "prompt payment of just compensation."

Social Program Not Issue.

Replying to the Mexican explanation that it was "carrying forward a program for the social betterment of the masses of its people," Hull said that the real issue was not this, but whether American properties could be taken without compensation.

Secretary Hull said he could not concieve that insistence on the right of compensation would impair the "warm friendship" between the governments and peoples of the two countries.

He reminded the Mexican government that the two countries have "pursued a constantly expanding program of financial, economic, and moral coöperation," and that the United States desired to continue it.

Secretary Hull said $10,132,388 was the value placed by their owners on medium sized American owned farm properties seized since 1927. This did not include large land grants.

Small Payments Offered.

He disclosed that Mexico had offered to pay a small monthly sum toward payment for these properties but "has not contemplated covering entirely, during the present presidential term, the amount of the properties expropriated."

Consequently, he said, American owners are left not only without present payment but without assurance that payment will be made within any foreseeable time.

Hull concluded that:

"The whole structure of friendly intercourse, of international trade and commerce, and many other vital and mutually desirable relations between nations indispensable to their progress rest upon the single and hitherto solid foundation of respect on the part of governments and of peoples for each other's rights under international justice."

Note Jolts Mexico.

Rutland Cited as Example of Rails' Plight

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The desperate plight of the Rutland railroad was held up to the railroad brotherhoods yesterday as an example of the peril facing all other American railroads and their 914,000 workers.

H. A. Enochs, chairman of the carriers' joint conference committee, presented the recent court records in the Rutland case in support of the railroads' proposal to cut wages 15 per cent. The presentation was made at the Palmer house to the eighteen brotherhoods represented by the Railway Labor Executives' association, of which George M. Harrison is chairman.

Pays Only Part of Wages.

Federal Judge Harland B. Howe on July 12 directed that the receiver pay the 1,300 employés 85 per cent of their wages to keep it from having to stop running. In his instructions to L. G. Morphy, receiver of the Rutland, as read into the wage conference here by Enochs, Judge Howe said:

"The earnings of the road [Rutland] are reduced so much that you will be forced to stop its operations immediately unless salaries and wages are materially reduced—probably more than the 15 per cent heretofore predicted — and the taxes abated—probably at least half."

In another statement to Morphy Judge Howe said that the court cannot reduce salaries or wages, and the railroad is too poverty stricken to engage in a strike or quarrel or to wait for the labor board to decide what wages shall be paid.

Up to Employés to Decide.

"Whether the officers and employés shall accept reductions which will enable their employment to be continued is for them to decide," the court said.

"Whether taxes at the rate of $1,000 a day shall be paid, or say $500 a day, or let the taxes vanish is for the officers of Vermont and New York to decide instead of the court —perhaps they will decide to impose all or part of the difference in taxes on the buses and trucks that have taken the railroad's trafic.

"The court will not allow the receiver to operate the railroad many days at a loss of $2,400 a day," the court said in directing that copies be sent to the interested parties."

Enochs concluded the presentation of his preliminary testimony. George M. Harrison will start the presentation of the workers' side at a meeting to open at the Palmer house at 10 a. m. on Monday.

The Enochs group will meet with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, headed by A. F. Whitney, at 10 o'clock this morning.

HOG PRICES FALL AFTER REACHING NEW HIGH MARK

Hog prices broke sharply yesterday after setting a new high early in the trading session. Best grades rose to $10.25 per hundred pounds before the turn. Closing sales were at prices 10 to 25 cents under the preceding day's close.

Markets for hogs were extremely unsettled as a result of strikes in five plants which have been tied up since the middle of last week. Farmers continued to hold back shipments. Representatives of the packing companies and union leaders met again yesterday without results.

Acreage Cuts by States Not in Proportion

Washington, D. C., July 21.—(AP)—An analysis of state acreage allotments under the AAA crop control program showed today that some states were asked to make larger reductions from average plantings than others. The entire acreage for 1939 is to be held with 55,000,000 acres.

Washington received an allotment that was 68 per cent as large as the average area that state has planted in wheat during the 1928-'37 ten year period.

Missouri, on the other hand, got an allotment 88 per cent of its average acreage for the ten year period.

Trends Given Weight.

Agricultural Adjustment administration officials explained, however, that the state allotments were calculated under a method set up in the new farm law designed to give "fair" treatment to all states, taking into account such factors as acreages diverted under previous farm programs and recent trends in wheat acreages.

This method gave weight to the 1928-'37 average acreage seeded to wheat, the acreage diverted from wheat under previous AAA programs, and upward or downward trends in wheat plantings.

Under this method states which gave previous adjustment programs the greatest degree of compliance were asked to make the smallest reduction in 1939 acreages, officials explained. Likewise states which have made sharp increases in acreages in recent years were asked to make larger reductions than those with more uniform acreages.

Way It's Calculated.

To arrive at an individual state's allotment the AAA first obtained the 1928-'37 average acreage seeded to wheat and diverted from wheat under previous AAA programs. It then adjusted this to recent wheat acreage trends by giving the average seeded acreage of the years 1935, 1936, and 1937 the same weight as the ten year average. Each state then received as its allotment 74.36 per cent of its average "adjusted" acreage for the 1928-'37 period.

The allotment of 1,789,192 acres for Illinois was 77 per cent of its ten year average of 2,319,000 acres. The adjusted average was 2,406,116 acres.

BANK CLEARINGS SHOW INCREASE IN LAST WEEK

New York, July 21.—[Special.]—Bank clearings for twenty-two leading cities of the country in the week ended yesterday rose $372,186,000 from the preceding week to $5,368,845,000, cutting the loss from the comparable 1937 week to 6.1 per cent, from 14.1 per cent loss in the preceding week, Dun & Bradstreet, reported today.

New York clearings were $3,321,133,000, which was within 1 per cent of the $3,355,421,000 of the corresponding week last year. The percentage loss for the whole country was swelled by an aggregate of only $2,047,712,000 in "outside" cities, which was 13.2 per cent under the 1937 week. Chicago clearings amounted to $294,000,000, against $338,000,00 a year ago, off 13 per cent.

The week marked the thirty-sixth consecutive loss in clearings from the comparable 1937 week with the single exception of the week ended June 8, when a slight gain was recorded.

SEARS-ROEBUCK SALES ARE LOWER THAN YEAR AGO

Sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. in the four weeks ended July 16 were 14.6 per cent lower than in the corresponding period a year ago, executives of the mail order house said yesterday. For the 24 weeks ended July 16 the company's sales were 11.9 per cent under the like 1937 period.

Total sales for the four weeks were $35,901,536, against $42,035,960 last year, a decrease of $6,134,424. In the four weeks ended June 18 sales of the mail order house had shown a decrease of 18.9 per cent from the corresponding four weeks in 1937, a larger decline than that of the current period. Sales in the 24 weeks ended July 16 totaled $224,986,360, compared with $225,382,085 in the same period a year ago, a decline of $395,725.

Jerome N. Frank.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—(AP)—Jerome N. Frank urged the interstate commerce commission today to increase his compensation for his services in the Missouri Pacific railroad reorganization proceedings.

Frank, now a member of the securities commission, had received $16,000. The I. C. C., in an order July 8, approved an additional $16,000 as final allowance.

In a petition filed today Frank said the compensation was based on $10 an hour, which he called "hopelessly inadequate."

Frank said a minimum partial allowance for the two year period ended December, 1937, should be at least $13 an hour. This would result in total allowances of $41,821, instead of $32,000, he said.

In addition to the $41,821, Frank said, he also should have "a very substantial final allowance based on the completion of work" in connection with litigation involving Terminal Shares, Inc.

PLACE $404,788 INCOME TAX LIEN AGAINST CLARKE

The federal government yesterday gave notice of income tax liens of $404,788 against Harley L. Clarke, former president of the Utilities Power and Light corporation and his wife, Hildur. Notice of the lien was filed with the clerk of the United States District court on behalf of Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue.

The sum of $253,670 is levied against Mr. and Mrs. Clarke on account of the 1924 income tax. Of this amount, $105,721 consists of tax, $65,750 penalty, and $82,198 interest. Against Clarke alone $151,118 was levied for the 1925 income tax, of which $64,112 is tax, $39,563 penalty, and $47,442 interest.

Federal Judge William H. Holly on July 14 entered an order which enabled Mrs. Clarke to keep her house at 2603 Sheridan road, Evanston, once reported to be valued at $500,000. The judge held satisfactory the explanation of Clarke that his wife had not been paid $350,000 on a mortgage against the residence which was held by the receiver for the Webster Securities corporation. Clarke said he forgot to tear up the note for which the mortgage was security.

Clarke said yesterday that his tax data were based on auditors' figures.

New Financing in Offing Tops 136 Millions

Several large pieces of financing, aggregating more than 136 million dollars, were announced yesterday for the near future.

The Firestone Tire and Rubber company will publicly borrow around $50,000,000 in the late summer or early fall. Negotiations between the company and investment bankers are now in progress, but the issue is not expected to be ready for registration with the Securities and Exchange commission for several weeks.

Most of the $50,000,000, it was said, will be "new money" financing. Part of the proceeds, it was reported, will be applied against the company's bank loans—approximately $27,500,000—and the rest may be used to wipe out the funded debt of subsidiaries, amounting to $13,300,000. The parent company now has no funded debt.

Toledo Edison Plans Offering.

The Toledo Edison company of Ohio filed yesterday with the Securities and Exchange commission a registration statement covering $36,500,000 of bonds. The statement covered $30,000,000 of first mortgage bonds, 3½ per cent series, due July 1, 1968, and $6,500,000, of 4 per cent sinking fund debentures, due July 1, 1948.

The company said net proceeds would be applied as follows: $28,396,605 plus $478,394 cash held by the trustee to redeem on Oct. 17, 1938, at 105, $27,500,000 of the company's first mortgage gold bonds, 5 per cent series, due in 1962; $6,522,500 to pay $5,000,000 of 4 per cent secured notes and $1,500,000 of unsecured short term notes payable to the Chase National bank, New York, plus a repayment premium of $22,500; $1,050,000 to be applied to payment of the company's demand notes payable to the Toledo Light and Power company.

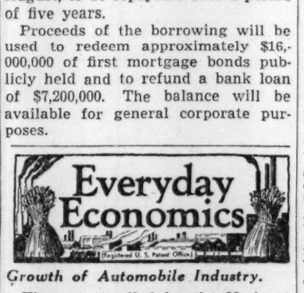
Argentina to Sell Bonds.

Argentina served formal notice today that she intended to float a $25,000,000 loan in the United States. The registration statement, filed with the Securities and Exchange commission, said the bonds would be ten year sinking fund external loan 4½ per cent securities.

The statement said net proceeds are to be advanced by the Argentine government to the city of Buenos Aires.

Plans for a loan of $25,000,000 to the Cities Service Oil Company of Delaware by a group of banks were announced yesterday by the Guaranty Trust company. It is expected that the loan will be advanced early in August, to be repayable over a period of five years.

Proceeds of the borrowing will be used to redeem approximately $16,000,000 of first mortgage bonds publicly held and to refund a bank loan of $7,200,000. The balance will be available for general corporate purposes.



Growth of Automobile Industry.

Figures compiled by the National Association of Finance Companies show graphically the growth of the automobile industry in America since the end of the world war. The yearly sales totals also show how a huge reservoir of used cars has been built up with the passing of years. These cars have taken an increasingly greater part of the annual automobile business in point of number of cars sold.

There were 2,938,000 cars sold in 1919, of which 1,851.000 were new and 1,087,000 were used. Used car sales were 58.7 per cent as large as new car sales. In 1921, a poor business year, sales totaled 2,646,000 of which 1,553,000 were new and 1,093,000 were used. Used car sales were 70.4 per cent of new car sales.

By 1929 sales totaled 9,757,000 of which $4,407,000 were new and 5,350,000 were used, used car sales amounting to 121.4 per cent of new car sales. In 1936 car sales jumped to 10,606,000, of which 4,016,000 were new and 6,590,000 were used, and the used car percentage was 164.1. In 1937 sales totaled 10,857,000—4,100,000 new and 6,757,000 used, with the percentage of used cars 164.8.

The study showed that the bottom of the depression for the automobile industry was 1932, when car sales totaled 3,651,000—1,277,000 new and 2,374,000 used. Used car sales represented 185.9 per cent of new car sales.

Stock Prices End Irregular After Upturn

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 21.—The stock market closed irregular today after a session notable for alternate periods of strength and weakness. Industrial and rail shares closed a little higher on the average. The utility section gave ground.

In all, 903 issues were traded, with 363 closing higher, 333 lower, and 207 unchanged. Trading was generally orderly, with volume dropping to 1,811,805 shares.

Renewed pressure on amusement shares featured late trading. Loew's dropped 2¾ points, making a total decline of some 7 points in the last two days. Paramount was the most active of the day and lost ¾ point. Warner Brothers, Universal, Columbia, and Twentieth Century-Fox also met opposition and dropped fractions to more than 2 points.

Early Advance Fades Out.

The list opened generally firm, except for utility shares, then advanced briskly until about noon. Leaders were up 1 to 2 points. The ticker was forced about two minutes behind at this time, owing to the keen demand. However, the buying dwindled and a period of indecision followed. Several groups were given a whirl of brief activity and then dropped.

The selling in motion picture stocks then developed and spread to other sections. Prices at the close were slightly higher than the day's worst.

A flurry around midday lifted rail stocks to new highs for the current move, but prices later settled back to just above Wednesday's close. New York Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Santa Fe, and Chesapeake and Ohio were among the leaders.

Selling in Public Utilities.

Orderly selling of public utility issues at the opening was ascribed to the announcement yesterday that the Securities and Exchange commission would invoke the "death sentence" clause of the public utility act against the Utilities Power and Light corporation. Price concessions were not sharp.

Automobile shares were in brisk demand early, with Chrysler reaching 73, a new high for the year. Later, it sold off to close only fractionally higher.

Steel Issues Slow.

Steels lagged for most of the session, although modest fractional gains were made by United States Steel common, Bethlehem, and Youngstown.

Most of the active copper shares gained fractions. Aviation and rubber stocks worked fractionally higher. Oils closed mixed in a fractional range.

Small fractional increases were the rule in the merchandising group, which was paced by Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck.

Several individual issues were brought out for special attention at times. Most prominent was National Biscuit, which jumped 1¼ points.

LOANS REDUCED BY CHICAGO AND NEW YORK BANKS

The federal reserve board yesterday reported a shrinkage in bank loans in Chicago and New York in the week ended Wednesday. Loans to commercial borrowers in Chicago fell 3 millions from the preceding week. Commercial loans of New York banks declined 13 millions and loans to brokers and dealers were off 10 millions.

Gold stocks increased 10 millions, the board reported. The expansion in idle bank reserves was checked last week, total excess reserves of all member banks falling 160 millions compared with the preceding week. Details of the report follow:

5 PERSONS, 12 FIRMS APPEAL OIL CONVICTION

Hold Madison Trial Violated Rights.

An appeal was filed here yesterday with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals by twelve corporations and five individuals whose convictions in the oil conspiracy case were upheld last Tuesday by Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone in Madison, Wis.

Charles E. Arnott, one of five appealing oil trial conviction.

The appeal was filed on behalf of all the defendants as a group. The notice of appeal cited 28 grounds for appeal among them the contention that the trial violated the constitutional guaranty of trial by an impartial jury in the district where the alleged violation occurred. The indictment did not show the commission of "any overt act" in the district of western Wisconsin, it was claimed.

40 Days to File Brief.

Presiding Judge Evan A. Evans gave the appellants forty days to file a brief of the transcript, sixty days to file the record of the case, and 120 days to file a bill of exceptions and assignment of errors.

Among the other claims made in the appeal notice, which was also filed before Judge Stone in Madison, was that "improper conduct" of government counsel made a fair trial impossible and that the case was tried and submitted to the jury under a fundamental misinterpretation of the Sherman act.

During the trial, said the notice, government attorneys questioned their witnesses improperly, made improper remarks in the presence of the jury that were not supported by the evidence, made improper, inflammatory, and abusive and unsupported statements and appeals to prejudice in their closing arguments to the jury, raising issues not included in the indictments.

Many Lawyers in Case.

Attorney Carbery O'Shea, Washington, D. C., filed the consolidated appeal. Listed as counsel were a score of lawyers, headed by William J. Donovan, Herbert H. Thomas, Madison and Ralstone Irwin, Washington, D. C., counsel for all

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, July 21.—[Special.]—Railroad issues today led a recovery in bond prices. Losses incurred on Tuesday after announcement of the government anti-trust move against the movie industry were quickly recovered on transactions in the early trading today.

Quotations on railroad bonds advanced uniformly, many issues gaining 1 to 2 points. Rising freight traffic and indications of expanding activity in some basic industries were credited with providing the buying incentive for the railroad liens.

Gains were also recorded among industrial and utility bonds, although a few utility issues developed weakness after the announcement of SEC Chairman Douglas that Utilities Power and Light corporation would be examined with a view of applying the provisions of section 11-B of the public utility act, the "death sentence" clause. Utilities Power debentures closed 1½ lower at 52½.

Government bonds were irregular, most issues showing improvement compared with the preceding day.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks closed irregular yesterday, after showing early strength. THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks finished at 11.40, down 0.14 from Wednesday's close. Volume was 37,000 shares, compared with 41,000 on the preceding day.

Middle West, the trading favorite, lost ⅜ to close at 7⅛ on sales of 6,050 shares. Commonwealth Edison rallied to gain ¼, closing at 18⅛. Pressed Steel Car closed at a new high for the year of 10½, up ⅝. Armour lost ⅛ to 6¾, and Marshall Field advanced ⅛ to finish at 13¾. Borg-Warner declined ⅜ to 31.

Of the 115 issues traded yesterday, 41 advanced, 37 declined, and 37 were unchanged.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago Title and Trust company stock moved upward $1 yesterday to $149 bid, $152 asked, while all other Chicago bank stocks remained unchanged in light trading. Dealers, however, failed to agree on quotations for stocks of the City National Bank and Trust company, Continental-Illinois Bank and Trust company, and Northern Trust company.

SMALL BUSINESS MUST HELP SELF, EMERY ADVISES

Warns Against Expecting Political Panacea.

De Witt M. Emery, founder and president of the National Small Business Men's Association, Inc., last night told a group of small business men of the Downers Grove area that recovery must begin at home—in Downer's Grove. Recovery will not, he said, "filter down" from Washington.

De Witt M. Emery.

Emery, who runs a small printing firm in Akron, O., came to Chicago yesterday to speak at the association's first district meeting in this area. The meeting, held in the Downers Grove High school auditorium, was sponsored by the Retail Merchants' association of Downers Grove and the Du Page County Retail Druggists' association.

Raps Political "Labels."

"Small business men realize," he said, "that nothing worth while can be accomplished by turning out one set of politicians under one label and replacing them with another set of politicians under a different label. We therefore are advocating that party lines be disregarded and that the individual voter satisfy himself with reference to the qualifications of the candidate for the office he seeks.

"The small business men must act before the autumn elections in order to save their businesses. We must elect a congress that is independent and recovery minded."

Emery said the association, organized to tell legislators what the economic ideas of little business are, is not "an out-and-out anti-New Deal organization," as some have termed it.

Put Business Foremost.

"We are," he explained, "wholeheartedly for business, which automatically puts us on the other side of the fence from the administration most of time, but when the administration supports something which we believe will be helpful to business and to the country at large, then we are solidly behind the administration."

Emery asserted that the administration, which has "held itself up as the working man's friend," is his "worst enemy." The New Deal has hurt the wage earner by restricting and regimenting capital, he charged.

In most businesses, he continued, thousands of dollars of capital are invested for each man's job.

Kelsey-Hayes Wheel.

Answer: The Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company, Detroit, Mich., is the largest American manufacturer of automobile wheels. About 75 per cent of the company's sales is of wheels. The remaining 25 per cent consists of brake drums, hubs, brakes, and other automobile accessories.

Kelsey-Hayes sells nearly 85 per cent of its wheels to two customers, General Motors corporation and the Ford Motor company. Other customers include the Chrysler corporation, Willys Overland, and International Harvester. Subsidiary companies are located in Canada and Great Britain. Capacity of domestic and foreign plants is about 50,000 wheels a day.

The present company was incorporated in Delaware early in 1933 as successor by reorganization to the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel corporation, a New York corporation.

Reflecting the low rate of activity in the automobile manufacturing industry, the company lost $353,783 in the first quarter of this year. In the first quarter of 1937 net income was $177,067, equal to 28 cents a class B share. The record of earnings in recent years follows:

1936	27,185,839	1,030,253	1.91
1935	27,853,223	1,728,845	3.27
1934	19,014,283	326,393	*1.12
1933	‡696,708	‡3.90

*On class A. †Not reported. ‡Deficit.

Funded debt of the parent company is $4,496,800 and subsidiary funded debt is $5,933,420. Capital stock consists of 290,285 shares of $1.50 par convertible class A shares and 257,982 shares of $1 par class B stock. The class A stock is preferred as to asset and to dividends at the rate of $1.50 a year. Since Dec. 31, 1937, the class A dividends have been cumulative. Previously they were not.

After both class A and class B shares have received $1.50 in any year they participate equally in further distributions. Both classes of stock received $1.50 in 1936. No other dividends have been paid by the present corporation.

Total assets were $19,695,669 at the end of 1937. Current assets were $7,338,864 and current liabilities were $3,830,812. Both classes of stock appear to be speculative at present.

U. S. CALLS LAND GRABS BY MEXICO 'CONFISCATORY'

which had been led to believe by statements attributed to President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga., at the time of the oil properties' expropriation that a strong attitude would under no conditions be adopted by the United States.

In many quarters where economic pinch following the taking over of the oil properties has been severely felt, the United States' note was received with joy.

It is felt that President Lazaro Cardenas must now either take a more favorable attitude to United States trade and investment interests or face serious opposition within the ranks of his own followers as well as in other quarters.

The newspapers on receiving the note asked the press department if they would be permitted to publish it.

Daniels Holds Conference.

Following a conference at noon today with Foreign Secretary Eduardo Hay, United States Ambassador Josephus Daniels confined himself to remarking that he had "discussed the oil situation in general and asked what was to be done about payment for expropriated United States properties."

Although Daniels refused to comment further, it was understood that his visit had been caused by President Lazaro Cardenas' remarks at a conference of the foreign press Tuesday evening that the United States government had sent no formal notes to Mexico, had made no demands, and had confined itself to asking questions and trying to induce the American oil companies to deal directly with the Mexican government.
